HEALTH

15 YEARS ADDED TO LIFE SPAN IN PAST 50—HEALTH AID WILL BRING MANY MORE

By Harry C. Winslow, M. D., Mendocino, Pa.

Member Oregon Memorial Average human life is 58 years. If you could live 10 healthy years more than the average, how much more valuable you would be to your profession or to the business in which you are engaged, to your family, your community, or your country?

"Prayers are always answered," exclaimed a piously enthusiastic friend.

Manager of Accident Insurance Company: So you're positive that her accident was faked?

Investigator: Sure, she said her heel caught in the hem of her dress.

Insurgent: A woman who hasn't had an operation "faked" the same woman after she's had it.

Girls of a certain age like a fraternity pin better than the thing it has fastened to it.

Friend of the family: I'll give you a penny for a kiss, Marjorie.

Bright Child: No, thank you! I can even more taking red liver oil.

You, Mr. Man, and you, Madame, of 40 or 45, wake up! Don't feel so secure because the span of life has gone up, but take heed lest you add to the already increasing death rate of those in the dangerous forties.

Medical science has been able to accomplish so much to date because the lawmakers have helped with the control of contagious diseases, with the pure food laws, and because mothers are learning how to feed and care for their babies better than at any other time in history.

But not too much can be expected along these lines of attack. You cannot make a law which will insure a person cleaning his teeth.

AT THE THEATERS

"Valley of Giants" Screened in Redwood Country

The beautiful Redwood country of California, mecca of thousands of tourists each year, is the locale of Milton Sills' latest stirring vehicle, "The Valley of the Giants," which is showing at the Star theater today and Friday.

The story is from the novel of that name by Peter B. Kyne, and is an ideal vehicle for the talents of Sills. It deals with life in the open, in a wild country where "men are men" and there is no place for a weakling.

Sills and his company spent many weeks deep in the forest of Redwoods, in lumber camps and at mills, making scenes for "The Valley of the Giants" in the exact spots that Kyne so ably wrote of. The story has a clarity and compelling interest that few pictures possess, as the result of its being taken under the exact conditions the author dealt with in the original story.

Doris Kenyon plays opposite Sills in this picture, which was directed by Charles Brabin and produced for First National release by Will Guinn.

Arthur Stone, Paul Hurst, Yola d'Avril, George Fawcett, Charles Sellon, Fred O'Beck, Phil Brady and many other favorites are seen in support of Sills.

"The Valley of the Giants" is one of the finest vehicles this popular star has ever had, and should prove one of the highest attractions of the year in this city.

Colorful Story Is Zane Grey's "Lightning"

A picturization of the Zane Grey story "Lightning" a Tiffany Production is the feature picture at the Colonial theater. It is a fast-moving, highly dramatic picture of the lives of a couple of girls from the East, and a couple of boys from the open spaces of the West with a remarkable horse whose portrayal of a wild king of a herd of outlaws, was as clever a piece of equine acting as has been seen on the screen here in some time.

The battle waged by "Lightning" the name of the horse with another wild horse for supremacy of the herd was as thrilling a battle as could be witnessed at any time and had the audience in breathless wonder at the realism of the scene. Then again when this clever horse escaped a trap set for his capture and charged the man who was about to lasso him, and eluded his lariat, un-horsing his tormentor and rolling him down a cliff.

The story tells of the adventures of two cowboys, brothers who are determined to capture Lightning for the reward offered. At first they lose him and go to Chicago to sell the others they have captured. Here they meet two captured performers and fall in love with them, with their being jilted and relieved of some of their money. They return to the ranch disillusioned, while the girls who are on their way to cover up engagement via airplane are forced to a landing in the desert. At that time the brothers are trailing Lightning and come upon the girls. The recognition is mutual. How the girls captivated and Lightning was brought into the fold of domesticity through his love for a beautiful mare "Bess" rounds out this highly interesting and entertaining film.

The cast of players includes Johnny Ralston and Margaret Livingston as the captured performers, Robert Frazer and Guinn Williams

Rustless Wheat On Market in 1929

ST. PAUL, Minn., (AP)—With only 125 bushels of the seed available, the Minnesota agricultural experiment station will market its new rust-resistant wheat until 1929.

Andrew Boss, director of the station, says the present supply will be planted in 1928 under conditions that will insure still greater development and that seed likely will be made available to Minnesota farmers in 1929.

The new wheat is a cross between Marquis, the standard bread wheat of the northwest, and the durum durum. It is highly resistant to rust and at the same time of good milling quality. When offered for seed it likely will cost 26 percent more than ordinary wheat.

Having his diseased tonsils and abscessed teeth removed, you must educate individuals so that voluntarily they will take proper care of their bodies.

In addition people must be taught the advantage in freedom from sickness and a realization of the extra years of life which will accrue from yearly visits to their family physician for a thorough check-up. The urine must be examined and the blood pressure taken to guard against a kidney breakdown. Have the heart muscle tested before your feet swell and you are short of breath. Have your blood vessel walls examined before you have a paralytic stroke.

Don't wait until something happens before you have your examination. Like thousands and thousands of others you may wait too long!

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recommended by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat trouble. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

YOU KNOW, MRS. TYTE, I THINK BILL GERRICK IS MIGHTY NICE.

WELL, HE WANTS TO SEE BOTH OF US TOMORROW—HE'S GOING TO TAKE US OUT TO LUNCH AND TELL US HOW WE CAN GET THE LAUGH ON POP AND HENRY—IT'S A BUSINESS DEAL, I GUESS.

THAT'S FINE—THE ONLY TIME I EVER GOT AHEAD OF HENRY WAS WHEN WE FELL DOWN THE POST OFFICE STEPS.

BILL'S BEEN WONDERFUL TO ME IN EVERY WAY—I CAN'T SEE WHY I DISLIKED HIM AT FIRST.

OH, MEN IMPRESS YOU THAT WAY—I REMEMBER WHEN I FIRST MET HENRY—I DISLIKED HIM SO MUCH IT WAS WEEKS BEFORE I LOVED HIM ENOUGH TO START FIGHTS?
