

Much Seeding Of Spring Wheat In Wallowa County

WALLOWA, Ore., Apr. 27. (Special)—With a gradual setting of weather conditions during the past few days, it has been possible for farmers to get started at farming in a small way in a few parts of the county. However, the heavy soil is yet too wet at most of the farms to allow working and the plowing being done is confined mostly to gravelly and well-drained soils. A number of farmers have been busy spring-toothing in cultivating the crop. Winter wheat crops are making a very rapid growth, and as the season advances the prospects look better. A good stand is seen in most of the fields and it does not appear that much if any reseeding will be necessary in this community. Some farmers who were able to get their grain sown early last fall find it getting such a headway growing, that they expect to have to do considerable pasturing for the next few weeks in order to keep it from getting large enough to be in danger of being injured by a severe freeze.

Plan Spring Seeding
A large amount of spring seeding is contemplated at many of the farms this spring and with a large amount of summerfallowing to be done, it is probable that some will be quite late in getting through, as no farming to speak of will be done in the hill sections before the first of May, even if the weather should remain fair from now on. Much stock has been moved to the ranges during the past few weeks, weather conditions lately have been ideal. Roads are slow in getting dry enough to allow dragging and filling in of cuts which were cut during the long period of wet weather and many of the dirt roads in the hills are yet nearly impassable to cars, because of many deep mud

THE OPEN COURT

CORRESPONDENTS MUST SUBMIT THEIR NAMES TO THE EDITOR IF THEY DESIRE LETTERS PRINTED.

To the Editor:
When your readers happen to strike a problem that to the ordinary mind seems insoluble it is quite natural to apply to a wiser head for the solution of that problem. Suppose there should be discovered a district in this city where the street is in a bad condition, very bad condition, so bad that it is a menace to traffic, a menace to health, a veritable hog wallow, whenever it rains. And further suppose that this condition has existed for 25 years and that the only change of attitude towards this district by a Christian community has been a slight raise of taxes yearly, which has been cheerfully and punctually paid by these patient patriots who have lived and hope and prayer for help, to get out of this hog wallow in which they have struggled for a long dreary one-fourth century.

But now when hope seemed to dawn on this neglected district, that a hard surfaced street was in sight, we are faced with the inquiry—is the appraised value of the land sufficient to pay for the street? Be that as it may we do know that a hard surfaced street would more than double the land value. Will we ever get it or must we continue to suffer in silence while the city marches on and forgets all about us. "Verily hope deferred maketh the heart sick."

Even the assessor has given up trying to find some excuse for raising the taxes this year. No hope for any improvement, and the saddest part of it all is nobody is to blame, and therefore V avenue from Spruce street east must remain unimproved.

Yours in sorrow,
L. Garrick.
