44 Guests Attend Bridge-Luncheon At Sacajawea Inn

An outstanding affair of the spring season for society women of La Grande was the delightful bridge-luncheon given at the Sacajawea Inn Saturday by Mrs. W. H. Bohnenkamp and Mrs. F. S. Ivanhoe.

Forty-four guests were seated at three long tables in the hotel dining room shortly after 1 o'clock. A number of large, beautifully arranged baskets of spring flowers, lilies and tulips, made the tables charming. A variety of silver presents added to the attractiveness of the appointments at each table.

An excellent three-course luncheon was served.

Bridge was played during the afternoon at tables arranged about the mezzanine of the hotel. Here, too, bouquets of the season's lovely flowers were arranged in abundance. Mrs. L. K. Kinsel won the first prize at bridge. Mrs. J. E. O'Connell, second and Mrs. Lee Bouvy third.

Mrs. Laura Nash, of Pendleton, was an out-of-town guest.

Arrangements were made for the last meeting of the club to be held Friday, May 25 at the city park. A picnic lunch was planned.

Two enjoyable parties were given by workers of the beginners' and primary departments of the Presbyterian Sunday school recently for the children of the two departments. On Saturday, May 5, Mrs. W. E. Buchanan, superintendent, with the teachers entertained the children of the beginners' department at an afternoon of games with 47 present. Last Saturday afternoon, May 12, the primary department, with 41 children present, was entertained on the church lawn. Pictures were taken during the afternoon of fun for the children, and refreshments were served.

Mothers Guests At Rainbow Banquet

An outstanding event in the year for the La Grande assembly No. 13, Order of Rainbow for Girls was the mothers' and daughters' banquet given Saturday night at the Masonic banquet hall, with 125 in attendance. An important meeting, including initiation and election of officers, followed the banquet. Miss Anita Erickson is the worthy advisor.

Mothers and daughters were seated at prettily arranged tables shortly after 6:30 o'clock, following a grace, which was pronounced by Miss Wilma Hansell, chaplain. Bouquets of tulips and other spring flowers were arranged on the tables, while streamers in the colors of the rainbow were used, making the tables colorful and in addition suggesting the name of the organization.

An excellent dinner was served by members of the Hope chapter No. 13, of the Eastern Star. Miss Mary Culp, as chairman of the program committee, acted as toastmaster, calling upon Miss Evelyn Nelson, worthy advisor, for a toast to the mothers. Mrs. E. W. Ely responded. Miss Dorothy Brown-ton played a piano solo, "Hark, Hark the Lark," by Schubert, and Miss Grace Gelbel sang "God's Greatest Gift." She was accompanied by Dorothy Brown-ton.

A mother's day reading by Miss Wilma Hansell, with a violin obligato by Miss Seville Pratt, was the final number of the program.

Mrs. G. N. Turkington, mother advisor, spoke, welcoming all the mothers, and inviting those who were Eastern Stars to remain for the assembly meeting. A number of Eastern Stars and Masons were present.

In addition to the election of Miss Erickson as the office of worthy advisor, the assembly elected Miss Catherine Humphreys to the station of worthy associated advisor, Miss Vivian Kuhn sister of hope, and Miss Lois Hansell sister of faith. The new worthy advisors will appoint other officers for the ensuing term before the next regular meeting, May 26, when officers will be installed. A report was heard on the candy sale conducted by the eighth grade and freshman members and a sale to be held next Saturday by the sophomores and juniors, with Miss June Cooldige chairman, was announced. On the program committee with Miss Culp for the banquet were Miss Mary Lou Piper and Miss June Cooldige. Miss Bernice Gaunt was chairman of the decoration committee, with Miss Evelyn Bruce and Miss Margaret McAllister assisting.

