The respondent was being examined in lunacy proceedings.

"Who was our first president?" asked the counsel.

"Washington."

"Correct. Who was our second president?"

"John Adams."

"Correct."

Then there was a pause.

"He's doing well," whispered a friend of the lawyer. "Why don't you keep on?"

"I ain't sure who was third president myself."

Mrs. Youngbride—Bob, dear, it was just lovely of your aunt in Vermont to send us that pumpkin and her recipe for making old-fashioned pumpkin pies, but I'm afraid I can't do anything with it.

Hubby—Why not?

Mrs. Youngbride—Why, the recipe read: "First boil the pumpkin," and you know I have no pot in the house that will hold that enormous thing.

The Old Spinster — "Has the canary had its bath yet?"

The Maid—"Yes, he has, mum. You can come in now."

"Don't mumble your prayers, Helen. I can't hear a word you say."

"I wasn't speaking to you, mother."

"What book has helped you most in your career?" was asked, "The volume of business," replied the merchant prince.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

Rub Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster; does the work without blister.

Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

AT THE THEATERS

Laurel And Hardy Star In Screen Riot

Hal Roach, famous young comedy producer, is loud in his assertions that in Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, whom he has recently teamed for a series of two-reel fun offerings, he has the greatest combination he has ever seen work. Their latest offering on the M-G-M program, "The Battle of the Century," is showing tonight at the Arcade theater for the last time.

"Each of these boys," says Roach, "is a finished comedian with a background of hard and conscientious stage and screen work. Physically and mentally they seem ideally fitted to each other as screen comedians. Both are intuitive and original.

"Laurel, with his famous immobility of countenance, and the burly Hardy, pessimistic but hopeful, make what I believe is the happiest comedy combination ever seen on the screen.

"Their work is perfectly timed; they are hard workers and each has a well-founded sense of comedy values. I believe they will strike the note of public fancy to such an extent that within a year they will rank with Lloyd, Chaplin and other comic geniuses.

"The Battle of the Century" which contains, among other hilarious features, an uproarious burlesque of the recent Dempsey-Tunney argument, was directed by Clyde Bruckman, under the supervision of Leo McCarey.

The feature length film showing on the same program is "Come to My House," a Fox screen drama based on the Liberty Magazine story by Arthur Sommers Roche. Olive Borden and Antonio Moreno have the principle roles and are supported admirably by a cast that is thoroughly competent.

In addition, one of the ever popular Collegian stories is being shown. This one is named "The Cinder Path."

Boy Scout Picture At The Colonial

Combining all the action and romance of Fred Thomson at his best with a stirring theme based on the boy scouts and their ideals, "A Regular Scout," which opened today at the Colonial theater, is an excellent blend of entertainment and instruction. Entertainment, as the story values are never lost sight of, and several thrilling episodes occur in building up to the climax; instruction, in the many interesting scenes of scout activity shown in the progress of the tale. Both elements are well balanced, and the result is a picture of the noted Thomson quality which is sure to please the audience.

The story revolves around the regeneration effected by a troop of scouts on a man for whom life has become bitter. His mother dies of shock when a burglar enters her home, and the hero grimly determines to exact retribution, not only from the burglar, but from the latter's family as well. How this purpose is eventually altered because of the scouts forms the basis of the plot, and gives Thomson opportunities for some spectacular "stunts," as well as providing plenty of heart interest and romance.

Thomson and his famous horse, Silver King, are of course in the leading roles, but nearly a hundred crack scouts, and the best supporting cast ever assembled for a Thomson picture, are features of no little importance. T. Roy Barnes, Olive Hasbrouck, Mary Carr, William Courtright, Bob McKim, Margaret Seddon, Buck Black and Harry Woods comprise the assisting players and give splendid performances. David Kirkland has done what is probably one of the best pieces of direction of his career in his clever handling of the dual interests, in addition to writing the continuity from the original story by B. F. Oxford.

"Man Crazy" Showing At The Star

An outstanding event of the present season is the showing today and Wednesday at the Star theater of "Man Crazy," the First National picture featuring Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall.

"Man Crazy" has been acclaimed the best vehicle that this popular team has ever had, and with an exceptional cast, beautiful photography and many comedy touches, this drama of New England is one that should amuse and entertain everyone.

"Man Crazy" is adapted from the Saturday Evening Post story, "Clarissa and the Post Road," by Grace Sartwell Mason. It deals with the daughter of an aristocratic old New England family, who horrifies her sedate grandmother by starting a "hot dog" stand along the old Post road, and then falling in love with the driver of a truck.

"Man Crazy" was directed by John Francis Dillon and produced for First National release by Charles R. Rogers. The capable cast includes Walter McGrail, Edythe Chapman, Phillips Smalley, Ray Hallor and many others.

The popularity of both of the featured players with this pic-etmo featured players in this clever romance will increase with this picture, it is predicted, as both have ideal roles and do excellent work in them.

"Man Crazy" will no doubt be voted one of the high spots in the present theatrical season.

For those who like their stories of the west, Tom Tyler and his pals will be seen on the same program in their latest picture, "The Flying U Ranch."
