Bridge Pointers

By Milton C. Work

Yesterday we gave the twenty-six cards of a Dealer and his partner, and asked how those two players should declare, supposing that the opponents passed whenever it was their turn. The score was stated to be love-all, and the hands were:

THE ANSWER
South (Dealer) should bid one No Trump, as three Aces constitute sufficient strength to justify an initial No Trump. This hand, in addition to the three Aces, has the Jack of Hearts; and it needs only a Diamond honor in North's hand to make South's Diamonds valuable. Passing with a hand of this character may result in the passing out of a deal which, with the aid that North could give, would produce game.

North should bid two Clubs. Hands of this type illustrate the importance of taking out partner's No Trump with a weak Minor suit. North's hand is apt to take three or four tricks with Clubs. It 'trumps' no tricks at No Trump. It is only with such unusual holdings as this that the rescue of a partner's No Trump is made. It rarely pays to bid over partner's No Trump at a love score, except with a strong five-card or longer Major or with a two-suiter; but in the case of a six-card Minor and an absolute bust, the bid is justified.

After North has waved the red flag, telling South that he has no help for a No Trump and considerable length in Clubs, South should pass; it is quite probable that two Clubs will be made, but not at all probable that two No Trumps could be.

TODAY'S HANDS

The question is how South (Dealer) and North (his partner) should bid these hands, it being supposed that their opponents (West and East) pass whenever it is their turn to declare. Answer tomorrow.
