Aid Society Has Buffet Luncheon, Meet at Church

Forty members of the Loyal Sisters Aid society of the Central Christian church met yesterday afternoon for a 1 o'clock buffet luncheon in the basement of the church. Divisions A and B had charge of the luncheon, and afterwards, at 2:30 o'clock, Mrs. C. W. Buntline, president of the society, called the business meeting to order. This was followed by the devotional exercises under the leadership of Mrs. C. E. Golden.

After the adjournment of the business session the remainder of the afternoon was turned over to Mrs. Fred Hoffman, leader of division C, who had charge of the afternoon's program. Mrs. Walter Price and Mrs. L. H. Purdy sang a duet, accompanied by Miss Helene Price at the piano. Mrs. C. F. McPherson sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. R. J. Kitchen, and Miss Helene Price played a group of piano numbers. Little Margaret Purdy sang a solo, and readings were given by Mrs. Minnie Baker, who is visiting at the R. L. Putnam home here from Salem, Mrs. Fred Hoffman and Miss Wilma Hansen.

An interesting meeting of the Parkdale club was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. E. Gump in Pruitdale, with Mrs. Thomas Standley and Mrs. John Bennett assisting as hostesses.

During the business session the club members gave a vote of thanks to Mrs. Gump, after announcement was made that she had presented a public library to the Moss Chapel school. The committee in charge of the dance which was given by the club at Pruitdale announced that a total of $225 was realized, which will be added to the club treasury. The names of two prospective members were received, but no action was taken.

There was no program and after the business meeting the remainder of the afternoon was enjoyed visiting. Several visitors were present, including Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. M. W. Huffman, Mrs. Earl Dial, Mrs. Florence Carpenter and Mrs. Tom Carpenter.

The hostesses served a two-course luncheon before adjournment.

Eight girls of the Tapawingo campfire girl group and their guardian, Miss Myrtle Hoyt, enjoyed a winter roast last evening at the camp site along the Grande Ronde river given to the campfire girls and boy scouts by Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Anderson. The campfire girl group was the first to enjoy an outing at the camp site since it was given to the two groups during the winter.

The girls met at the Silverth school house at about 4:30 o'clock and hiked to the Anderson place, where they built a campfire and roasted wieners. Stunts and songs were enjoyed until about 8:30 o'clock, when they returned home.

The regular meeting of Crystal Rebecca lodge was held last evening in the lodge hall in the L. O. O. F. building with a large attendance. Only the regular business was transacted.

Wednesday Bridge Club Entertained

Members of the Wednesday Bridge club were entertained at a delightful party last evening at the home of Mrs. Henry Hill on Walnut street. Bridge was played at two tables during the evening and high score went to Mrs. Anna Oliver.

Bouquets of spring flowers were attractively arranged about the rooms. After the card games the hostess served a two-course luncheon.

Mrs. Julia Holmes will entertain the club at its next meeting Wednesday, April 4.

Mrs. R. H. Smith and Mrs. Ernest Walden were hostesses to the Carnation club last evening at the attractive bridge-dinner at the Sackajawa Inn. Dinner was served at 7 o'clock in the Indian grill of the hotel, where one large table had been decorated with bouquets of red carnations.

After dinner three tables of bridge were formed in the women's parlor. Mrs. George Meserve made high score during the evening's play and the second prize went to Mrs. W. D. Warner. Mrs. Jack McGhean received the guest prize and the consolation prize went to Mrs. C. E. Wale.

During the business session of the club, which was presided over by Mrs. Clark Webb and Mrs. Parley Price, plans were discussed for the organization of a sewing club. A meeting, when the organization will be completed, will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Carey in the near future.

Mrs. Sherrell Ewin entertained the members of the Helomai Bridge club yesterday afternoon at her farm home near Ladd Canyon. There was a short business meeting during the early part of the afternoon when Mrs. Art Weagle was elected a member to fill a vacancy in the club.

Three tables of bridge were at play during the afternoon and Mrs. George McVey made high score among the club members. Mrs. Weagle received the consolation prize and the guest prize went to Mrs. Walter Perry.

The rooms of the home were prettily decorated with bouquets of spring flowers. Following the games the hostess served a two-course luncheon.

