COMFORT AND CHARM FOR THE HOTEL GUEST

Congratulations To Mr. Roesch

Never before in La Grande history as we have known it for thirty years has there been a building so remarkable in quality and so much ahead of what would normally be expected of the community as is the new Sacajawea Inn.

In construction it is the best that modern engineering and building knows. It is furnished to a luxurious and complete degree seldom attained even in the largest and most famous hotels of the country.

We take a great deal of pleasure in congratulating Mr. Roesch and his hotel organization on the completion of the Sacajawea. It is a beautiful, a unique hotel. It should be a great source of pride to him, its builder, as it is to the people of this community who are benefited by its excellence and facilities.

W. H. Bohnenkamp Co.

Even the most luxurious lobby and the most charming dining room—such as the Sacajawea has—cannot alone provide permanent satisfaction for the hotel guest. The guest rooms are of primary importance and the building and furnishing of those in the new Sacajawea meet every requirement of comfort, convenience, and taste. There is no exaggeration in saying that no hotel in the Northwest, regardless of size, provides more excellent furnishings and facilities than the Sacajawea.

The bedroom suites, for example, are specially designed and built for this hotel. The beds are equipped with Deluxe springs—the finest springs made in America. A special 50-lb. all cotton mattress is used. There are nine twin-bed suites and six other suites have beds of specially built length to provide comfort for tall guests. These details give an idea of the degree to which the Sacajawea has gone to make an unusual hotel.

All bedroom suites, and all draperies and all floor coverings throughout the entire building as well as the dining room and banquet furniture, were purchased from us. Nothing has been spared to make the hotel remarkable in character and equipment. In your tour of inspection of the building at the formal opening Saturday evening, we call your particular attention to the following furnishings.

LUXURIOUS WILTONS ON LOBBY AND MEZZANINE FLOORS, AND IN ALL HALLS

On the lobby and the mezzanine floors the rugs are Gulistan high-pile Wiltons of extra quality, made by Karagheusian who are famous as the makers of Herati rugs. In the upper floors the halls are covered with Special Regent Wilton carpeting, made by the same company. The patterns are rich in color and of an especially adapted design.

The beauty and rich quality of these coverings is obvious to any guest. They are in keeping with the rest of the hotel and lay the foundation for a charming and unusual lobby and mezzanine.

EVERY BEDROOM SUITE OF BEAUTIFUL SELECT WALNUT

Fine American walnut suites, specially designed and built for the Sacajawea, are found in the bedrooms. The cabinet work on these suites is of the highest quality, perfectly fitted, expertly finished. The writing desks on the mezzanine floor are also furnished by us. The General Furniture Co., of Seattle, one of the foremost makers of fine bedroom furniture in the country, is the manufacturer.

The service and merchandise facilities of Bohnenkamp's are given worthy emphasis in the furnishings of this fine hotel.

FINE AXMINSTER CARPETS IN BEDROOMS AND IN DINING ROOM AND LADIES' ROOM

The excellence and charm of the Sacajawea's floor coverings are especially noted when you visit the Dining Room on the main floor and the Ladies' Room on the mezzanine. These are Axminsters, the dining room carpet of an extra heavy quality, the pattern specially designed for one of the greatest hotels in America.

In the bedrooms five different patterns of heavy Axminsters—extra heavy for hotel use—are found. They provide a luxury and comfort that is outstanding in a unique hotel. All floor coverings are laid over a moth-proof, sound-proof padding.

SMART DRAPERIES IN HARMONY WITH EACH ROOM'S CHARM

Draperies throughout the entire hotel were sold by us. Glass curtains of heavy net and a heavy sun-proof cretonne are used in the bedrooms with a boxed valance of wood, a heavy concealed rod supporting both draperies. In the ladies' room, the lobby and mezzanine, the ball room and sample rooms draperies of fine quality and harmonizing design and color are used with excellent effect.
