See Tomorrow's Paper

an earman in this instance. In the current series of star productions which he has been making for Excellent Pictures Corporation, he has been many types of athletic leader and in every one he appears as to the manner born.

"The Winning Oar" begins in the romantic background of college life where Mr. Walsh, as Ted Scott, a collegiate hero, is the outstanding figure. The story keeps him such after his graduation and after serious work replaces the collegiate heroes. He becomes a lawyer and as such finds himself in the position to prosecuting the one person he loves best. Thus, "The Winning Oar" resolves itself into a supremely dramatic tale as well as a romantic, athletic story.

"Big Parade" At Arcade Great War Epic

That monumental screen epic, "The Big Parade," starring John Gilbert, opened its four-day run last night at the Arcade theater before a deeply impressed and enthusiastic audience of ex-soldiers, regular theatergoers and many who seldom attend a motion picture. Without exception they declared it the greatest motion picture ever exhibited in La Grande. It is a Klug Vidor production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

"The Big Parade" is a simple story, simply told. Jim Apperson, an easy-going, likable young fellow, enlists at the outbreak of the war, leaving his family and sweetheart. He becomes, deeply attached to his two buddies, Slim and Bull, played delightfully by Earl Coss and Tom O'Brien. While stationed behind the lines, he falls in love with a French peasant girl, Melande, and at the conclusion of the war goes home to find conditions changed. It would be unfair to future audiences to tell the rest of the story. How he works out his destiny is the basis of a powerful and human climax.

King Vidor has reached an exalted cinematic goal with this picture. The film has a martial swing and the rhythm of blended comedy and drama. Its romance and heart interest awaken a response in every spectator in the audience.

John Gilbert is superb as the American doughboy; he has never done anything finer. Renee Adoree plays the part of the French Melande to perfection. There is something in the love scenes between these two that makes the heart leap.

Frequently terrible in its swiftness and emotional quality, "The Big Parade" is not all filled with the terror of war. Its first half is filled with almost continuous laughter. The second half shows, more clearly than anything else ever has, its grim realities.

AT THE THEATERS

Star Showing Adolph Menjou in Parisian Film

The eternal triangle is given a unique treatment in the Adolph Menjou Paramount picture "A Gentleman of Paris" which is showing at the Star Theater today and Wednesday.

The valet of a gay young gentleman bachelor, a man of "fair-faire" all over so many affairs, discovers that his master is carrying on an affair with his wife.

In extenuation, it must be said that the master does not know that the lady is his wife's bride.

The valet would like to fight a duet with the master but at a moment he cannot challenge a man of superior social position so he determines to quit his job.

Menjou, as the master, is terrified at the thought of losing his plus-perfect valet. He would be helpless without him. He tries to hold him in his employ. Failing in this, he insists on the traditional eight days notice and in this he wins his point.

Very few men would care to have an outraged husband give them their morning shave, but Menjou carries on nonchalantly. He is about to be married and his mind is full of the approaching wedding.

At the reception for his bride-to-be, he gambles for high stakes and the loser accuses him of cheating. He is searched and a card found secreted in his sleeve.

The prospective father-in-law urges him to commit suicide and a pistol shot almost immediately after would indicate that he had done so.

The pistol shot brings about the dramatic climax of the production and explains the mystery of the hidden card.

A superb cast surrounds Menjou in the picture, including Shirley O'Hara, the leading woman; Arlette Marchal, Lawrence Grant, William B. Davidson, Lorraine Eddy and Nicholas Soussignan, as the valet.

Charley Chase's latest comedy is also on the same program; it is named "The Sittin' of Ships" and shows what happens when a kind hearted young man takes several youngsters to a carnival. It is just about the funniest thing Chase has appeared in.

The Prince of Wales, in his pajamas, walked about a railroad platform where his train had halted. Now watch the railroad platform in this country blossom with 'em.

Mrs. Burton Advises Women on Motherhood and Companionship

"For several years I was denied the blessing of motherhood," writes Margaret Burton of Kansas City, "I was terribly nervous and subject to periods of terrible suffering and melancholia. Now I am the proud mother of a beautiful little daughter and a true companion and inspiration to my husband. I believe hundreds of other women would like to know the secret of my happiness, and I will gladly reveal it to any married woman who will write me." Mrs. Burton offers her advice entirely without charge. She has nothing to sell. Letters should be addressed to Mrs. Margaret Burton, 2665 Massachusetts, Kansas City, Mo. Correspondence will be strictly confidential. —Adv.

MONEY TO LOAN

STOP!—LOOK!—LISTEN!

You who have straight loans on your homes and renew, and extend, find it difficult to accumulate sufficient money to pay them off, otherwise you would not renew.

Investigate my plan whereby you pay off just a little of your principal in addition to your interest and before you realize, at no burden, your home is free from debt. Again, you are paying more.

$1000 at 2% for 10 years will cost you $1800.

We will make you a loan of $1000 for 10 years, and the total cost you pay will be $1471, a net saving to you of $329. You are thus financed for 10 years with no renewal expenses, with the privilege of paying in full or part at any time.
