Two Recitals Are Given By Students

Two outstanding spring recitals, given Monday and Wednesday evenings at the La Grande hotel by Mrs. R. J. Green, have helped to make this week a pleasant and important one for lovers of music and those interested in the progress of younger musicians.

The La Grande hotel ballroom was well filled on both evenings. Many sincerely expressed tributes were paid to Mrs. Green on both occasions for the splendid performances of her pupils, and the pupils were complimented highly.

Miss Barbara Hiatt played the final groups on both programs, on the last occasion playing the difficult "Witches Dance" by MacDowell. In all she played six numbers.

Whether younger or more advanced, all of Mrs. Green's pupils played in a well rounded manner. Those who played Monday night follow: Phyllis Dunn, Frederick Hingman, Nancy Guild, Clair Perkins, Jane Stange, Marjorie Reynolds, Ruth McAllister, Max Stoddard, Barbara Hiatt. The pupils appearing Wednesday night were: Edna Towery, Cleo Harvey, Edith Brown, Robert Reuter, Edwin Kirby, Gertrude Adler, Marc Stoddard, Robert Guild and Barbara Hiatt.

Worth Almon entertained employees of the Cindarella shoe shop Wednesday evening at a delightful dinner party at a delightful dinner party at the Sacajawea Inn, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Helen Dahlvang and Mr. Almon.

Seven guests were seated at a prettily appointed table at the hotel dining room. An attractive centerpiece of spring flowers was used, while at the place of each guest was a corsage. A three-course dinner was served. Following dinner husbands of several of the guests joined them at cards, a new game, variety, being played.

Employees of the store presented birthday gifts to Mrs. Dahlvang and Mr. Almon, whose birthdays chance to come on the same date, May 9. Mrs. Dahlvang is assistant manager of the Cindarella shoe shop, of which Mr. Almon is manager. The dinner guests were Carolyn Smith, Mrs. R. C. Ayers, Mrs. Helen Dahlvang, Mrs. Abbie Thomas, Mrs. Golda Hickey and Mrs. Dahlvang and Mr. Almon.

Mrs. C. E. Duffey entertained informally at the home of Mrs. J. T. Harvey, complimenting Mrs. M. J. Travis, of Sacramento, who has been visiting here for about a week. Mrs. Travis was born in the Grande Ronde valley and spent her girlhood here, receiving her education here. She has many friends in La Grande with whom she has been visiting. She was Maude Heffling before her marriage. About a doz-

CONTRACT BRIDGE

The type of hand which troubles the skilled Contract bidder most (aces him when he is called to decide whether to take out partner's uncounted No Trump with a Minor, or jump it with a holding with which it is obvious that strong can be offered on both sides of the case. For example, suppose that a player has a five-card Minor with two of the three top honors, and one or more high cards in one or two of the other suits, and a worthless singleton. Unquestionably the worthless singleton in the hand of the partner of a No Trump is an undesirable holding, but it is not nearly as great a menace as one in the hand of the original No Trump bidder.

Various plans have been suggested to meet this situation in Contract. The simplest one is to bid just as if the hand did not contain the additional strength. In other words, make the same two Club bids with either No. 1 or No. 2 following:

If this were done, the Club situation would be accurately portrayed and in No. 1 the full strength of the hand would be shown but in No. 2 the full strength would be hidden from the initial bidder. The No Trump would learn that No. 2 had the Club strength it contains; but the additional face cards—would be denied. It might be that the No Trump could safely jump to game if he knew that the hand had a No Trump jump, and he might not dare to do so merely upon the strength of the information given by the two-Club bid. For that reason this scheme has not found favor.

Another suggested plan is to bid three of the Minor when holding the type of hand illustrated by No. 2 above; but if this scheme were adopted, the three-bid of the Minor would not show in which suit he suits the side strength lay, or in which suit or suits the Minor bidder had the singleton and, unless

During the banquet a musical program was enjoyed. Mrs. Edith Pyle, accompanied at the piano by Miss Margaret Pyle, sang two numbers, "Sylvia" and "Morning." Miss Dorothy Moncrief played two violin solos, "Consolation" and "A Perfect Day." A musical stunt was given by the alumni. The stage lights glowed, Jane Smith, Pearl Hauptz, Winifred Halsay and Vivian Smith, Miss Doris Kirk was piano accompanist.

Guests at the banquet included the members of the school board and their wives, faculty members and their husbands and wives and the post graduates.

After the banquet all went to the gymnasium, where a dance was given by the alumni. The stakes were transformed into a forest, where Mrs. M. J. Ayers' Irish dance orchestra from La Grande furnished the music. Lights were dimmed for the waltzes and a moon from one corner of the hall cast a soft glow over the dance hall. Dancing continued until 12 o'clock.

UNION. (Special)—Members of the Carnation club had a delightful meeting Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Dora Myers was hostess at a 1:15 o'clock luncheon at the Union hotel. Covers were laid for 12 at one long table prettily decorated with bouquets of apple blossoms, where a four-course luncheon was served.

After luncheon the afternoon was spent visiting. The next meeting will be Thursday, May 24, when they will have a picnic at the Goodbrook park in South Union.

MENUS

By Sister Mary BREAKFAST—Baked corned beef, cereal, cream, poached eggs on toast, extra toast, milk, coffee. LUNCHEON—Creamed asparagus with hard-cooked eggs on toast, bran muffins, strawberry and banana shortcake, milk, tea. DINNER—Roast beef, horseradish sauce, French fried sweet potatoes, baked eggplant, fresh cucumber salad, sliced fresh pineapple, milk, coffee.

While strawberries are high in price and not plentiful they can be "stretched" very satisfactorily if combined with bananas. The two fruits are delicious together, the blandness of the one counteracting the tartness of the other. The horseradish sauce is quite delicate but as piquant and appetizing as many persons desire.

Three tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1/2 cup milk, 1 lemon, 2 tablespoons fresh grated horseradish, 1/2 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, paprika. Melt 1 tablespoon butter in a smooth sauce pan. Stir in flour and when mixture bubbles, slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Add salt, sugar, grated rind and juice of lemon and horseradish. Cook five minutes. Rub through a fine sieve and return to the fire. Add remaining butter, parsley and paprika. Serve very hot.
