

WISCONSIN VOTE SET FOR APRIL 3

Democrats Favor Smith—
Republicans Divide
over Norris

MADISON, Wis., April 2.—Political parties within the state of Wisconsin will participate in the November general election, beginning April 3, when 24 districts in each national district convention will be held.

The Democrats are circulating among themselves for the nomination of Joseph P. Smith, of Utah, as their candidate for the presidency. On the Republican side, the party is divided over the nomination of Charles G. Deneen, of the party in the previous year.
