OUR ENTREATY—Lord, hear my voice: let thine ears be attentive to the voice of my supplications. Psalm 130:2.

A Denver man won a $200 judgment against the young lady who refused to return his $200 engagement ring. Probably on the grounds that she secured valuable property under false pretenses?

It is entirely too customary, when a man in public life dies or retires or otherwise vacates a job, to express regret that his services are lost. In the case of Nick Sinnott, representative in congress from this district, the appointment to the court of claims is, however, a matter of deep regret for all of Oregon. Mr. Sinnott has won wide approval. It can be sincerely said that his service has been extremely fruitful. He has worked for the interests of his state and the entire west with fine vision and notable intelligence. He was highly respected at Washington, conducted himself in a way that was always creditable to this state and this district. This appointment is a step upward well earned, and the people of the state will wish him well while they deeply regret the necessity for a change.

CONGRESSIONAL PROSPECTS

A taken-for-granted congressional election has become something entirely different with the retirement of Mr. Sinnott. Republican and democratic leaders are already busy with estimates of the probable candidates. And with the primary lists closed it will depend on political manipulation and such personal following as will secure the general writing in of a candidate's name.

The contest has much in it of local interest because Union county men, and men well known in this section, are probable strong contenders. In the republican ranks Fred-Kiddle, now state senator and state manager of the Hoover campaign, has been mentioned for some time by his friends as a likely candidate should Sinnott retire. Another man prominent in the district in republican circles for years and known to have entertained thoughts of running for congress is Bruce Dennis, former publisher of The Observer, ex-state senator from this county and now publisher of the Herald and News at Klamath Falls. Both are looked upon as strong contenders if they should seek the nomination.

Several other prominent republicans may go after the nomination—Roy Ritner of Pendleton, Senator Butler of The Dalles, and Jay Upton of Bend. The last of this trio has a greater acquaintance throughout the district, probably due to his campaign for the republican nomination for governor against Patterson two years ago, while Ritner and Butler are nearly as well known through their long activity and interest in state politics. Others are mentioned and it is possible that a rather unknown candidate might be picked if the congressional committee does the job, as in the case of Korrell last year.

Among the democrats the district can rather confidently expect that Walter Pierce, Union county's ex-governor, will be in the race and will very likely win the nomination. Democrats have been anticipating the present situation and have looked to the former governor as the best vote-getter in their ranks. Pierce has, without question, a great deal of strength in Eastern Oregon and would make a campaign to be remembered if he were nominated.

Regardless of the outcome, both the primary and general elections now take on new interest for voters in this district. Political intrigue and wire-pulling will concern the candidates. What should concern the voters is the selection of a representative who will take Sinnott's place with credit, who will serve both the district and the state in a competent, conscientious manner.

ABE MARTIN

I'd like to attend one of them Republican blowouts at Chicago if there was any way I tell which politician's home it was goin' to be. "Oh, she'd have been rid o' him long ago, but he's got insomniac she can't ketch him asleep." I heard a woman say "day."

Wheat Unsettled But Cent Higher

CHICAGO, Apr. 19 (AP)—Opening 1 1/2 to 2 1/2c higher, wheat started fast. Corn started 3/4 to 1 1/2c up but subsequently lost considerable of the gain. Oats at times were relatively stronger than corn. Provisions followed grain. Wheat closed unsettled, 1 to 1 1/2c net higher, corn 3/4 to 2 1/2c advance and provisions at a rise of 15 to 22c.

Wholesale Market Trade Dull Today

PORTLAND, Ore., Apr. 19 (AP)—Portland wholesale markets were dull today, weather conditions apparently being responsible for the light trading. Excessive moisture throughout the nearby producing districts has kept asparagus, spinach and other classes of green stuff backward and supplies today were moderate with prices generally firm.

PORTLAND WHEAT
PORTLAND, Ore., Apr. 19 (AP)—Wheat—B.H. hard white, $1.62; soft white, western white, $1.52; hard winter, northern spring, western red, $1.47.

Today's car receipts—Wheat 32; barley 1; flour 12; corn 6; oats 11; hay 7.

Wall Street In Grip of Bullish Activity Today

NEW YORK, Apr. 19 (AP)—With Wall street apparently convinced that no immediate increase in federal reserve discount rates was likely, and general expectations of a sharp reduction in bond rates this week, speculation for the advance had little difficulty today in bringing about a sharp rise in prices. Early gains in scores of active issues ranged from 2 to nearly 15 points, with trading in fairly heavy volume.

The closing was strong. Radio started another sprint in the afternoon which carried it to 185, and it was joined by General Motors, which touched 195. Powerful buying continued in other recent leaders, advances in many instances ranging from 5 to 6 points. United Fruit, Woolworth, Ludlum Steel, and Fairbanks-Morse displayed exceptional strength. Delaware and Hudson got as high as 194, where it encountered profit-taking. Total sales approximated 3,500,000 shares.
