with the new year and sent the temperature in many parts of the east well below zero and caused five deaths, today was moderating somewhat in most sections.
Three men were frozen to death in a park bench, while in Glassboro, N. J., a negro was found frozen in a parked automobile. At Wilkesbarre, Pa., a man was frozen on the porch of his home.
Rockton, in Western Pennsylvania, led eastern cities with 10 degrees below zero. The low point in New York City was 11 above.
The cold snap, made more unpleasant in most places by a sharp wind, came suddenly after a New Year's eve of unusual mildness. A drop of 50 degrees within 24 hours occurred in a number of places.

CONFESSES AXE MURDER TO OFFICERS

dying state. Realizing that he could not have made his way from the yard to his room after the attack, their suspicions were renewed.
A second investigation heightened their suspicion to a conviction that Walker had been murdered while sleeping in his bed.
On their return from Beatty early this morning they ordered Davis to be brought before them. The Indian was at first defiant, maintaining again and again that he had killed Walker in self-defense.
Finally Tells All
Suddenly one officer spoke up: "Tell the truth for once in your life, Davis."
The Indian smiled wilyly and then answered: "Yes, what you claim is true. I crawled through a window and killed Lawrence while he was in bed. I hit him twice with an axe. We had been fighting on a New Year's party and I was mad."

La Grande Weather Balm— "This is the warmest weather I've struck anywhere, why Portland was frigid in comparison." This remark, heard this morning from an arrival in the city, was but one of many similar comments made by passing travelers who expressed surprise at the warm rains which greeted them in La Grande, where, they said, snow had been expected.

OFFICERS QUIZ KLAMATH JANITOR
His Story of Murder of John Ansel Said to Conflict on Some Points
KLAMATH FALLS, Jan. 3 (AP)—Although he is said to have told a contradictory story of what he knew of the murder of John Ansel, old time resident of Klamath Falls, in the Klamath Gun store early Saturday morning, A. J. Bellamy, janitor who was the last man who saw Ansel alive, maintained throughout a long grilling last night by authorities that he was not only innocent of Ansel's murder but that he knew nothing of the actual identity of the murderer.
For six hours last night Bellamy was questioned and cross-questioned. Authorities refused to reveal details of the long interview with Bellamy but stated that in several major points his story was conflicting.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 3 (AP)—Word was flashed by Portland police today to Klamath Falls and Seattle that the slayer of John Ansel, Klamath Falls Gun store clerk, may have been transported from Portland to Vancouver, Wash., late Monday by W. P. Parkman and William Heidemann, both of Portland.
Parkman and Heidemann told police today that after reading descriptions of the slayer they were convinced they had picked up the man at Columbia boulevard and Union avenue, whence they took him to Vancouver, Wash.
They described their passenger as being about 20 years of age, five feet, eight inches tall, weighing about 150 pounds, sharp features, newly shaved and wearing a brown overcoat and hat.
While riding across the Columbia river, Interstate bridge Parkman and Heidemann said their passenger spoke of going to Seattle. He did not appear nervous, they said, though he seemed unusually quiet.
G. A. Davis, Portland, told police he had picked up a roughly dressed man at East Portland street and Stanley boulevard early Sunday, letting him get out at East 74th street. The man spoke of a "tough place" from Eugene to Portland, said Davis, who declared that he answered the description of the Klamath Falls slayer generally.

BAKER, Ore., Jan. 3 (AP)—A man answering the description of the slayer was shot down, John Ansel, Klamath Falls store keeper, last Saturday, was arrested here by county authorities yesterday and is being held pending receipt of word from Klamath Falls.
Local authorities were unable to communicate by telephone with officers there because of interrupted service between Medford and Klamath Falls.
The man, who gave his name as Kenneth Peete, is described by officers here as about 26 years old, 5'2" tall and weighs approximately 125 pounds.
MARSHFIELD, Ore., Jan. 3 (AP)—Ed Beunty, who arrived here last night before last from Klamath Falls, was picked up by a deputy sheriff on suspicion of being implicated in the killing of John Ansel, at Klamath Falls.
He strenuously denied any connection with the crime.

MARINES TO BOMB REBELS IN NICARAGUA

SEERS INVESTIGATION
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—Charging the administration had failed to keep sufficient marines in Nicaragua to protect the whole force there, Senator Wheeler, Democratic, Montana, announced today that he would re-introduce his resolution calling for an investigation of the government's policy with reference to that Latin American republic.
At the last session of congress Senator Wheeler's resolution was referred to the foreign relations committee, where it was permitted to die.

"I felt that our policy in going into Nicaragua in the first place was wrong," Senator Wheeler said. "We were morally bound to uphold the constitution of that country and we have not lived up to that obligation."
That made from the question of our assuming the wrong attitude in the first place, in going into Nicaragua, it does seem to me that when we do send armies into a territory, whether rightly or wrongly we ought to sufficiently protect them so that they would not be subject to being slaughtered as our marines have been in the last few days."

Whippet Prices To Be Revealed In Ohio Tonight
TOLEDO, O., Jan. 3 (Special)—Following the statement made by John N. Willys, president of Willys-Overland, Inc., that the perfected Whippet, described as a quality car in the light car field, would be announced this week at the lowest prices ever made on any Willys-Overland product, a meeting of branch managers, distributors and dealers for this organization has been called. This meeting will open in Toledo tonight and Mr. Willys will announce the new prices at that time. More than 100 dealers, distributors and branch managers will be present.
It is said that the Whippet will be the only light car on the market which will be priced at a figure close enough to the lowest now made on any car, to place it in direct competitive position.
Added equipment to the perfected Whippet will include an automatic windshield wiper, rear view mirror and combination rear driving light and stop light.
The factory is now in a position to build 2000 chassis a day at the peak capacity. Shipments have been under way for several days.
"The new prices which will be put on these cars will not be dependent on any increase in the present production. Increased sales as a result of the new prices will serve materially to increase the earnings of the company," Mr. Willys says.