A large crowd attended the recital given by pupils of the Sacred Heart academy at the home of Mrs. William Steerist Saturday afternoon. Every pupil performed in a very satisfactory manner. The next recital to be given by the academy will take place Thursday, May 17, at the Sacajawea Inn. Those who played Saturday follow: Marguerite Trowbridge, Mary Afton Day, Patricia Fitzgerald, Eugene Parsons, William Lynch, Wayne Goodrich, Marion Reynolds, accompanist, Jack Rogers, Robert Karther, Dora Felt, Kenneth A. Keiter, Wallace MacCaffery, Carlyle Wilson.

Mrs. Laura Nash, of Pendleton, who has been visiting at the home of Mrs. F. S. Ivanhoe, was a special guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bohnenkamp yesterday at their cabin at Wallowa lake when Mr. and Mrs. Bohnenkamp were host and hostess to a number of friends. The guests enjoyed dinner and supper at the Bohnenkamp cabin. The scenic beauty of the lake and surrounding country just now helped to make the day a pleasant one. Those who enjoyed the day were Mrs. Nash, Mrs. Ivanhoe and Mr. Bohnenkamp and their grandchildren, Billy and Jimmy Bohnenkamp, who made the trip in one car, and Mrs. Gilbert Hunter, Mrs. Leila Jones, Mrs. C. J. Edenhelm, Mrs. J. C. Gilling, and little Miss Mary Jean Bohnenkamp, who comprised the second car.

New Bathing Suits Modified For The U. S.

By Hazel Reavis (Associated Press Fashion Editor) PARIS (AP)—Backless bathing suits have American buyers puzzled. Beach regulations in the United States would make the wearing of some of the new Parisian models a hazardous venture.

Most of this season's one-piece suits are cut down to deep décolletés in back. Some of the slashes go to the waistline and leave the back entirely exposed to sun or sea. Buyers for some of New York's big houses are having "dickies" fitted into the V and U shaped openings. By using contrasting colors they get something of the backless effect. Other buyers have ordered the suits made with backs. Still another method is to match each backless bathing suit with a beach robe, which will hide the otherwise exposed area.

There are many black and white bathing suits in the latest collections. Some of the suits meant for actual swimming and not merely for sun-bathing, are one-piece wool jersey affairs with moderate designs knitted into them. Most of the suits are striking in pattern.

Miss Lyman Will Wed Mr. Zimmerman

At a pretty breakfast party given at the Sacajawea Inn yesterday by Mrs. John L. Stoddard and Miss Winona Lyman, the betrothal of Miss Irma Lyman to Doyle Zimmerman was announced. Fifteen guests were seated at an attractive table at 9:30 o'clock when a two-course breakfast was served. Colonial sweetheart bouquet of roses, sweet alyssum, forget-me-nots, maiden hair fern and sweet peas formed a charming centerpiece. Colorful little nosegays, miniature of the old-fashioned bouquet made up of rosebuds, forget-me-nots and sweet alyssum, were at each plate. Concealed among the buds of the nosegays were clever announcement cards bearing the date of the wedding, June 9, and a heart-shaped photograph of Miss Lyman and Mr. Zimmerman.

The nuptial announcement is the most interesting to be made here for some time. Both Miss Lyman and Mr. Zimmerman are popular among the younger folk of La Grande and have been prominent in their affairs. Both are graduates of La Grande High school and have attended college at O. S. C. where Miss Lyman was a member of Alpha Chi Omega.

Miss Lyman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lyman and Mr. Zimmerman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Zimmerman.

A number of attractive affairs complimenting Miss Lyman are being arranged for the weeks preceding the wedding June 9.

Those who were guests at the breakfast yesterday were Mrs. Elyman, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Zimmerman, mother of Mr. Zimmerman, and Mrs. William Wilson Miss Lucile Black, Miss Ponda Hanks, Miss Ruth Bramwell, Mrs. Audmer Playle, Mrs. Leal Russell, Miss Lillian Sims, Miss Madeline Barbeau, Miss Marie Courture, Miss Marvyn Lyman, the honor guest, and the two hostesses, Mrs. Stoddard and Miss Lyman, sisters of the bride-elect.

