They Must Thig Id's Sprig

Judging from the costumes, the girls "thig id's sprig." While we walk in feet and tremble of neuritis, rheumatism and the deadly cold in the head, these members of the "Buffalo Snow Birds," a girls' athletic organization of Buffalo, N. Y., play hockey on the ice and seem to like it.

They were aligned for the jaunt to Tulsa under the leadership of Peter Gavuzi, Southampton, England, who covered yesterday's 34.8 miles from Chandler in 4:27:57, to take over first place in elapsed time from Andrew Payne of Claremore, Okla.

Payne arrived from Chandler in 5:20 flat, to drop to second place with 266:07:31, about 23 minutes more than Gavuzi has used for the 1,575 miles.

Good buildings deserve this better fire insurance—with lower costs

Mr. Good-Building Owner:— Why are you called upon to stand extra cost when your building is well kept and perhaps practically fire proof? Isn't it because the company you're insured with accepts all classes of risks? . . . You deserve a better fire insurance, a lower cost policy, which gives you full benefit of the safety of your building.

Upon this basic belief the GENERAL INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA has founded its principle of insuring good risks only! Good risks suffer fewer losses. That's why GENERAL OF AMERICA can cut down your insurance costs. GENERAL participating policies have never paid less than 20% dividends to their holders.
