Jan. 21, Feb. 7-14-21-28.Pain in Your Shoulder?It's Probably Neuritis; Use Tysmol for ReliefKnee-like jabs of pain in the vicinity of the shoulder blade are generally due to neuritis, brought on by exposure to draughts or sudden changes of weather.
In some cases there is stiffness or sore-ness in the muscles, making it difficult to raise the arm.The safest and easiest way to relieve such an attack is to apply a small quantity of Tysmol over the affected area.
This soothing, healing preparation is quickly absorbed through the pores and carried to the throbbing, aching peripheral nerves. The pains usually stop at once, and in a very short time the last trace of soreness should disappear.Tysmol is absolutely harmless—free from drugs. Recommended for all forms of nerve pain, whether caused by neu-ritis, neuralgia, sciatica or rheumatism.
You can get a good supply for $1 at any drug store. Always on hand at

AT THE THEATERS

Wright Ozark
Drama Current
At ArcadeOne of the screen's most appealing love stories, told with the photographically beautiful Shawk Mountains as a background, is "The Shepherd of the Hills," now heading the entertainment bill at the Arcade theater today and Wednesday."The Shepherd of the Hills" is a First National Pictures screen version of the famous novel by Harold Bell Wright, and the lovers of the story, "Sammy" Lane and Young Matt, are portrayed by Molly O'Day and John Boles. Albert Rogell directed the picture, which was produced for First National by Charles R. Rogers.In the cast, also, are Alec B.
Francis, who plays the title role; Matthew Betz, as the villain; and Romaine Fielding, Otis Harlan, Joseph Bennett, Maurice Murphy, Carl Stockdale, Marion Douglas, John Westwood and other notable artists. They give an exceeding human characterizations, and the plot is packed with drama and suspense.Molly O'Day, who played opposite Richard Barthelmess in "The Patent Leather Kid" and Milton Sills in "Hard-Boiled Haggerty," demonstrates her real attractivness and ability in the role of the little Ozark girl. It is by far her best work to date, and should bring her recognition as one of the screen's most notable beauties and artists."Chicago" At Colonial
Is Big HitThe critics who accuse motion picture producers of misusing the full possibilities in adapting stage plays to the screen are refuted by "Chicago," a De Mille Studio production featuring Phyllis Haver and Victor Varconi, which will be on view at the Colonial theater tomorrow.The story of "Chicago," while it proved to be an extraordinary hit as a satirical drama, is vastly more suitable for a comedy-drama. Director Frank Urson contends, and it was produced in that vein.When Maurine Watkins schemed her comedy on the sham of woman murder trials and the irony of justice, it is plain that she meant the tragedy to be more dominant than it actually turned out to be, Erson said. The stars have a tendency to cramp a story of the scope of "Chicago," to exaggerate its characters and accentuate its absurdities. A full-sized picture alone can give it full expression.Phyllis Haver has the role of Roxie Hart, the "Jazz murderess," and Victor Varconi is cast as the husband. Others prominent in the cast are Robert Edison, Julia Faye, T. Roy Barnes, May Robson, Virginia Bradford, Warner Richmond and Otto Lederer.Comedy Picture Scores At ColonialIn its third release of the new season, Columbia Pictures Corporation extends its range of activity into the field of artistic comedy.
The picture is called "When the Wife's Away," and those who have viewed it at the Colonial theater have indicated that it might easily be set to music for a stage success.The story was based on Douglas Bronston's narrative of a married couple who found the world aMary Astor and Lloyd Hughes in "Sailors' Wives"One of the most dramatic films of the season is on display today and Wednesday at the Star theater."Sailors' Wives," a First National feature in which Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes play the leading roles, should be one of the most popular productions shown here in recent months.