Mrs. Clyde Hoppel will be the next hostess to the club Wednesday afternoon, April 4.

Mrs. Chris Miller was hostess to a number of friends at a 6 o'clock dinner last evening at her home on Adams avenue. A delicious three-course dinner was served with covers laid for Miss Hattie Cooper, Miss P. Jones, Mrs. G. W. Sahlman, Mrs. Ledema Terry, Glenn Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

Elks Lodge Ends Series of Dances

The B. P. O. Elks lodge here closed a successful series of dances last evening at the Elks' temple when the last of the series, which have been given every two weeks during the winter months, took place. About 20 couples enjoyed the dance, which opened at 8 and continued until 12 o'clock. The Star Novelty orchestra furnished the music. Punch was served by the committee in charge during the evening.

Mrs. C. W. Noyes and Mrs. Susie Lee were hostesses to the Past Matrons' club of Hope Chapter No. 13, Order of the Eastern Star, last evening at the home of Mrs. Noyes on Adams avenue. Eighteen members were present and after a short business session, the evening was spent at needlework and visiting.

Rosebuds were used to decorate the rooms. A two-course luncheon was served by the hostesses.

The marriage of Miss Caroline Scherrer to Charles R. Logan, both of The Dalles, was quietly solemnized last evening at about 8:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Helms on Spring street. The Rev. J. George Walk, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, performed the ceremony.

Mr. Logan is an auditor. They will make their home at The Dalles.

In an Irish joke contest P. K. McMillan and Robert Anson tied for first prize, and Guy Spencer received the prize in another contest. Mrs. C. E. Bond won the prize in a "word" contest. At the close of the evening refreshments were served.

Announcements

The Royal Neighbors of America will meet in regular session tomorrow evening, March 23, at 7:30 o'clock at the K. P. hall. There will be initiation, and committee No. 1, with Mrs. Ruth Reed as chairman, will serve refreshments.

The party given for members of the Yomen's lodge and their friends Tuesday night was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Fitzgerald, 1409 2d avenue, instead of at the J. K. Chariton home as announced in yesterday's Observer.

The Westway club will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Giles Harnden.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—Grapefruit juice, cereal, cream, crisp breaded butter, scrambled eggs, oven toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Spinach and cheese souffle, brown bread and butter sandwiches, jellied prunes, "Tilden" cake, milk, tea.

DINNER — Stuffed calf's heart, steamed rich carrot timbales, milk custard pudding, milk, coffee. "Tilden" cake is a delicious butter cake which smacks of bygone days. The original recipe called for twice the amounts given in the following rule and made a very large cake.

Tilden Cake
One-half cup butter, 1 cup fine granulated sugar, 1/2 cup sweet milk, 1 1/2 cups flour, 3/4 cup cornstarch, 2 eggs, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and gradually beat in sugar which has been sifted several times. Sift flour once before measuring. Mix and sift flour, cornstarch, baking powder and salt several times. Beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon colored and add to first mixture. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk, beating well after each addition. Fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry and add flavoring. Turn into an oiled and floured square pan and bake 35 minutes in a moderate oven.

THE GARDEN

GET GARDEN TOOLS READY

There are four reasons for cultivation: to kill weeds, to preserve soil moisture, to aerate the soil so the bacteria in the soil may do their work, and to improve the appearance of the garden. There are two ways of accomplishing cultivation, hand tools and wheel tools. For a garden of any extent wheel tools are the easiest to manipulate and the most expeditious method. Wheel hoes, either single or double wheels, with the great variety of attachments that go with them make gardening a comparatively light task.

These wheel tools weed, stir the soil, mark rows, and even have seeder attachments. It is a quick and easy job to run them up and down the rows of growing vegetables. They cultivate a much wider space with one motion than can be done with a hoe.

In the small garden patch hand tools are all that are needed, a hoe, hand weeder, garden rakes, and a trowel. It is an excellent plan to be forehanded and see that the tools are in good condition before actual gardening starts. Oil the wheel hoe, polish the various attachments that may have become rusty and give them a coating of oil or grease of some kind. Order extra trowels and hand weeders so that if one becomes lost another will be available. Start weeding early. It is easier to kill weeds in their infancy than in their maturity. Stir the soil whenever a crust forms, particularly after a rain, as soon as it has dried sufficiently.

