Bridge Pointers

The pointer for today is: A bidder who has shown two suits and who wishes to bid again, should name the lower valued.

Last week these articles paid careful attention to the various phases of bidding two suiters (two five-carders) and semi-two-suiters (one five-carder and one four-carder). Today's article refers to a continuation of the bidding when two suits have been shown; tomorrow the subject will be changed.

Suppose South (Dealer) holds:
Sp: Ace-King-Queen-x-x. H: K; Ace-King-10-x-x. Dia: Ace-x. Cl: x and that the bidding be:
Round South West North East
1. 1 Spade Pass Pass 2 Clubs
2. 2 Hearts 3 Clubs Pass Pass
The question is what should South bid on the third round? North's pass on the second round showed that although he knew that he was facing a two-suiter—a situation in which a player is justified in assisting with less strength than is otherwise requisite—he nevertheless did not have a raise for either Hearts or Spades. But in spite of that, North may have a distance preference and South, on the third round, should bid the lower-valued hearts rather than the higher-valued Spades, so that North can show his preference without increasing the size of the contract. South, by bidding three Hearts on the third round, offers to North the opportunity to pass if he prefers Hearts, to bid three Spades if he prefers Spades; but if South bid his stronger suit—Spades—on the third round, North if he prefers Hearts and wishes to show his preference, will have to bid four. This is a situation the importance of which many players overlook.

KIMBALL
70 Years' of Music in Homes, Churches, Schools and Theatres

LONG before reaching its seventieth year, the house of Kimball had created a piano with an appealing tone and an exterior physical grace excelled by no other instrument of its time.

It is many years since the Kimball name was first identified with the finest pipe organ music heard in the cathedrals and churches of this continent.

It does not take seventy years, or fifty, or thirty for creative genius to develop the highest plane of beauty in any line of art. The significance of this seventieth anniversary lies, not in mere lapse of time, but in the enduring character of the ideals of the Kimball house.

In the giant Kimball organ of the Roxy Theatre, New York—the largest theatre organ ever built—Kimball history is merely repeating itself. Several times in the past, Kimball pianos and organs have established new precedents, and the Kimball Organ for the new Minneapolis Auditorium will mark another advance. These wonderful instruments simply illustrate a principle followed by this institution from the beginning:

The house of Kimball always aims at a higher excellence than the best yet attained. On this tradition rests the supreme favor won by the Kimball piano—the most widely used piano on this hemisphere.

The Period Grand shown is a Louis XVI design—one of several Anniversary models. Two sizes, $1125 and $1300, f. o. b. Chicago.

Other designs in Grands from $975 to $7000
