INCOME TAX FACTS

NO. 17
Bad debts constitute a considerable item in the returns of many taxpayers and may be treated in one of two ways, either by deduction from gross income in respect to debts ascertained to be worthless in whole or in part, or by deduction from a reasonable reserve for bad debts. Permission to adopt the reserve method is limited to taxpayers having a large number of accounts where credit has been extended to cover a considerable portion of time. It is not granted for the purpose of handling one specific debt.
Bad debts may be deducted from gross income only for the year in which they are ascertained to be worthless and charged off the books of the taxpayer. The taxpayer should attach to his return a statement showing the propriety of his deduction claimed for bad debts. Where the surrounding circumstances show that a debt is worthless and uncollectible, and that legal action, in all probability, would not avail, proof of these facts is sufficient of their worthlessness.
Unpaid loans made to relatives or friends with little or no expectation of their return are not deductible but are regarded as gifts. If a debt is forgiven, it can not be claimed.

When all other remedies fail, grass and other green stains may be removed with grease. Rub hard on the stain, then wash with soap and cold water. Finish washing in the usual way.

UNION PERSONALS
UNION (Special)—Sale of tickets for the 1928 basketball tournament began on last Monday under the management of Will Baxter, coach in the manual training department of the Union High school.
The local school board decided to close school from Monday on Thursday till the following Monday in order that all those of the grade and high school might attend the games during the tournament.
The city management is putting in more lights on the streets near the gymnasium, and some improvement is being now made in regard to the graveling of a part of the street north of the high school and gym before the tourney begins Thursday afternoon.
Adrian Goodbrod, a Union man who has been refereeing basketball games here and in neighboring towns this season, was called to Grant county Monday to referee the final game of the sub tournament between the teams of Grant and Harney counties. Cook of Baker had been in charge of that tourney but could not stay for the holdover game. Mr. and Mrs. Goodbrod left at noon, Monday for Mt. Vernon in the western part of Grant county.
Members of the junior class of the Union High school will have the only concession for selling confections and soft drinks in the gym during the tournament.

BRABO, BEN HUR
Clyde Holman, of the Adams Motor company has just returned from Toledo yesterday. He drove back four new Willys-Knights. (Critic (Ohio) Democrat Journal)

A Maryland school teacher aged 20 years eloped with one of her scholars aged 17. That was surely one case where a boy loved his dear teacher.

THE DOCTOR'S REVENGE
There was once a young couple named Slightham.
Who were afraid that disease germs would bite 'em.
They ate an apple a day to keep the doctor away,
But he came and brought twins just to spite 'em.

A man recently fainted three times at his own wedding, but it was no use. They waited until he came around, and he was married just the same.

SOUNDS REASONABLE
Science Teacher: Name some liquid that won't freeze.
Bright Pupil: Hot water.

A certain boy went to see a certain girl on a certain night and it so happened that she was ready but the boy was so surprised that he fainted so they were late anyway—can you beat that?

The young bride was asked what she thought of married life.
"Oh, there's not so much difference," she replied. "I used to wait up half the night for George to go, and now I wait up half the night for him to come home."

If you must have jaw exercise try chewing gum instead of discussing the neighbors' shortcomings.

"Did you ever notice how a woman lowers her voice when she asks a favor?"
"Yes," and raises it when she doesn't get it."

AT THE THEATERS

Tom Mix In Picture At The Star

One of the best told stories ever put into a western picture is found in "The Arizona Wildcat". Fox Films latest release to the Star theater, where it will be shown today and Saturday. Probably one reason for this is that it was written by Adela Rogers St. Johns especially for Tom Mix and his horse Tony. Miss St. Johns is one of the best known writers of popular fiction, whose stories appear in such magazines as the Cosmopolitan and who is also the author of several best selling novels.

In "The Arizona Wildcat" she has written a story that is a perfect vehicle for the daring Western star. Tom is at his best in this picture, performing some of the most breath taking feats with apparent ease and with a grin.

There are many new angles in this one, including the one where the cowboys beat a crack Eastern polo team at their own game. Also the idea of smooth eastern crooks plying their trade among the westerners makes for many humorous situations.

Dorothy Sebastian, in the role of heroine, gives a fine performance, and the other members of the cast, too, help to make an entertainment that is clean, sparkling with laughter, jammed with action and pulsing with a suspense.

But always and ever, there is Tom and his horse, who show us that they can always be depended on to furnish something new in the way of nerve tingling situations.

Brown stains that come on bath tubs, basins, etc., may be removed with powdered pumice-stone obtainable at drug stores. Wet a cloth with soap suds. Put a little powdered pumice-stone on the cloth and rub the stained spot. The stain will disappear in an instant.

Phyllis Haver In Picture At Colonial

When the big game hunter in Africa laughingly remarked to his black jungle guide, "The spring of a lion is much more dangerous than the spring of a clock," he had no thought of Harrison Ford, who is co-featured with Phyllis Haver, in "No Control," a new Metropolitan picture at the Colonial today, and who heartily agrees with every word the hunter said.

In this new production Ford has several exciting scenes with a burlesque lion. He frankly admits that he prefers his animals in a zoo with a cage between, but in the picture he is very much inside the cage with "The King of All Beasts."

In one of the scenes in a radio broadcasting station, he has to get in and wrestle with Numa. And he does not use a double.

"No Control" was adapted by Zella Sears and Fay Garnett from a humorous story by Frank London, "Hy Remote Control." Scott Sidney directed. Tom Wilson, Jack Duffy, Toby Claude, R. J. Hatcliffe and Larry Steers have the other important parts.

The outward appearance of the modern dress is not sacrificed for the perfect inside finishing of the dress of the past. A single flap seam pressed open often prevents the dress from having that home-made look.

An owl stopped a passenger train in Russia by pulling the air brake. Probably only Trotsky in disguise.