THE GARDEN

LARKSPERS FOR HOUSE AND GARDEN

A favorite with the florist for winter cutting and with the gardener for beautiful beds and a wealth of cutting material in summer, the old-fashioned annual larkspur is now one of the most desirable plants for the garden. The fine new double types are the favorites for cutting purposes, but the old-fashioned taller growing single sorts still hold their own in decorative value in the garden.

The double stock flowered type is now the one almost universally grown with fine fall spikes of roses in varying shades of intense to light blue and purple with handsome carmine, rose, pink and flesh tints. The Newport Pink or lustrious carmine is perhaps the favorite of them all because of its fine clear color.

The seed may be sown any time of the year, sown upon the ground during a thaw it will germinate with the first warm days of spring. It should be sown in April for July display. It should be sown where it is to grow as it is a difficult plant to transplant. It takes a long time to re-establish itself when moved and seldom produces as fine results as when left undisturbed. Give the plants at least six inches each way in the bed. If you cut the terminal spike as soon as expanded and do not allow seed to form, side shoots will then develop and continue the blooming season for some time. It is best to make succession planting to have a supply over a long season.

The annual larkspurs are not particular as to soil and thrive in poor quarters and even in shade, but are at their best in full sun and rich soil. During the last few seasons there have been reports of the "black plague," a destructive to larkspur, which attacks the annual larkspurs. Lining the soil well is the best preventive.

head lettuce, cheese pie, milk, coffee.

The luncheon dish of macaroni and meat is worth keeping in mind for a company "plate" luncheon. Served with buttered asparagus or carrots, and a salad, the "plate" is well balanced and nourishing as well as attractive.

Baked Macaroni and Meat

One cup macaroni broken into length, 4 eggs, 1 cup cream, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 cup cold diced chicken or veal, 1/2 cup finely diced cold ham, 4 tablespoons grated cheese.

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and blanch. Beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon colored. Add cream and fold in whites of 2 eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Season with salt and pepper and add macaroni. Add meat, ham and cheese and turn into a well-buttered baking dish. Bake forty minutes in a moderate oven. When firm to the touch the connection is done. Serve at once.

Friends, this is a picture of my mother. She had an old fashioned family, the kind that Teddy Roosevelt advocated. There were eight boys and eight girls. The more children that she gave birth to, the better care she seemed to give them. Your uncle Claude was her baby boy. I was well fed and cared for. I could not even give you an estimate of how many tons of yellow corn meal and sorghum molasses I have stored away. She was the best woman in the sunny South. While she is laid away peacefully at rest, her influence still speaks to me like a voice of today. This picture was taken only a few months before she passed to her reward. Mother and I were walking down to the studio to have our pictures taken together. My mother was somewhat stooped with old age and we had to move very slowly with her. Mother made this remark to me, "Son, aren't you ashamed to walk down the street with an old bent over woman?" My remark to her was, "Mother, I was never more proud of you in my life than I am today." I lay away my business advertising for today, to give you an introduction to my own beloved mother.

Your Uncle Claude.

Does a Store "Do You a Favor" By Selling You Merchandise?

When you go into a store, do you feel that the merchant is doing you a favor by letting you buy merchandise in his place of business?

Of course you don't, and any business man who takes that attitude toward your buying can't expect to keep you long as a customer.

Neither are you doing him a favor by trading in his store. The true attitude is entirely business-like, equally fair to you the buyer, to him the seller. The ideal sale is always that which is mutually profitable to those concerned.

Banking business, in our opinion, should be on the same basis. When your credit justifies it, we are not doing you a favor by making you a loan. Lending money is part of our business, just as selling merchandise is part of the merchant's business, and it should be mutually profitable.

It's our belief that all banking service should be on that basis. It's only natural, therefore, that we should seek to promote and profitably aid your financial affairs. Because we can profit only when you do likewise.
