Dr. Landers Speaks—Music opened last night's session at the Presbyterian church, the convention headquarters. Mrs. Harlow Richardson playing a short organ concert and Dick Lindsay played two violin solos, accompanied by Mrs. Richardson at the piano.

Dr. J. S. Landers, president of the Oregon Normal school at Month, and Judge I. M. Schanep, of Pendleton, were the speakers of the evening. Dr. Landers talked on the subject "Shall We Teach Our Young to Idealize Their Spiritual Heritage." He talked regarding the relation of science and religion. "Just insofar that we teach our children to know that they are good, that he is revealed through them, they will learn to use that power," that is the heritage we can reveal to them, Dr. Landers said.

Judge Schanep, in speaking on the subject of "Making America Safe for Young and Young Safe for America," declared that America is safe for the young, that nothing is necessary to make it safe with its constitution to protect its laws, schools, churches, etc., that the problem was in making youth safe for America. He condemned petting parties and long automobile rides of young people alone. "You closed the garages and save the girls!" he asked his audience. "I think closer supervision of the public dances should be given," the judge said. He also suggested the good that would be accomplished with the return of the "old-fashioned" chaperone.

Suggestion for Mothers.—In closing the judge suggested that every mother know where her children are, with whom they are and what they are doing at all times. "Let's get the child before he goes down," he declared, "remove temptations, better conditions in each neighborhood, no formative, rather than reformative measures."

During the evening E. E. Hurley sang two numbers, accompanied by Miss Gladys Miller.

Gerlinger, member of the University of Oregon board of regents and chairman of the building fund, spoke on the fine arts building, a memorial to the late President P. L. Campbell, of the university, to be constructed on the campus. A special committee, of which Mrs. Eric W. Allen, of Eugene, is chairman, suggested that the congress set aside $500 toward this building fund.

Mrs. Emma Bryant talked on rural schools and the county unit system, expressing a hope that the county unit system be made mandatory and not permissive. Miss Jessie Millard, children's library of Portland, talked on children's reading. Mrs. J. F. Hiley, of Milwaukie, reported for the education department of the Oregon congress, which also favors the adoption of the county unit plan in schools.

11,000 Acres Of Land Purchased By Al Noregaard

ENTERPRISE, Ore., Oct. 28—The largest real estate transaction in many months has been closed by the sale of the old C. L. Harbison ranch of about 11,000 acres to Al Noregaard. He bought the land from the Nassau company of Portland, successors to the Ladd & Titton interests which acquired it in the course of the changes which followed the inflation and subsequent depression of the war period. The purchase was for cash.

The ranch is now rented by the Camp Creek Sheep company which will remain as lease until next spring when Mr. Noregaard will take possession. He expects to put in the crop in the spring and in the fall to stock the place with sheep. He has bought the equipment of the Camp Creek company, including horses and machinery, which he will use when he takes over the management of the great property.

Mr. Noregaard has been buying and selling sheep on a large scale and is known as a shrewd and very successful operator. So he will go on the ranch as an experienced sheep man with every prospect of making a success of it. His home is at Wallowa.
