There's Rare Charm, Striking Style in These Fine

COATS for Winter

The stylishly dressed woman pays particular attention to the style, the appearance of her winter coat.

Nothing marks a well groomed woman more than the coat she wears—and this season its cut must not only be perfect and the materials soft and becoming, but there must be an abundance of luxurious fur trimming.

Shawl collars of grey and brown wolf, of rich beaver, of badger and pointed fox — these are especially popular — and there are many models with fur running down to the bottom of the coat. Wide fur at the cuff—rich fur trimming around the bottom — these are interesting features.

You can tell the quality of a coat from this fur and from the materials. Seldom have you seen better quality fabrics, soft and warm — and made to give good service. Silk-and-wool boliva, needle point, venise cloth, velour, broadcloth, winter weight casha.

WARNS CAROL TO REMAIN OUTSIDE

Rumanian Administration Will Not Tolerate Conspiracy, Bratiano Says

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 28 (AP)—Warning to Prince Carol and his adherents that Rumania will not tolerate any conspiracy against the state was given by Premier Bratiano in an address before a crowded chamber of deputies last night.

"Rumania does not want and will not have an elected head of the state," the premier declared in discussing Prince Carol's recent statement that he would return to Bucharest to take his place as king if called by the nation.

The premier's exposition of the dynastic situation and his defense of the measures taken by his government during the past few days to thwart any attempt by Carol to obtain the throne met with a spirited reply from Julio Manu, leader of the national peasants party, who defended Prince Carol and challenged the premier's course of action as being contrary to the sovereignty of Rumania.

Referring to the announced discovery of a plot to restore Carol to the throne now held by his six-year-old son King Michael, Premier Bratiano declared that the fate of the Rumanian crown could not be left to the caprice of any individual or party.

Declaring that M. Manoilesco, former under secretary for finance, had encouraged the prince to return to Rumania, the premier asserted that Manoilesco was thus engaged in a conspiracy against the state. This brought an outburst of applause from the premier's supporters who increased their clamor of approval when he added:

"Whoever assails the authority of the state is an enemy of the nation and must face the full force of the law. Let this be known at home and abroad."

BELGRADE, Juco Slavia, Oct. 28. (AP)—Government troops have come into collision at Kishinev, Bessarabia, with national peasants who had been informed that Prince Carol was in Rumania commanding an army, say reports received here from Bucharest.

Numerous arrests were believed to have been made.

Enterprise Club Would Speed Up the Mail Service

ENTERPRISE, Oct. 28 (Special)—The Enterprise chamber of commerce held its regular meeting Tuesday evening at the club rooms with President Lea Forsythe and Secretary D. B. Reavis in charge.

After the regular routine of business it was unanimously voted to extend to the Cattle and Horse Growers' association of Oregon an invitation to hold their annual convention July 2 and 3 so that they may attend the Fourth of July celebration here.

The question of speeding up the mail service was presented by the stage manager, C. C. Boswell, who suggested that mail be brought on the early morning stage and thereby give people time to answer letters the same day. This affair was referred to an investigation committee.

G. W. Sawyer, of the Pacific Power and Light company was present and explained the reasons why the company is asking for a 50-year franchise to do business here.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28, (AP)—Mrs. Pearl T. Kelly demanded a home at least as comfortable as that her husband, Robert G. Kelly, furnishes his pet dog, she told Judge Joseph Sabbath in asking alimony pending the outcome of a suit for separate maintenance.

She claimed the only presents her husband, superintendent of turbines for the General Electric company, had given her in nine years of wedded life were a washing machine, an iron and a kitchen cabinet.
