Mrs. Leo Hinkle Inspiration For Bridge-Shower

Mrs. Leo Hinkle, recent bride, who has been the inspiration for many delightful parties recently, was again honored last night when Mrs. Melvin Larson was hostess at a shower at her home at 1808 Third street. Sixteen friends of the honor guest, who was formerly Miss Irene O'Connell, attended and during the evening four tables of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Ellis L. Knight made high score at cards and the second prize went to Mrs. Norval Jones. Mrs. David Fitzgerald received the consolation prize. The guest of honor, Mrs. Hinkle, was presented with a lovely gift from the entire group.

The home was prettily decorated with bouquets of spring flowers, including sweetpeas, roses, tulips and other blossoms of the season. After the card games the hostess served a two-course luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hinkle make their home in Baker.

Tables attractively arranged in a color scheme of yellow and blue. Daffodils served as a centerpiece and place cards and other details were carried out in yellow and blue.

Bridge was enjoyed following luncheon. Mrs. H. L. Porsch making high score. The guest prize was presented to Mrs. V. J. Applegate, of Spokane, Wash., who is making her home in La Grande, while Mr. Applegate has charge of the construction work on the O.-W. railroad between here and Pendleton.

Members of the Clio club were guests at an attractive bridge dinner last evening when Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Reuter entertained at the Seacajawa Inn. Dinner was at 7:15 o'clock in the Indian grill, where covers were laid for 16. Tulips formed a pretty centerpiece.

After dinner bridge was the diversion. Dr. Margaret Ingie made high score among the women players and the men's prize went to F. H. Appleby.

The Riverside Ladies Aid will meet with Mrs. Albert Neukirchner, 2814 North First street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Island City Parent-Teacher association will meet in regular session Friday, April 27, at the school house. Each member will be asked to answer to the roll call with a short talk on "What Improvements Could Be Made in Our School (and in Its Efficiency or in Its Beauty)." Both of the above North hands would be absolutely useless for South should he become the Dealer playing a Spades contract; but No. 1, with Hearts the trump, would be a useful closed hand with a Dummy that held some high Hearts; while No. 2 would work well at Clubs with a Dummy that held general strength. But a Heart take-out with No. 1 or a Club take-out with No. 2 might induce South to jump the take-out bid if it happened to fit his hand. South may have bid Spades with a suit headed by Ace-King and have sufficient strength in North's suit or on the side to warrant jumping North's bid to a game-going declaration, the jump being based upon the assumption that North had strength in North's suit or on the side to warrant jumping North's bid to a game-going declaration, the jump being based upon the assumption that North had strength.

The Missionary society of the Christian church will hold a tea tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock, in the church parlors.

The Mother's Self Culture club will meet with Mrs. H. K. O'Brien, 724 O avenue, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

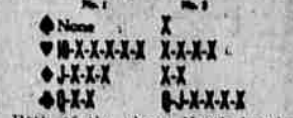

The Royal Neighbors will meet in regular session tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. There will be roll call, after which refreshments will be served by the committee in charge and a social time enjoyed.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

In our last Contract article we stressed the important point that, in Contract, dealer bids should not be made on length alone. There is one type of hand with which inexperienced Contract players frequently with disastrous results. Two illustrations are given below (North's Hands); South (Dealer) is supposed to have bid one Spade and West to have passed.

Both of the above North hands would be absolutely useless for South should he become the Dealer playing a Spades contract; but No. 1, with Hearts the trump, would be a useful closed hand with a Dummy that held some high Hearts; while No. 2 would work well at Clubs with a Dummy that held general strength. But a Heart take-out with No. 1 or a Club take-out with No. 2 might induce South to jump the take-out bid if it happened to fit his hand. South may have bid Spades with a suit headed by Ace-King and have sufficient strength in North's suit or on the side to warrant jumping North's bid to a game-going declaration, the jump being based upon the assumption that North had strength in North's suit or on the side to warrant jumping North's bid to a game-going declaration, the jump being based upon the assumption that North had strength.

It does not take a gifted imagination to paint the disaster that would result from such a South jump if North had made his bid with either of the above hands. Self control is most important for Contract players who are tempted to bid with long, weak suits. It frequently has been said that there is no such word as "never" in Auction Bridge; in Contract "never" can be used safely when followed by "bid with weakness."

Tomorrow our subject will be the strength needed for a Contract deal.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—Rhubarb sauce, cereal cooked with raisins, butter-milk waffles, new maple sirup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cream of asparagus soup, toasted cheese sandwiches, prune cornstarch pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Braised liver and bacon, baked macaroni and onions, Creole salad, pineapple upside-down cake, milk, coffee.

Creole salad is one of those vegetable combination salads that is always good as a dinner salad. Too often the salad served with the dinner is too hearty and rich, putting the meal out of balance with its surplus fat.

Two cups shredded cabbage, 1 sweet green pepper, 2 pimientos, 2 ripe tomatoes, 6 ripe olives, French dressing.

Remove seeds and pith from green pepper and mince flesh. Cut pimientos in shreds. Scald, peel and chill tomatoes. Mince olives, erip and drain cabbage. Combine cabbage, pepper and pimento. Add French dressing and let stand on ice for 10 minutes. Arrange on salad plates, cover with slices of tomato and sprinkle with minced olives. The cabbage mixture acts as a "bed" for the tomatoes.
