TROMPSON PERTURBED

NEW YORK—Mayor Tompson of Chicago, is perturbed over the way papers outside Chicago display Chicago crime. The World interviewed him on the way from Boston to Washington. "Do you know that New York gets $1,000,000 a day from people who if they were not afraid to stay in Chicago would spend that money there?" he remarked. "Wonder how it is in liquor is so plentiful in New York. By the way where does New York get its liquor? From a fleet of ships off the coast? Whose flag do they fly? The English, of course. England's getting the money."

A second for steel laying was made on the Great Northern extension south from Bond, when 4700 feet of track was put in place in one day last week. The steel crew was only ten miles from Chomut, where the extension will join the Eugene-Klamath Falls line of the Southern Pacific. The steel crew, once its work is completed, will be converted into a band and a student orchestra to an active part in the opening of the new Hotel Corvallis last week. The Hotel Corvallis is the second high-class hotel to have been built in Corvallis within the past few years.

After Alvaro Obregon's car was bombed by a scoundrel assassin, Alvaro complained it cost him $5 for new specs, not to mention $24.95 for answering telegrams of congratulation. A hum job, politically and economically, but so easily a success.

LOVE'S BLINDNESS
He kissed me and we parted. So filled with ecstasy. That he fell over a hydrant. And I ran against a tree.

"Are you married?"
"No, the stove exploded in my face."

One girl we know has Christmas wishes which are very simple. All she wants is a wedding.

Banking, as understood by some women, is a mysterious process, according to one bank teller. The other day a woman handed in her bank book filled with scratched papers and illegible seraws.

"How did this happen?" he asked.
"Why," she explained sweetly, "the last time my account was balanced it didn't come out right, so I just changed it in the little red book."

Another announced indignantly: "I'm going to take my money out of this bank at once. They are so disgraceful, they have just told me my account is overdrawn."

There are three times in the year, when a boy can get out of bed without threats of violence from his mother—Christmas, Christmas and Fourth of July.

He had been looking over the Christmas cards on the counter for some time, when the saleswoman suggested "Here's a lovely sentiment. 'To the only girl I ever loved.'"

Will B. Drunker's wife has been a-trying her best to make him out saucerhat but he's held out again it so far. Yesterday she says to him, "Will," says she, "I were a-reading about a man," she says, "that sat saucerhat every day," she says, "an' he lived to be 104," she says, "Well," says Will, "it musta been a awful life," he says.

Style note—Christmas packages of bootleg liquor should be decorated with lites instead of holts.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Cromulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Cromulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Cromulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Cromulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

AT THE THEATERS

"Gun Gospel" At Star Today And Friday

When the wearing of a particular garment becomes the style everyone who can adopt it, regardless of how it looks. Thus in the glamorous days when there was no established government in the West a revolver—or better still, two of them—was such a necessary part of a man's attire that he would never think of appearing in public without this wardrobe accessory.

The reason why guns were considered fashionable is depicted in "Gun Gospel," a First National Picture starring Ken Maynard and produced by Charles H. Rowers, which is being offered at the Star theater today and Friday.

"Gun Gospel" is an adaptation of W. H. Hoffman's famous novel of the same name, and deals with the fading of the Western gunman. It has a tremendous romantic appeal in that it is authentic history, and its characters are carried in true verminous so that all the elements of the time and period are maintained in advantage. Maynard, who is renowned for his spectacular and daring stunt riding, far surpasses anything he has done to date.

"Gun Gospel" was directed by Harry J. Brown. The cast includes Virginia Brown, Edna, Noah Young, J. P. McGowan, Bob Fleming, Slim Whitaker, Rommie Fleming, Jerry Madden, and last but not least, the beautiful animal, Tarsan, the wonder horse.

Hal Roach makes geography funny in his latest, "Our Gang" comedy "Seeing the World," which is another feature of the bill at the Star theater. This comedy finds the famous kids making a tour of the great cities of Europe, London, Paris, Venice and Rome. The fact that the authentic backgrounds of these places are seen in the picture makes it doubly interesting. Robert McGowan as Jimmy Phinlayson, a well known Hal Roach comedian, is also in the cast.

Drama, Thrills And Romance In Colonial Film

Said to be one of the most unusual and thrilling photoplays produced in five years is "The Yankee Clipper," a sea picture featuring William Boyd, Elmer Fair, Walter Long and Junior Coghlan, which will be shown at the Colonial theater today, Friday and Saturday.

This is an absorbing dramatic story of the glorious days just before the Civil War when the American clipper ship reigned triumphant on the high seas.

The story deals with Hal Winslow, a young seaman whose father had invented the design of a fast sailing "Y" shaped clipper ship. The son sails the vessel to Foo Chow, China, in search of a cargo of tea. Here Winslow meets Huntington, a British ship captain who is in China on a similar mission. Huntington is accompanied by his beautiful daughter, Jocelyn, and one day Winslow rescues her from a band of beggars. She is engaged to a wealthy named Richard, who proves himself both a coward and cad.

At a dinner given by a Chinese merchant, it is agreed that both ships—"The Yankee Clipper," commanded by Winslow and "The Lord of the Isles," owned by Huntington, shall carry cargoes of tea to Boston and the vessel winning the race shall have the monopoly of the tea-carrying trade. On the day when the race begins, Jocelyn boards "The Yankee Clipper," to bid Winslow goodbye. Winslow decides to keep both aboard the vessel so that Jocelyn may learn the real character of Richard and be spared the disgrace of wedding a scoundrel.

During the voyage, Richard causes much trouble among the crew and he is finally exposed by Winslow as a coward and traitor. The voyage to Boston is an exciting one filled with highly dramatic incidents. "The Yankee Clipper" reaches Boston harbor first and wins a thrilling race. Jocelyn has learned to despise Richard and love Winslow and at the finish of the ocean race, they plight their troth, and all ends happily.

The story was written by Denton Clift and the picture was directed by Rupert Julian under the supervision of C. Gardner Sullivan. William Boyd and Elmer Fair are seen together in this picture for the first time since "The Volga Boatman." Long is seen as the hard-boiled sailor, Julia Faye and John Miljan are in the supporting cast.

"Annie Laurie" Opens Run At The Arcade

Lillian Gish—ethereal and beautiful—in the stern setting of the wars of Highland clans—in the majestic splendors of ancient Scottish castles—in settings that blend the legend and romance of Scotland with the grim details of its turbulent history—this is the Lillian Gish of "Annie Laurie," latest vehicle of the famous star, now playing at the Arcade theater today, Friday and Saturday.

It is a gigantic story of human souls; a romance of love as great as the huge settings in which the story is told; it is a historic drama that captures anything of the kind seen in years—all the more wonderful because it deals with a people never before seen on the screen.

The ancient Scots, with their court intrigues—their implacable clan warfare, and their delicate sentiment underlying the ever-present lust for battle—these are reproduced with startling fidelity in the big Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer spectacle.

Famous old castles, including historic Maxwellton, were reproduced; gully captioned warriors struggle; gallly captioned courtiers in the king's antechamber plot untold villainy—and through it runs the glorious story of the love of Annie Laurie and Ian MacDonnald—a love that changed the course of history, centuries ago, and unified the Scottish nation.
