Reverend (pleadingly): "Give a starving man a nickel for a cup of coffee, please, Mister?"
"Nonsense, but I've only got a five-dollar bill."

"That's all right, Mister. I got change."

"Tom is certainly a very polite chap."
"Yes, he got that way turning down loans in a country bank."

English Woman—"There's no living with my husband now, my dear, he's ruined me. Since he got cured by their pills and his picture in the paper, he's done a stroke."

"Anyone could tell by looking at you that your parents came from Ireland," said Pat.
"Come on, don't try to fool me, your face shows your parents came from Ireland."

"All men are liars," said the old maid who had been jilted.
"Yes," admitted the woman who had three husbands, "but still some of them are better at it than others."

If you are paying more than $9.99 per month on your mortgage, which includes the interest and payment on the principal, it might pay you big dividends to call and have me explain my plan. You who carry straight loans, and are continually paying to ask for extensions or pay the cost of new financing, should be very much interested in my plan. We all expect our "ship" to come sailing into our harbor, but so few of us are safe pilots. We make too many delays. If you have a loan or need one, come in and let us talk it over.

AT THE THEATERS

Gayest Court In History Feature Of Film "Love"

Russia the magnificent—gayest court in the world, with the most beautiful women, the most handsome officers—all the glory of the land of the Czars before the revolution; this is the background for the poignant romance of Count Vronsky and Anna Karenina, as enacted on the screen by John Gilbert and Greta Garbo in "Love," now playing at the Arcade Theater today and Wednesday.

It is a dazzling spectacle—gorgeous uniforms, glittering costumes, great palaces and the revelry of the Russian aristocracy at its height, as a glorious setting for the central love theme—the world-famous romance of Count Tolstoi, known to literature the world over as "Anna Karenina."

In its film version it is a gorgeous piece of entertainment that has with utter fidelity kept the spirit of the novel. Gilbert, as the dashing Count Vronsky, is a figure no less romantic than his role in "The Merry Widow," but with a far greater depth of character that call forth the utmost of his histrionic skill.

Miss Garbo, as the tragic Anna, sacrificing all for love, and dogged by relentless fate, has a wonderful role. Her scenes with the child, for instance, fairly grip the heart, while her exotic personality tinged the entire spectacle.

Edmund Goulding directed the new play with rare skill, and a notable cast supports the two principals. Grand Duke, has a vigorous portrayal as formidable as his character of the pastor in "Flesh and the Devil," while Brandon Hurst is compellingly realistic as the sometimes sinister husband of the heroine. Emily Fitzroy, Philippe D'Laury, and others of note are in the cast.

The settings are gorgeous reproductions of Russian palaces before the war, and the entire setting is lavish indeed.

Al Wilson Does Air Stunts in Star Picture

Al Wilson, the "human fly" of filmdom, has it all over any bird in the air. Nature has not as yet produced a fowl or any other form of life that can fly upside down. But leave it to Al in old-time nature, for with the aid of science he has accomplished this feat and many more for thrill producers in his latest Universal Western air film, "The Air Patrol," which is showing today and Wednesday at the Star Theater.

This great epic of the clouds averages a thrill a second. There are ball-splins, loops, a climb from one plane to another, tight spirals and a fight for life on the wing of a plane traveling seventy miles an hour—out of control. Think of it! After fighting two headless thousands of feet in the air, Al hangs his plane back into position after falling many hundreds of feet and then lands safely, all for a girl.

Al Wilson, the actor-author of "The Air Patrol," has made a story of novel interest.

The star air ace has picked his own characters for his story with careful discrimination and the buzzing birdmen perform the breath-taking, hair-raising stunts as only veterans of their craft could do.

The members of the excellent cast render capable support, those playing worthy of special mention including Elsa Benham, Art Goebel, Jack Mower, Frank Tomnick, Monte Montague and Frank Clark.

Bruce Mitchell directed the picture. In "Straight Shooting," the second feature on the Star program, Ted Wells, the screen's greatest equestrian, is given ample opportunity for displaying his wonderfully daring horsemanship. This Universal Western, which is Wells' latest starring vehicle, will present a splendid cast supporting the popular star. Among the players are Lillian Gish, Gary O'Dell, Joe Bennett, Al Ferguson, Wilbur Mack and Buck Connor.

GREECE HALTS SALT-MAKING ATHENS (AP)—Accumulation of unsold salt in government warehouses due to cessation of exports because of increased prices and transportation costs has resulted in the government ordering suspension of operation of all salt mines. Surplus stocks are said to exceed 70,000 tons, which is about equal to domestic requirements.
