MONEY TO LOAN

STOP! — LOOK! — LISTEN!

You who have straight loans on your homes and renew, and renew and extend, find it difficult to accumulate sufficient money to pay them off, otherwise you would not renew.

Investigate my plan whereby you pay off just a little of your principal in addition to your interest and before you realize, at no burden, your home is free from debt. Again, you are paying more.

$1000 at 8% for 10 years will cost you $1800.

We will make you a loan of $1000 for 10 years, and the total cost you pay will be $1471, a net saving to you of $329. You are thus financed for 10 years with no renewal expenses, with the privilege of paying in full or part at any time.

WHAT THE FRIENDS OF A FAILURE SAID

He lacked tact.
Worry killed him.
He couldn't say "No".
He did not find his place.
He never managed to save.
He did not care how he looked.
He did not guard his weak point.
He was too proud to ask advice.
He did not fall in love with his work.
He got into a rut and couldn't get out.
He did not learn to do things to a finish.
He loved ease; he didn't like to struggle.
He was the victim of the last man's advice.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

AT THE THEATERS

Gilbert Concocts Thrills, Battles And Romance

John Gilbert is a human storehouse of surprises for the film audiences of the world.

He has just unloaded another item in his bag of tricks—to give theaterdom one of the biggest surprises in many a moon, in "Twelve Miles Out," his latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vehicle coming to the Star theater Tuesday and Wednesday.

He mixes thrills and battles, sensations and romance, in a blend of hundred per cent screen entertainment that has his audience alternately gasping in amazement or enchanted by the sheer beauty of the romance that underlies the incessant excitement of the strange plot.

"Twelve Miles Out," is a tale of adventure on the high seas, based on the latest factor in American life—the war between the rum-runner and the revenue service. The thrilling race at sea, when the revenue men pursue a rum-runner's sloop in a desperate race; the vicious battle staged by Gilbert and Ernest Torrence on the smuggling boat; these are some of the high lights on the excitement side of the ledger.

Joan Crawford makes a charming heroine in a splendidly balanced piece of acting, and Torrence, as the villain, a strange mixture of sinister traits and whimsical humor, has a role that he rejoices in.

Tom O'Brien, Edward Earle, Bert Roach, Paulette Duval, Dorothy Sebastian, Gwen Lee and others in the cast contributed splendidly of their talents in the new play.

"Satin Woman" Scores at Colonial Today

"The Satin Woman" which is the feature at the Colonial, today and tomorrow is a screen production which its star-producer may well be proud of. Mrs. Wallace Reid in her combined role of star of the picture and also as its producer, offers one of the most entirely satisfying pictures of the season.

The picture derives its title from the leading character, that of a woman whose avocation is style. With a wealthy husband, a beautiful home and a charming daughter—the woman devotes all of her time to fashion. Suddenly she realizes that her home and husband are slipping away from her. Too late, she makes an attempt to get them back. A few bitter years follow with the erstwhile "Satin Woman", now living quietly and devoting her life to her daughter.

Then comes a time when she must use every bit of her charm and allure to save her daughter's happiness at the expense of her own.

No mere synopsis can carry even a suggestion of the powerful drama of the story or the brilliance of the atmosphere.

Mrs. Reid is simply superb as "The Satin Woman" and she has added a distinct type of character to the screen. A supporting cast of very rare excellence surrounds the star. Such firm favorites as Rockliffe Fellows, Alice White, John Miljan, Laska Winters, Gladys Brockwell and others do remarkable work under the direction of Walter Lang who is also the author of the story which was written especially for Mrs. Reid.

"The Satin Woman", ranks as one of the season's really big pictures taken from any standpoint and furnishes a most satisfying entertainment for any type of film fan.

HEALTH

NURSING IS DESIRABLE PROFESSION

By William F. Howard, M. D., Pocatello, Idaho
Member Gorgas Memorial

Of all the occupations open to the young woman, nursing especially preserves her charm and femininity and at the same time prepares her for the later duties commonly assumed by her sex. It opens up wide and numerous fields, and affords an intimate view of human activities and a broad knowledge of life.

The nurse deals directly with people of all kinds and meets the conditions that have much to do with all experiences. When she later has a home of her own, she has learned from experience numerous things that enable her to make it a better home. Her knowledge will be of use to herself and to her neighbors, and a helpful neighbor is an endearment to any community.

The nurse who expects to devote her life to her profession can look forward to numerous positions as head nurse that are free from long hours, free from giving personal attention to the patients' daily needs, and free from all that might be considered the drudgery of nursing. There are positions as superintendents of nurses and superintendents of hospitals that exercise the best qualities of business and executive management. There are special fields for nurses such as welfare work, public health nursing, special positions in institutions and in industry, technicians, laboratory workers, and the instructor nurse who always occupies a position that is inspirational to beginners.

This is an appeal to young women who expect to enter training, to those who have not yet decided what college work to pursue, and to parents or friends who may advise such young women to consider a nursing career, to make sufficient preparation before entering the hospital training so that their later progress may not be limited by lack of fundamental knowledge.

Many universities and colleges admit women to a prenursing course of three years, and at the completion of this, followed by a hospital training course of two years, award a college degree and a nurse's diploma. This course gives the young woman the advantages of college life and training and magnifies her hospital training. She can understand the difficult medical subjects and the problems of nursing. It is a preparation that should enable a nurse to rank high in her profession and open to her opportunities inaccessible to those who have not had such preparation. It is also a source of satisfaction and usefulness and joy to her the rest of her life.

THE AMERICAN GIRL

NEW YORK— Henry Clive, artist, who has been drawing the American girl for 15 years, thinks this country has developed a distinct type of pulchritude. Nine tenths of the belles of the country, he writes in the New York American, will answer to this description: The lithe, athletic figure, long of limb and swinging easily from the hips; the small, but capable feet and hands, the graceful yet well muscled arms and defiantly staunch shoulders; the broad, intelligent forehead, surmounting the aquiline nose, and characterful lips, and the firm, adequate chin. The artist is convinced that bobbed hair has had a lot to do with standardizing the American girl and that she will retain it.

Love is the undefined something that enables a girl to forget how a dishrag looks.
