Which animal travels with the most and which the least luggage? The elephant the most because he always takes his trunk; the fox and the cock the least, because they have only one brush and comb between them.

Why is a baby like wheat? Because it is first cradled, then thrashed and finally becomes the flower of the family.

Why is a joke less durable than a church bell? Because after it has been told (tolled) several times it is worn out.

LOWERING COST OF KODAKS

The telephone girl in a New York hotel answered a queer call over the house exchange the other morning about 11 o'clock. When she "plugged in" a man's voice said, "Hello! Is that So-and-So Hotel?" "Why, no," said the girl, "this is the Such-and-Such Hotel." "Oh, it's all right," said the man. "Just woke up and didn't know where I was."

"What nationality are you, bo?"

"Well, I'll tell you. I'm the kind of English that you put on billiard balls, the kind of Turkish you rub on towels, the Dutch that you find in threat, and the Scotch that comes in bottles. This ought to convince you that I'm really a Chinese puzzle."

AT THE THEATERS

"Les Miserables," Film Epic, Opens At Arcade

So big as to beggar description, delicate in its artful shadings of pathos and humor, and yet so overpowering in dramatic power and sweep that the audience was held constantly in the grip of tense interest, admiration and sympathy, "Les Miserables," the Universal-Film de France production, was shown yesterday afternoon at the Arcade theater.

One cannot see this gripping, soul-stirring movie masterpiece without realizing that infinite patience, unlimited money and inspired endeavor were lavished upon the production, for no item in the tremendously big tableau seems to have been too small to be worthy of the utmost care in reproducing, when actual antiques could not be obtained.

It is said that most of the scenes excepting those representing Paris, were taken on the actual locations of the book. These Parisian sets were built with such astonishing fidelity that they convey the illusion of age and realism, and to believe that they were not photographed a hundred years ago.

Jean Valjean, regarded by many as the most beloved character in fiction, is played by Gabriel Gabrio with a depth of understanding that makes the man of burdens live and breathe.

The lovely Cosette, the terrible Javert, the crafty Thernardier and Father Myriel, the saintly—all these are brought to being on the screen with the force of truth.

The film was originally produced in such great length that it had to be exhibited in France in a series of six showings. The American distributors have reduced it to feature length, retaining the essentials of the great story in big, gripping scenes.

The scene in the court room, where Valjean gives himself up to the law, would bring tears from the heart of a stone if a stone had a heart. The scene of the historic barricades is a big and exciting drama. The prison at Toulon, the Paris sewers, Valjean's escape from jail, the love of Cosette and her poet revolutionist—these will linger long in the memory of everyone who sees "Les Miserables."

"Les Miserables" will be shown at the Arcade theater today and Wednesday, matinee and night.

New Comedy Team Scores in "Adam and Evil"

"Adam and Evil," initial co-starring vehicle of Lew Cody and Aileen Pringle, which is playing at the Star theater today and Wednesday may honestly be said to show these two players to the greatest advantage they have ever been seen on the screen.

Two years ago Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer surprised the picture-goers by changing Cody from a "heavy" to a comedy player.

Recently the same organization cast the sophisticated Miss Pringle in the role of a demure Swiss peasant girl in "Body and Soul."

Both of the changes proved instantaneous hits with the picture-going public.

Going a step further the executives of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have ordained that Cody and Miss Pringle shall be co-starred in feature comedies.

That this, too, will prove a success has been aptly shown by their work in "Adam and Evil."

The story, based on the somewhat time-worn theme of twins and mistaken identities, has been treated from a new angle, and a number of unusual twists have made it into a first class vehicle for the talents of these extremely clever players.

Cody has handled the dual role with exceptional ability and Miss Pringle has shown that she has unlimited ability as a comedienne.

Roy D'Arcy, always good in his roles, has given a clever performance of comedy, as have Gwen Lee, Gertrude Short and Hedda Hopper.

One of the popular Collegian stories is also being shown.

Tom Tyler At Colonial in "Tom's Gang"

Bringing with him his famous pals, including his horse, his dog and his seven-year-old comrade, Frankie arro, Tom Tyler is playing today at the Colonial theater in "Tom's Gang," his latest western production at F. B. O.

Tyler, who is acclaimed one of the most popular western screen stars of the day, is supported in his latest picture by the beautiful Sharon Lynn, one of filmdom's rising young leading ladies.

Frankie Darro and his dog, Beans, have played with Tyler in a number of his pictures and need no introduction to screen fans. They both play prominent parts which will have an unusual appeal to the kiddies.

The story of "Tom's Gang," taken from an original by Frank Howard Clark, deals with the difficulties which arise over the will of a wealthy ranch owner. Tom and Sharon Lynn are the real heirs to the estate, but the arrival of an impostor complicates matters considerably. Not until the last few feet of film has flashed by is the unexpected climax disclosed.

The picture, of course, is featured by Tyler's spectacular and thrilling horsemanship, which has brought him fame as a screen cowboy. Plenty of thrills are provided for those who love adventure.

In addition to those mentioned above, the cast of "Tom's Gang" includes Harry Woods, Frank Rice, Barney Furey, Tom Lingham, Jack Anthony and others.

NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS

Notice is hereby given that Chapter 254 of the General Laws of Oregon for 1925 requires every person owning or keeping any dog over the age of 8 months to secure a license for such dog from the County Clerk not later than March 1st of each year or within 30 days after he becomes the owner or keeper of a dog, and to pay therefor a fee of $1.00 for male or spayed bitch dogs and $2.00 for female dogs. Any person who shall fail to procure such license within the time stated shall be required upon procuring such license to pay as a penalty an additional sum equal to the license fee. Persons who fail to procure a license are also subject to a fine of $10.00 and costs for each offense.

By reason of the large number of claims filed with the County Court for sheep killed by dogs, it has become necessary to enforce this law in Union County.

Dated at La Grande, Oregon, this 30th day of January, 1928.

C. K. McCORMICK,
County Clerk.
