SOCIETY NEWS

Many Events Are Scheduled During The Month Of May

With blue skies smiling down from overhead, and the riotous spring flowers and shrubs which beautify so many homes of the city out in their glory, the setting is ideal for a gay and busy "fair month of May" for society and club women of La Grande.

Musicales, teas, afternoons of bridge and club meetings fairly cram the social calender for the next two weeks, the climax of which will be the fifteenth annual Neighborhood club May day breakfast, which women of the club are already anticipating with pleasure for May 15. Several bridge parties will take place this week and promise to be happy events. An outstanding club meeting will be held Tuesday evening.

Mrs. W. P. Mohr, who is leaving soon with Mr. Mohr and their family to make Klamath Falls their home, will be the inspiration of a tea at the Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon, and her leaving was the occasion of a delightful luncheon Saturday, at which Mrs. Eva Wissler entertained.

Mother's day, next Sunday, is to be the inspiration for several special programs among lodges and other organizations during the week.

Several La Grande music teachers have already given their spring recitals and, during the coming week others will be held.

Last Saturday afternoon quite a number of La Grande matrons had the privilege of meeting and chatting with Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, first woman governor in this nation, who was here in the interests of her campaign for Al Smith.

The Country club golf course was a mecca for feminine golfers in colorful golf attire all day yesterday, and will undoubtedly attract many throughout the week.

Yes, it's to be a busy month of May for milady who indulges in club and social activities in La Grande!

The Neighborhood club meeting Tuesday evening will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock when the president, Mrs. Sherwood Williams, will open the business session, at which several important matters will come up. Chief among these will be the election of delegates to the state federation meeting at Klamath Falls.

Equally important, and of interest to every member of the club will be announcement of plans for the annual May day breakfast, to be held this year on May 15 at the La Grande hotel. At Tuesday night's meeting every member of the ticket committee, the chairman of which is Mrs. J. T. Richardson, will be present, and will begin the sale of tickets. "We are urging that every member purchase her ticket that night, as we are very anxious to complete the sale as early as possible, and we are hoping for the largest attendance ever," said Mrs. Richardson today. The general chairman of the event this year is Mrs. T. A. McKinstry, who has her sub-committees well at work. Mrs. Hal Hohnenkamp is chairman of the program committee, Mrs. Adolph Siegrist of the decoration committee and Mrs. Richardson of the ticket committee. There is always a hint of "surprise" in the program and the chairmen this year are as yet not divulging the secrets of the program but they promise that it will be an outstanding and beautiful one. It will begin at 10 o'clock. The event is always a gala day for women of the La Grande club.

Teachers are to be special guests at the Tuesday evening program, when Mrs. A. L. Richardson is presenting the first act of the Charles Wakefield Cadman opera "Chenewin." Husbands of club members are also invited. There will be refreshments at the close of the program.

Bridge Pointers

What should a player do whose partner has doubled informatorily and been redoubled? Consider East's problem in the two situations following:

SOUTH	WEST	NORTH
1. One Spade.	Double	Redouble
2. One No Trump	Double	Redouble

In the first case South announces at least the minimum strength for a Spade bid: West says, "I have a hand on which I would have bid No Trump initially; but after South's Spade bid I prefer to double." North says (to South), "I have help for you; if you were wholly in Spades, I would bid two Spades; if it were in one other suit only, I would bid it as it is. I am merely announcing my strength for your information." In the second case, after South has bid No Trump, West says, "I have a No Trump also; shall we play that declaration, have you a four-card Major or must we play at a Minor?" North says (to South), "Don't be afaird, I can help your No Trump, we have West in between two strong hands and may be able to get a big penalty by doubling their next bid."

In either case, assuming the South, West and North declaration to have been sound, there cannot be many good cards left for East and he must be quite weak; and of course West knows it, after North's redouble.

It would be the limit of folly for both East and West to pass and permit North and South to play with a contract of one redoubled. Making the contract would be game even from a love score and would carry a considerable bonus with it; every extra trick would increase that bonus. Either East or West must bid; the question is, who should do it?

Understanding that East's pass would not show satisfaction with the redouble (a redouble cannot be satisfactory to a weak opponent), East should pass when he has nothing longer than a four-card suit and that suit has not any card better than a Jack at the top; but should bid with any suit of five cards or more, no matter how weak, or with any four-card suit headed by a Queen or higher card.

After an informatory redouble of this sort, one player finds himself sandwiched between two strong hands and facing a sympathetic but almost (if not quite) helpless partner. If the partner hold nothing better than a weak four-card suit, his attempted rescue probably would make a bad matter worse and he might better pass and let the distressed one rescue himself.

MENUS

By Sister Mary

BREAKFAST — Cereal with baked apples and cream, oven toast, scrambled eggs with dried beef, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Rice with spinach, rye bread, new onions, banana pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER — Ham en casserole, stuffed beef salad, prune whip with custard sauce, milk, coffee.

With the golf season upon us many housewives find it necessary to plan dinners that will bear waiting. The casserole of ham can be kept hot for some time after it's done without danger of drying out and spoiling. The salad is not a perishable variety that easily wilts and the dessert can be kept on ice until needed.

Ham en Casserole

One slice ham cut 1 inch thick, potatoes, onions, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ⅛ teaspoon ground ginger, ⅛ teaspoon dry mustard, 2 cup milk.

Trim rind from ham, leaving a rim of fat. Soak for two hours in cold water. Half fill a baking dish or casserole with raw potatoes cut in thin slices. Sprinkle very sparingly with salt and pepper. Add a thick layer of onions cut in thin slices. Place on top the slice of ham. Pour in milk and sprinkle ham with ginger and mustard. Cover closely and bake 1½ hours in a moderate oven. Serve from casserole.

The ham should have an inch rim of fat since no other fat is used for the potatoes.

The next thing we expect to see is a testimonial from the Murray Bay, Quebec, chamber of commerce, with signed statements from the men of the Bremen, telling why they chose that neighborhood to land.
