Under new management—the bridegroom.

The day is past when a man can hide behind a woman's skirts.

The romance still endures if she can serve, wash twice a week and get away with it.

We simply must tell another Scotch story. It seems that there was a Scotchman walking down Main street the other day looking for a cheap post office.

"I have always maintained," declared Charles, "that no two people on earth think alike."

"You'll change your mind," said his fiancée, "when you look over our wedding presents."

Courts are funny. They swear a man to tell the truth but every time he starts doing it some lawyer objects.

Our idea of a wise man is one who never argues with a woman.

The fellow who lives on a bluff deserves a good shave.

"Is there any little boy or any little girl," said the bishop at the close of the Sunday school exercises, "who would like to ask me a question?"

Mary's hand went up.

"Yes, sir. Why did the angels walk up and down Jacob's ladder when they had wings and could fly?"

"Oh—um—ah—yes. Now, is there any little boy or any little girl who would like to answer Mary's question?"

A little false modesty might be better than none at all.

If it weren't for had people the good ones would have nothing interesting to talk about.

AT THE THEATERS

Dolores Costello Plays Belle of Old South

Dolores Costello, star of Warner Bros. "Heart of Maryland," which is playing for the last time today at the Colonial, has never been so appealingly beautiful as in the role while passionately loving the South found her heart divided against itself in love for a soldier of the North.

This exciting and glamorous story of Civil War days has had numerous revivals since it won fame for Mrs. Leslie Carter 30 years ago, and always successful ones. It is suffused with a passionately interesting which makes it personally interesting.

Warner Bros. have given it marvelous settings and a cast which includes many of the most celebrated names of the day. Among the great characterizations are Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln, Jefferson Davis, General Robert E. Lee and General Grant. Bacon directed.

Conklin and Bancroft in New Comedy

A new comedy team has appeared!

Chester Conklin and George Bancroft will show audiences at the Arcade theater Wednesday and Thursday just what they can do in the exciting art of creating laughs, and they have proved themselves masters in that line. We have found Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton an ideal pair of funsters, and now comes this second Paramount team who bid fair to rival the popularity and box-office success of the Beery-Hatton combination.

Conklin and Bancroft have an excellent vehicle in which to make their joint debut. Titled "Tell It To Sweeney," it is a story of railroad life and is filled to the brim with pep, action and real comedy. There are thrills too, and there is romance. The picture has everything audiences want.

The story has a well-defined plot, centered about two principal characters, Luke Beamish, haughty engineer of another day, and Cannonball Casey, a modern throttle-pusher whose ego and Herculean strength stir the wrath of the veteran. Conklin plays Luke, and the hefty Bancroft is cast as Cannonball, a character that brings to mind the original "Casey" of melodrama. Luke has a daughter, Doris, played by Doris Hill, and Cannonball becomes infatuated with her despite the fact that the son of the railroad's owner, Jack Loden, is her favored suitor. Luke, being the operator of the ancient locomotive, is naturally jealous of the blustering Cannonball, so he doesn't favor the latter's suit. And when the youthful suitor fails to appear at the wedding, Cannonball it is up to Luke to throw him.

Why Children Need Breakfasts that "Stand By"

80% of the Day's Important School Work Falls in 4 Morning Hours, Notes Educator Reveals

ARE you letting listless mornings, brought on largely by wrong breakfasts, handicap your child's school work?

Recent investigations, conducted in over 2,000 American schools and colleges, reveal 80% of the so-called "hard" studies as falling in the morning. This percentage is confirmed by Prof. Willard, of Northwestern University, and other leading educators.

Thus Quaker Oats breakfasts, providing the excellent food balance of protein, carbohydrates, vitamins and the "bulk" to make laxatives seldom needed are being urged as a duty of parents in protecting their children's most important working hours. No other cereal grown compares in food balance.

Serve every morning. Their rich Quaker flavor makes them savory and enticing... delicious breakfasts that yet "stand by" one. Get either Quick Quaker, which cooks in 2 1/2 to 5 minutes, or regular Quaker Oats today at your grocer's.

Consider the moth. He can do quietly and easily to last year's overcoat what a swarming 214-pound football player sometimes just can't do to the enemy line.

The building crane derived the name of "derreck" from that of a 17th century hangman who made his own gibbets.
