COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

And remember that real religion is quiet and peaceful."

MASS PRODUCTION LOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mass of crop production per capita for the whole population is the lowest in 33 years, with the exception of 1921, federal figures indicate. As a result of price increases, the index of purchasing power of farm products in terms of nonagricultural commodities rose to 92 in September, a point reached only once before in the last seven years.

AT THE THEATERS

"The Wise Wife" Showing At Colonial Today

When Phyllis Haver began her battle against a flapper to retain her husband's love, things really happened. So, at least, it was in the latest De Mille picture, "The Wise Wife," which was displayed to admiring audiences at the Colonial theater yesterday. It is showing for the last time today. Miss Haver was the wise wife, while Tom Moore officiated as the errant husband who occasions the matrimonial warfare when he pays marked attentions to the beauteous Jacqueline Logan, who is the third angle of this exquisite love triangle. When Miss Haver, as Mrs. Blaisdell the wise wife, wisely schemes to lead her hubby back to the paths of connubial rectitude, she has a big job on her hands, but she wins and that's what makes this comedy the delight it proved to be. It would be unfair to picture fans to tell the story in detail and deprive them of the joy of seeing for themselves just what did happen. There is action aplenty while laughs are spontaneous with the unfolding of the various scenes.

Bebe Daniels Here Soon In "She's a Sheik"

Speedy Bebe Daniels is coming back to town again—this time as a sheik's granddaughter! Imagine Bebe in flowing robes, riding spirited horses, fighting duels with heavy sabers, kidnapping the man she loves, wooing him in sheik manner and—well, doing all the tricks she has at her command in addition to a handful of new ones.

"She's a Sheik", Bebe's new comedy vehicle, which will be screened at the Star theater Tuesday only was directed by Clarence Badger, the man who made "The Campus Flirt," "Senorita", "Swim Girl, Swim" and "It".

Novarro Leaves Star Theater After Tonight

"The Road to Romance," starring Ramon Novarro and being shown for the last time at the Star theater tonight is Novarro's best picture since "Ben-Hur." The story is based on Joseph Conrad's famous story of Cuba in the days of pirates and the Spanish Main. Marceline Day has the featured feminine role.

A new Charley Chase comedy and a late Paramount News are also being shown.

Enjoyable Film Now Showing At Arcade

You will enjoy "In a Moment of Temptation."

Whatever may be your opinion as to the literacy quality of Laura Jean Libbey's novels, it is an undeniable fact that her stories indicate an unusual insight into the hearts and feelings of humanity in general, and "In a Moment of Temptation," which is playing at the Arcade theater today and Tuesday, fully lives up to the author's reputation.

Leading roles in this production are in the hands of Charlotte Stevens and Cornelius Keefe, and both acquit themselves with high honors—the former as the little shopgirl who is wrongly imprisoned for theft, and the latter as a young man of wealth whose interest in her gradually ripens into deepest love.

"In a Moment of Temptation" is also interesting in that it marks the return to the screen of Marie Walcamp, formerly the serial queen of motion pictures, but for the past seven years devoted wholly to housewifely duties. Tom Rickette plays one of the most prominent roles in the picture—tha of "Grandpa" Gage, who sits in his wheeled chair and, unknown, to his domineering granddaughter, rules the destinies of his household.

Other important roles are played by Kit Guard, John McKinnon and Grant Withers, and the photoplay has been well directed by Philip Carle.

Ben Turpin comes to the screen once again in a new Mack Sennett comedy called "Love's Languid Lure," which will also be on the program. This time the famous cock-eyed comedian does his stuff in the role of a small town lover and the results of his romancing are said to be amusing in the extreme.

HEALTH

HEALTH DEPENDS ON BODY AND MIND

By George A. Moore, M. D., Palmer, Mass.
Member Gorgas Memorial

Brute strength alone has not been enough for the survival of animals on the earth. New Haven, Conn., the home of Yale University, appears in the news as the locus of excavations in which the footprints of a dinosaur imprinted in rock were recently found. Excellent specimens of petrified skeletons of these giant reptiles have been found in Western United States, and of these a complete one is now on view at Yale Museum. After viewing the tracks made by the monster in the mud of a few millions of years ago, one can stroll over to Yale and look at the chap who made them, or one of his relatives.

Saurians at one time overran the earth. The earlier types were carniverous but the later gigantic types were herbivorous. These reptiles were of tremendous physical power. But physical power alone was not sufficient to insure survival, and these terrifically powerful beings are extinct—displaced by beings of inferior physical strength but with superior brains. Apparently brute strength is not enough.

At Yale, where the skeleton mentioned is on view, brain cultivation is a business. Those who have seen the football teams in action will agree that physical prowess is not a thing of the past. Dual development of the brain and brawn are receiving attention.

Excessive brain development without suitable physique is equally futile. Everyone knows this, but it is forgotten at times and development of the mind goes on with too little regard for physical welfare.

When an overtrained athlete goes stale, all that is needed for correction is common sense regulation of physical effort and time. An overworked mind may similarly go stale, and its treatment is sometimes a matter of judgment.

In mental contests there will also be found those who fall out, because all persons may enter. There are few calling measures, but the tendency to call material for mental work is growing. But after all persons who will have fallen out, those who continue in mental work on their nerve constitute a large body. The number of breakdowns among them is great.

Health is a normal condition of mind as well as body.
