AT THE THEATERS

"Big Parade" Is Called Screen's Greatest Film

It seems to be the lot of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer corporation to make the most successful war dramas of the screen.

Having turned out one of the greatest successes ever known, with the World War for a background, in "The Four Horsemen," this company has again given the world a resounding picture sensation in "The Big Parade," now playing at the Arcade theater.

This film was directed by King Vidor and starring John Gilbert, like "The Four Horsemen," this new production is an enthralling love story with the great world conflict merging and raging throughout.

For some reason, a number of self-appointed authorities have been wont to declare the public did not want stories of the great war. These were wrong in making their statement a general one; what the world did not accept was the usual run of war stories. A great war story, like a great story set against any other background, will always prevail. "The Four Horsemen" proved that, and "The Big Parade" will do the same.

Not so many seasons ago a lot of the self-revered men and women of the motion picture industry declared the public did not care for mother stories. It was quite apparent they didn't, at least the general run of them prevalent at the time. Yet William Fox happened along with a mother story in the midst of this period and it disproved the theory. This was "Over the Hill" which won its way all around the world because it was an unusually "good" mother story.

Again the cry went up that the people who support the theaters were surfeited with "Westerns." Maybe they were, but James Cruze and Jessa Lasky happened to find a good Western and turned it out in the shape of "The Covered Wagon." No one would be so foolish as to say it was not popular.

Good war pictures will always attract the public, just as will good mother plays and good Westerns or good costume plays. In fact, the story is what counts, and a good story will always win, no matter what the background may be.

moments is to have an ace of hearts found tucked up your sleeve just after you have taken in nearly every chip on the table in a big poker game.

This delicate problem is said to be enacted most convincingly by Adolphe Menjou in "A Gentleman of Paris" his new Paramount vehicle which will be shown at the Star theater Tuesday and Wednesday.

Menjou's role is that of injured innocences. He doesn't know how the card got in his sleeve, but neither do any of his friends and they feel that the only decent thing for him to do is to kill himself. Menjou retires to his room with a pistol and when the pistol is exploded the mystery of the hidden card is explained.

The supporting cast of the picture includes Nicholas Soussanin, Shirley O'Hara, leading woman; Lawrence Grant, William R. Davidson, Arlette Marchal and Laurence Eddy.

"St. Elmo" at Colonial Today

That most popular of stage plays and novels, Augusta J. Evans' "St. Elmo," reached the screen last night at the Colonial theater, and is being offered with John Gilbert in the title role. The photoplay fulfills every romantic promise of the book and surpasses the stage production because of its beautiful scenes and vaster scope. It is a release from Fox Films.

John Gilbert makes an ideal St. Elmo Thornton, the proud, but nervous southern plantation owner, who is as violent in his hatred as in his loving. Barbara La Marr as his loving, Barbara La Marr as the "love double crosser" is seen in an impressive portrayal of a woman who gives herself up when the figure of the Devil captures the form of St. Elmo as he seen his sweetheart in the arms of his best friend in one of the most impressive bits the writer has seen on the screen.

Women flyers should have one advantage, anyhow. They shouldn't run out of gas as soon as most men.

A football season is the time of year when radio announcers are supposed to broadcast their life stories to the people.

"No Place to Go" Showing at The Star

The South Sea Islands are a favorite locale for writers since Robert Louis Stevenson made them famous in fiction. Picture producers have not failed to utilize the land beneath the Southern Cross as a scene for stories with a romantic trend. And yet they seem an inexhaustible mine of new ideas.

The latest is "No Place to Go," a First National picture being presented at the Star theater for the last time tonight. However, it starts in New York, with a fine glimpse of the night life in circles of the socially elite. Thence by yacht to tropic isles, and adventure with supposed cannibals and all the fun and thrills that could be desired, with lots of spirited love-making for good measure.

Mary Astor is delightful in the role of a flapper—something of a departure for her; Lloyd Hughes as her husband-to-be is agreeable as always.

Hallam Cooley, Virginia Lee Corbin, Myrtle Budman, Jed Prouty, Henry Barrows, Yola d'Arvi and Loretta Young are all in the cast.

MONEY TO LOAN

STOP! — LOOK! — LISTEN!

You who have straight loans on your homes and renew, and renew and extend, find it difficult to accumulate sufficient money to pay them off, otherwise you would not renew.

Investigate my plan whereby you pay off just a little of your principal in addition to your interest and before you realize, at no burden, your home is free from debt. Again, you are paying more.

$1000 at 8% for 10 years will cost you $1800.

We will make you a loan of $1000 for 10 years, and the total cost you pay will be $1471, a net saving to you of $329. You are thus financed for 10 years with no renewal expenses, with the privilege of paying in full or part at any time.
