Since there are so many mistakes we can make why do some people always just insist on making the same one over and over?

The man who gets but never gives. May last for years. But never lives.

The reason you are not as smart as the other fellow is because you could not think of it in time.

A fool and his money are soon parted.

Plumper customer: "Have you anything snappy in rubber bands?" Clerk: "No, but we have something sticky in fignapper!"

A bald-headed man who has heard that the hairs of our heads are numbered wants to know if there is not some place where he can get the back numbers.

Reporter (interviewing millionaire): "Perhaps some good book has helped you most in your wonderful career?" Modern Croesus: "Undoubtedly, my bank book."

AT THE THEATERS

Thrilling Tale Of Seven Seas At The Star

"A Girl in Every Port," is the intriguing and colorful title of Howard Hawk's new Fox picture with Victor McLaglen in the featured role, which is due at the Star theater for a two-day showing, commencing Thursday.

As the name would signify, it is a story of the sea and the adventures of a rollicking, roving sailor, whose affairs with the ladies are the talk of his ship. There are a number of episodes, one in each of the parts in the most picturesque corners of the world. There is an entirely new cast in each episode, with the exception, of course, of McLaglen and his shadow, Robert Armstrong, who follows him around on his adventures. In some ports he fares better than in others with two leading ladies to charm.

The idea is novel and original, the story picturesque, the character ideally suited to McLaglen and the picture of the type which Hawks handles so well.

Marie Casajuma, the little Spanish beauty whom Fox brought from Barcelona, to embark on a motion picture career, is the girl in the first episode, which is laid in the romantic atmosphere of Buenos Aires. Francis McDonald has the other character role.

Lloyd Hamilton the famous funster with the bashful demeanor, checked cap and tie, is coming to the Arcade theater starting Thursday, as a special added attraction on the program. Hamilton will be seen in "His Better Half," said to be one of his funniest comedies. In this comedy, the ponderous comedian dresses up in feminine garb in order to help his roommate out of an embarrassing predicament. Lloyd is said to be just as laughable in such a costume as he is in his usual clown clothes.

They celebrated Shakespeare's birthday at Stratford-on-Avon the other day. Odd, but there were no addresses by prizefighters.

WELL KNOWN CAST PLAYS WITH DIX AT ARCADE

Richard Dix is supported by a cast of well-known Paramount players in his latest farce comedy, "Easy Come, Easy Go," which will be the attraction at the Arcade theater Thursday to Saturday inclusive.

With Nancy Carroll, the youthful star who made a hit in Paramount's presentation of Anne Nichols' "Ain't She Got It?" as his leading woman, Dix offers a lively, laugh-provoking characterization of a young man uncharacterized by the acceptance of an accomplished crook.

Charles Sellon, whose screen career has been a series of clever supporting parts, has the important role of Jim Bailey, the veteran crook, with whom Dix becomes involved. The part calls for an unusual amount of fine acting in the humorous twists which the situations demand.

The romance motive in the picture develops early and continues throughout the various sequences. Arnold Kent, therefore, as the third member of the love triangle, is much in evidence and very effective. Frank Currier has the part of the bank president and Chris-tion J. Frank, Joseph J. Pranz and Guy Oliver have important places as the two detectives and the train conductor, respectively.

The plot is entirely comedy with a wealth of action and comedy situations happening in natural sequence. This latest Dix picture, "Easy Come, Easy Go," is a companion piece to Dix's recent successful comedy, "Sporting Goods" and is the second Dix picture this year.
