THE LORD'S SERVANTS—Praise ye the Lord. Praise ye servants of the Lord, praise the name of the Lord.

Since Mayor Thompson doesn't seem to have got anywhere by fighting King George, he might tackle Sandino.

There are said to be 350,000 persons in this country making a living by crime. There are about twice that many making a living by trying to prevent them.

A Milwaukee judge says a six-months-old infant is too young to work and orders its mother not to exhibit it in a model nursery at $10 a day.

Chicago bombs distracted attention from a bombing in Italy that otherwise would have been very sensational. Anarchists, or whatever they were—probably "patriots" in their own eyes—killed 15 persons in Milan with an infernal machine.

THEY TRUSTED HIM

Rev. Joseph Cataldo, Jesuit missionary and educator of the Pacific Northwest, died in Pendleton recently. News paragraphs telling of his death recited briefly his services among the Indians, and added, "for 75 years he was the trusted emissary of Indians and white men of the northwest."

We're not familiar with his career or his achievements, but it occurs to us that a man must have lived well to merit a tribute like that. Few finer things can be said of a man than "we trusted him."

We were born with confiding dispositions, but we soon outgrow them. A child quickly learns, unfortunately, that not everyone can be trusted. As he grows to manhood he sometimes almost comes to believe that the reverse is true—that he can trust no one.

That can't be said of all of us. Life is a rather complex affair. We grow used to evasions, to subterfuges, to crafty bluffs. We make promises with mental reservations. When we enter upon affairs of real importance we are not surprised that men "want to see it in black and white"; we set down our names on demand, not resenting the implication that our word is not good unless our signature accompanies it; and we insist that those we deal with do the same.

Now and then, however, we do meet men who are not made that way. There are, after all, quite a few of them in this old world; men whose word, as the saying is, "is as good as their bond"; men who are known to all their fellows as strictly honorable and trustworthy.

You can hardly pay another man a higher compliment than to trust him implicitly. To trust a man means that here, in an unstable world, you have found a person you know to be secure. You are sure of him; sure that however the winds of chance may toss him, he will remain honorable in all things. You are willing to confide in him, as confident of him as you are of yourself.

So, we repeat, we know nothing about Father Cataldo, the aged missionary who died the other day; but we feel that he must have lived well. A man cannot ask for a better epitaph than his—"For 75 years men trusted him."

GOOD TELEPHONE SERVICE

Is one of our most valued assets. It can be obtained only by the use of correct directory listings.

Every time a wrong number is called, the company is caused an unnecessary labor expense and the quality of the service is impaired.

When using our service, use our official directory and no other.

ABE MARTIN

Our unemployment parade yesterday was a big success, some 231 cars held in the procession. Mrs. Ike Lack's married daughter, O'Okahomy, who's visitin' her, had a violent fit of hysteria today. She imagines her husband is gittin' so rich he'll kick her out.

Rifling lice and sucking lice affect sheep and goats. The only practical way to dispose of lice is to dip the animals. Arsenical, coal-tar cresote, and nicotine dips are effective but are dangerous if not used properly and according to directions. Community or public shearing places often are the means of spreading lice to clean herds. Animals shorn in such places should be dipped sometime between shearing and cold weather.

Eating, sleeping and elimination—establish these three habits and you have built a firm foundation for your child's mental and physical health.

Butter Market Steady; Eggs In A Firm Position

PORTLAND, Ore., Apr. 21 (AP)—Hovering around the 39c mark, the butter market remained steady today with prices of prime firsts 2 1/2c and 3 1/2c. There was a good demand for butter for shipment to Seattle, Tacoma and other cities in Western Washington and a number of local creameries were billing their product direct to that vicinity. This had the effect of building up a firm market on all grades.

Remaining firm, the egg market was in healthy condition. Standard extras and standard firsts were chalked up at 2 1/2c and 2 1/2c. More than 800 cases went into storage. Poultry retained its somewhat firm level with top price broilers bringing 25 @ 30c. Light lights at 17c counterbalanced the market.

STAND STRAIGHT For Health!

Those headaches of yours, those spells of indigestion, that dreadful feeling of depression—that the world is against you—may easily have resulted from the way in which you are carrying yourself.

Much of your nervousness, your fatigue and your backaches, your "rheumatic" pains and the poisoning that comes from intestinal sluggishness often may be traced to faulty posture. Not to mention the seriousness of subluxations and pinched nerves.

MAKE THIS TEST

Grasp the two knobs of an open door and make steady lath of your spine touch the edge of the door. Hold this position for a few moments, note the tingling sense of delight in every nerve, and the increased circulation. An adjustment is a thousand-fold more effective. Why not start today?
