Toys This Year To Be Lifelike To Please Tots

NEW YORK (AP)—Toys this year are more sophisticated, more lifelike, more realistic than ever. The automobiles have the real ones, the airplanes more sophisticated. Christmas toys are being made to appeal to the child's imagination rather than to the child's pocket.

AIR MAIL EXPANDS

WASHINGTON—A leading group having a population of more than 250,000 persons will be served by 25 air-mail routes using 79 stations within a short time. The Department of Commerce estimates that 1,000,000 persons in operation over 2,000 miles, but with the expansion the daily airplane mileage will be greater, even with only one flight a day each way, than the aggregate of all the lines.

Resolution May Deny Farm Loan Board Jobs to Coolidge Appointees

By Frank I. Weller (Associated Press Farm Editor)

WASHINGTON (AP)—A resolution may be presented to the Senate refusing confirmation of President Coolidge's recent appointments to the Federal farm loan board if discussion of the nominations on the floor of the upper house leaves unshaken the conviction of some senators that the appointments are unfriendly to agriculture.

Senators Duncan U. Fletcher, Democrat, Florida, and Gerald P. Nye, progressive republican, North Dakota, have launched a determined fight against Eugene Meyer as chairman of the board and declare that the two men appointed with him, George R. Cooksey and Floyd H. Harrison, must give satisfactory assurances of their intentions before consent may be had to their confirmation.

All three then are former members of the war finance corporation, a subsidiary of the treasury department, and the resolution is expected to be introduced if debate on the appointments reveals "unfriendliness to agriculture."

Meyer is opposed as a man who has had no connection with agriculture and is declared by his foes in the senate to be "too friendly" with the so-called "treasury crowd" accused by farm leaders with subverting the real purpose of the farm loan board.

The farm loan system, Senator Fletcher declares, is a system of cooperative borrowing for the benefit of the borrower and is not a banking system. It is designed to give farmers direct access to the great sources of loanable funds, while still keeping the borrowers free from subjection to the money lenders. The bureau has done more for the farmer than any institution except the department of agriculture itself. The law makes it a self-governing body and not a vessel of the treasury.

He declares the treasury influenced arbitrary removal of Robert A. Cooper of South Carolina, Emory J. Landis of Ohio and Edward T. Jones of Pennsylvania, "farm-soldier" members of the board, and provided upon President Coolidge to appoint Meyer, Cooksey and Harrison in a deliberate plan to usurp power invested by law in
