PROGRAM FOR COUNTY WORK NOW DECIDED

The figures of the proposed issue had been re-arranged to serve more people of the county, and declared that he believed that now was the opportune time to present the issue to the people.

Representative H. H. Weatherspoon spoke for Elgin. He spoke briefly of the $2 auto license fee and declared that it was not the $2 fee that was endangering this part of the state. He said that talk was during the last legislature of canceling the market road law, especially among delegations from the Willamette valley, where good roads are already completed. He declared that if Union county was going to complete its road program now is the time to do it. Irving Less promised the support of Union and E. J. Sonnerbock spoke for North Powder. He said that if the people of North Powder were assured the money would be spent on the roads designated they would support the bonds after which he was assured the money could be spent for nothing else.

T. B. Johnson, of Lower Cove, expressed the belief that that section would support the issue and Mr. Selphoy of the Summerville section declared that with the change made in the issue since last year he believed it would carry. Jesse Crum, of Elgin, said that he believed the people in that section in favor of the issue. William Selphoy said that he believed the issue would carry in La Grande since the Starkey road had been added giving La Grande something to work for.

Speaks for Starkey
L. K. Kinzel and A. J. Stango spoke for the Starkey section. They told of the establishment of the M. Family camp there soon and that the population in that country would then be increased 400 or 500 persons, and that a good road from the camps to La Grande meant that those employed would spend their money in La Grande. W. W. Stevens and W. R. Ledbetter, members of the Union county court, told of the demand made of the court for good roads and heartily endorsed the issue. S. R. Morgan, county engineer, declared that the passing of the bond issue would advance the present road program about five years. He explained the various roads embodied in the issue.

Petitions are being mailed out this afternoon and a special meeting of the county court has been called for April 14 to authorize the bond issue being placed on the ballot.

Yesterday afternoon's session of the county court was quiet. Mr. Morgan, county engineer, reported on a petition presented to the court for the court get good roads and the report and authorized that the roads be closed and the notices posted. The roads are old sections no longer used in the Catherine creek section and in the Elgin district. June 7 was the time set for the hearing on this matter.

The court announced this morning that work would start immediately to complete the grading and surfacing of the section of road from Pandosa to the Baker county line. This work was started last fall, but because of weather conditions was not completed. If present weather continues, however, it will be possible to go ahead with the work next week.

Man Hunt Under Way; Ex-Convicts And Boy Sought

LOS ANGELES, Apr. 6 (AP)—A state-wide man hunt was on today in California with a two-fold object—the finding of either man or whereabouts of a man of eight ex-convicts from Folsom prison.

Police here yesterday started the search for the eight one-time inmates of Folsom with the theory in mind that a possible foul endeavor within prison walls may have resulted in the abduction of Young Collins, with revenge upon the father of the lad as a motive. Walter J. S. Collins, the father, has been a trusty at Folsom and officers believe that his duties of reporting infractions of rules by his fellow convicts may have led some of the prisoners to have attempted vengeance when they were released by abducting and possibly slaying the lad.

The abduction angle of the case was strengthened yesterday when the mysterious "dead boy" seen in the back of an automobile by filling station agents several days ago was located and found to have only been sleeping.
