"Ah, Mr. Jones," saluted the landlord of the Tavern at 12th and Ridge.

"Just in from Chicago, I see?" "No," replied the recently arrived guest. "I was run over by a motor car. That is what makes me look so."

"When I came to Chicago I had only a dollar in my pocket. With that small amount I made my start."

"What did you do with the dollar?" "Wired home for more."

Mrs. Brown was in the kitchen helping Nora, the cook, prepare supper.

"It's an old saying," she remarked to Nora, "that too many cooks spoil the broth. What do you think?"

"Sure, ma'am," she replied, "there's nothing to worry about—there's only wan cook here."

"Would you cry for help if I tried to kiss you?" "Do you need any help?"

ords in point of business in the history of the Wonderland company.

Robert C. Morrow, well known circuit judge of Portland and grand chancellor of the order of Knights of Pythias for the domain of Oregon was a visitor at Enterprise Thursday and Friday. He addressed a large gathering of knights at the local lodge rooms Thursday night and those attending report that they were inspired and entertained by the judge whose reputation as an after dinner speaker is statewide. This was the first trip the judge had ever made into Wallowa county and he was taken to Wallowa lake which he pronounced to be one of the most picturesque spots he had ever seen and he has traveled extensively. Before leaving he said that he expected to return again soon to the county and that he would tell many of his friends of the scenery and grandeur of our mountains.

AT THE THEATERS

Stirring Scenes In Current Film At Arcade

Scenes from the famous "Battle of Paris" with a fight in a Paris cabaret during the hectic post-war days, a series of hilarious escapades during the American Legion convention, and the thrilling round-up of a desperate band of Apaches by two ex-criminals, funny dog-boys form some of the highlights of FBO's feature-comedy, "Elegantes in Paris" featuring Al Cooke and Kit Guard and now showing at the Arcade theater today and Tuesday.

In this story, from the facile pen of Louis Savary, the intangible Cooke and Guard are led through a series of amusing situations as delegates from a little American town to the Legion convention in the French capital.

Pursued by fear of arrest for hitting a gendarme while they were celebrating the Armistice, Cooke and Guard resort to every method in their bag of funny tricks to avoid apprehension by a giant French policeman who has been set on their trail by a French general who wishes to decorate them for valor during the war.

Actual scenes taken in Paris during the convention add a touch of realism to the picture and add materially in presenting an accurate picture of this world event which will remain in the memory of many a former member of the A. E. F. as the highlight in his career.

Supporting the comedy team which is famous for the FBO comedy series based on H. C. Witwer stories is a remarkable cast, including Louise Lorraine, Virginia Sale, John Anson, and others.

Elinor Glyn's Drama "Mad Hour" At The Star

A story vivid in its pictorialization of the wild flight of the youth of today under certain circumstances is "Mad Hour" adapted from Elinor Glyn's novel "The Man and the Moment" which opened yesterday at the Star theater, and which is being presented by Robert Kane for First National Pictures for the last time tonight.

The story is distinctly true to life, especially as it is lived in eastern centers where some youths of wealth and college standing rub elbows with working girls of humble circumstances. It is a story which is both colorful and riotous in its action, dramatic in its unfolding, and serious in its conclusion, which, without being sentimental, leaves one who views it with certain strong conclusions. Sally O'Neil does splendid work as Cuddles, the daughter of a taxi-driver, and a typical flapper of the submerged tenth. She has a love for fine things and believes there is no harm in getting them from the wild sons of wealthy families who attend the nearby college. Alice White gives her usual lively and brilliant performance as Aimée, her girl friend.

Donald Reed, who came in to prominent attention when he played the lead opposite Colleen Moore in "Naughty But Nice," gives an excellent performance as the son of the wealthy and conservative family, while Larry Kent, who has distinguished himself recently in various leads, notably opposite Miss Moore in "Her Wild Oat" does good work as the humble youth who loves Sally.

MOM'N' POP

— THE ONE REASON I HAVE NEVER CARED FOR THE SEVERAL IS THAT THEY ARE FOREVER TALKING ABOUT PEOPLE. THE WAY THEY PAN THEIR CLOSEST FRIENDS. WELL I ALWAYS FIGURE THAT WHEN I'M NOT AROUND— YOU KNOW —

YES, AND MRS. WELLS IS A LOT LIKE THAT, TOO. SHE NEVER SAYS ANYTHING ABOUT A PERSON EXCEPT WHEN SHE HAS HER HAMMER OUT —

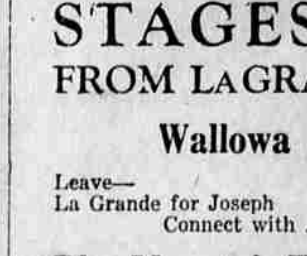

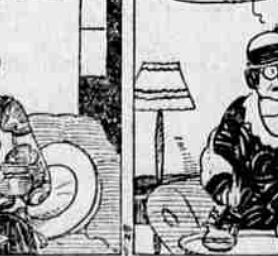

I KNOW IT—ONE LUMP, PLEASE— SHE'S PERFECTLY KILLING, RAZZING HER FRIENDS ABOUT THE VERY THINGS SHE DOES HERSELF — AND MRS. SNOOP IS ANOTHER ONE —

MY STARS, YES! OF ALL THE KNOCKERS. JUST YESTERDAY SHE WAS HINTING AT WHAT A DOUBLE-CROSSER MRS. BORING WAS, AND YOU KNOW HOW CLOSE THOSE TWO ARE SUPPOSED TO BE —

THAT WOMAN! WHAT NERVE! TALK ABOUT PANNING YOUR FRIENDS! WELL OF COURSE SHE NEVER PUTS HER PLAY-MATES IN THE GREASE. OH NO! —

WHY ALL THE HILARITY? I DON'T SEE ANYTHING FUNNY IN THE FACT THAT I HAVE BEEN WAITING AN HOUR FOR SOMETHING TO EAT —

IT'S MOM, HONESTLY, YOU SHOULD HAVE HEARD HER — SHE WAS A SCREAM, CRITICIZING THE NEIGHBORS FOR KNOCKING EACH OTHER AND SHE'S BEEN DOING NOTHING ELSE BUT — ALL AFTERNOON —