Every garden should be cultivated at least once a week during the growing season and often more frequently. With an early start so that weeds cannot gain a hold it is a light task and merely pleas-

CONTRACT BRIDGE

A few illustrations probably will help to clarify the discussion of last week concerning the strength required to jump a partner's Major suit from one to two at Contract.

Suppose that South bids one Spade, West passes and that North holds:

Spade Partner's bid	No. 1	No. 2
Hand 1	X-X	X-X
Hand 2	X-X	X-X
Hand 3	X-X	X-X
Hand 4	X-X	X-X

With No. 1, North should jump to two Spades. He has normal support (three cards) in his partner's suit which is the first jump requisite, and two Aces on the side which is the second.

With No. 2, North should pass. He has the normal support (first requisite), but is just short of the two Aces side strength (second requisite). With No. 2, in Auction Bridge, if South had bid one Spade and West two of any other suit, North would be strong enough to bid two Spades; but, in Contract, the jump should not be made with the minimum strength that justifies a raise in Bridge—an Ace and King of different suits furnish less high-card strength than the Contract requisite named in last week's article. Another illustration:

Spade Partner's bid	No. 3	No. 4
Hand 1	X-X	X-X
Hand 2	X-X	X-X
Hand 3	X-X	X-X
Hand 4	X-X	X-X

No. 3 meets the jumping requirement, but it is a minimum. No. 4 is weaker in Suit 2 and therefore falls short.

tract requisite named in last week's article. Another illustration:

Spade Partner's bid	No. 3	No. 4
Hand 1	X-X	X-X
Hand 2	X-X	X-X
Hand 3	X-X	X-X
Hand 4	X-X	X-X

With No. 3, the Contract jump should be made; the normal support in partner's suit is there and in addition to it there are Ace-Queen and King-Jack on the side. The chances are that the side strength will be at least as valuable as the two Aces, and falling to jump might cost a game. But with No. 4 the jump should not be made although the difference between it and No. 3 is slight. The Queen of a side suit is not as valuable for jumping a suit declaration as a King; and the line of demarcation is drawn between those two hands.

A final illustration:

Spade Partner's bid	No. 5	No. 6
Hand 1	X-X	X-X
Hand 2	X-X	X-X
Hand 3	X-X	X-X
Hand 4	X-X	X-X

No. 5 meets the jumping requirement, but it is a minimum. No. 6 is weaker in Suit 2 and therefore falls short.

Petticoats Return After Long Absence

By Hazel Heavis

(Associated Press Fashion Editor)

PARIS (AP) — Petticoats are back and some of the younger women are wearing their first lace-trimmed, bow-knotted underskirts. The garments are worn with the gathered, stiff taffeta skirts in the spring wardrobes. One petticoat is considered enough for the present. It is a froth of fine pleating with a foam of lace or ruffles at the bottom and it reaches to the knees.

Petticoats that peek out from under the hems of taffeta dresses are a recognized spring style. Some are of gold or silver lace. Ruffled taffeta petticoats of contrasting shades are another form.

Pantaloettes sometimes take the place of petticoats in the new fashions.

To offset the slight lengthening of skirts and their decided widening, dressmakers are making many of their evening dresses with lower backs. The extremely low-backed dress of taffeta is favored by one designer particularly. These dresses present problems of lingerie that Paris mannequins have solved in their own way. They use adhesive tape instead of shoulder straps to support their combinations, or eliminate the top garment altogether.

Blashed skirts which permit under-skirts of contrasting color to show through, giving the effect of two dresses worn one on top the other, are a phase of spring styles. For dresses of this type dark blue taffeta over pink georgette is a favorite. Sometimes blouses are slit as well as skirts. Sleeves are quite often slit to the elbow to show a puffed undersleeve of georgette.

Coats for wear with the afternoon dresses that have full skirts of stiff fabric like moire or taffeta are straight down to the hips and then flare out suddenly. Frequently they are made of the same fabric as the dress.

In this year's "Miss America" contest at Atlantic City "no girls will appear clad in bathing suits," according to the committee. But we've always been wanting to see a girl appear clad in a bathing suit.
