Announce Wedding At Dinner Party

A lovely dinner party held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Avery at Island City, announced the marriage of Miss Irene O'Connell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. O'Connell of this city, to Leo Hinkle, of Baker, was made known. Miss O'Connell and Mr. Hinkle were married at Baker Jan. 21, but the marriage was kept secret. The announcement last night came as a surprise to her many La Grande friends.

Covers were laid for 18 friends of the honor guest around a prettily decorated table arranged in the dining room of the Avery home. The color scheme used was gold and white and over the center of the table hung an inverted parasol in gold, from which white ribbon streamers fell to each place. Place cards were attached to the end of the streamers and on the other end in the parasol were tiny white envelopes, which enclosed the announcement written in gold letters.

Notepaper was little daffodils and the centerpiece was a large bowl of daffodils. Tall taper candles in the same color were at either end of the table. After dinner, bridge was played, high score going to Mrs. W. M. Poore and the consolation prize to Mrs. E. L. Knight. The honor guest, Mrs. Hinkle, was given the prize.

Mrs. Hinkle has many friends in La Grande, having made her home here for a number of years. For the past several years she has been employed in the O-W-R. and N. offices here. Mr. and Mrs. Hinkle will make their home at Baker, where he is in business.

Mrs. Greulich was given the guest prize.

After the card games the guests were taken to the Tiffin where a two-course luncheon was served. Sweetpeas and roses formed a prettily centerpiece for the luncheon table and nut cups were in the form of dainty roses. Clever little favors were found with each place card.

Diversified Snakes Figure In Fashions

By Hazel Roavie (Associated Press Fashion Editor) PARIS (AP)—Reptile skin shoes are having a spring revival and customers in the shops that set the fashions are talking learnedly about boas, pythons, water snakes and lizards, plain and decorated.

As prices for the rare snake skins mount it behooves the woman who is buying them to recognize the snake she wants when she meets it. Lizard, natural water snake and karun are fashionable but expensive skins which are offered in imitations that deceive many an unwary purchaser.

Dyed reptile appears now in rich shades of red, blue and green as well as black and natural tones. Boa skin shoes are shown in bright reds, dull forest blues and many shades of green. Mahogany and egg plant are other shades seen in the shops that make shoes to order.

Beige, most shoe dealers say, will be the outstanding color for summer shoes.

Elaborate shoes are out of fashion in Paris, both for evening and daytime wear. Elaborate embroidery and jeweled decoration has almost disappeared from the windows of the smartest shoe makers.

MENUS

By Sister Mary BREAKFAST—Sliced oranges, cereal cooked with chopped figs, cream, bread crumb pancakes, new maple syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cream of asparagus soup, cheese muffins, jellied fruit salad, coffee.

DINNER—Casserole of beef's tongue, twice baked potatoes, celery, cream and apple salad, vanilla ice cream, fudge cake, milk, coffee.

One of the most attractive ways to use cream in a salad is to strip the leaves from the stalks and use them as a border for the other material comprising the "salad". This is done in the dinner salad with finely minced cross sprinkled over the top of the dressing on each serving.

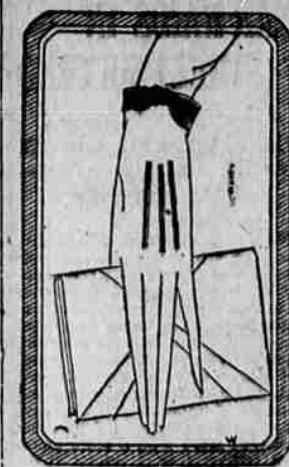

Casserole of Beef's Tongue One beef's tongue, 1 cup sliced carrot, 1/2 cup sliced onion, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 lemon, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 cup sautéed mushrooms (optional but good), 3 slices of fat salt pork. Scald tongue in boiling water for twenty minutes. Drain and remove skin. Place on a bed of sliced fat salt pork sprinkled with carrot, onion and parsley in casserole. Add boiling water to cover. Add lemon juice. Cover closely and cook in a moderate oven three hours. Remove tongue to hot platter and cut in thin slices without cutting deep enough to separate them. Strain liquid in casserole and add to tomatoes rubbed through a coarse sieve. Heat to the boiling point and stir in 1/2 tablespoons flour stirred to a smooth paste with a little cold water. Bring to the boiling point will be served at noon. There will be election of officers in the afternoon.

Bridge Pointers

By Milton C. Work CONTRACT BRIDGE Continuing our discussion of Contract deals, we must remember that every Contract bid shows strength. After a bid of one of a Major, the other Major should not be bid by partner unless the take-out suit is really strong; with moderate strength, do not take out unless side support justifies such bid. For example, two Hearts should be bid over partner's one Spade with the following hand:

♠XX
♥J-K-Q
♦K-Q
♣XX

It is admittedly a dangerous declaration, but it would be still more dangerous to pass as the combined Hearts of the two hands, plus their respective Spades and Diamond strength, may be a game-going combination; but even with that Diamond strength it would be wildly unsound to jump partner's Spade bid of one without normal support. If the Diamonds were materially weaker, the hand should pass.

Denials of one Major with the other can be made with a four-card Ace-King-Queen holding and nothing on the side, but with less strength, four-card denials should not be made. At Contract, being weak in your partner's Minor is no justification for taking it out; every Minor bid should be passed by a partner whose holding is doubtful. But when the bidder's partner is strong, whether for No Trump or in some other suit, he should name his strength; if strong only in his partner's Minor, he would jump. It is important that the overall strength partner show all the strength he holds.

Denial bids in Contract are not made, as they are in Auction Bridge, with holdings of one quick trick plus a little more to warn the partner not to continue the suit. A pass is virtually a denial because the failure to make any bid is a definite notice to the partner that the passer's hand will not be helpful. Therefore, no matter how short in partner's suit and how desirable a denial may seem to be, pass not only with weakness but even with some hands which contain sufficient strength for an Auction Bridge denial.

This subject will be continued next Friday.

Japanese barnyard millet is not considered as satisfactory in Oregon as other crops under general conditions, reports the experiment station in answer to inquiries. Alfalfa is far superior for hay pasture. On wet land that cannot be planted until late because of standing water in winter, Reed canary grass is suitable. Where millet is sown about 15 to 20 pounds seeded as soon as the soil warms up is recommended.

Rate of applying lime is based on requirement determinations. A practical rate for initial applications will run one to two tons an acre. Lime is evenly distributed and harrowed in after plowing when soil is dry enough to crumble. Greater returns are usually realized from lime when used in combination with barnyard manure, experiments of the Oregon station show.

Coarse ground or low grade copper carbonate usually does not give satisfactory results. Since the effectiveness of the treatment depends on a thorough coating of the dust, a treating machine is best used.

The varieties—Zimmerman and Houston—have given good results as spring wheats in western Oregon, says the experiment station. Zimmerman is a white wheat, while Houston is a small red wheat. The latter may give better results on heavy land and hill land, while Zimmerman appears to be more adapted to fertile river bottom soils.
