Nutrition Meetings—

Miss Lucy Case reports very good attendance at the two nutrition classes which have been already held in the present series, the third being held today at the home of Mrs. Harry G. Avery at Island City. At Pleasant Grove Saturday a company of about 25 women were in attendance with a slightly smaller number out at Blue Mt. arrange hall yesterday. A sandwich demonstration was held in the morning at each place, lunch at noon, and Miss Case's lecture in the afternoon on vitamin to reduce and to gain. At Pleasant Grove the question of improved lunch periods was thoroughly discussed and a lunch committee was chosen for next year to begin work at the beginning of school. The committee consists of Miss Leona Frizzell, chairman, Mrs. H. R. Frizzell, Mrs. James Lewis, Mrs. Andrew Arnoldson and Mrs. W. R. Frizzell. Under this committee it is planned to have one hot dish served each day at the noon hour and to also plan for supervision during the lunch hour.

To Attend Convention—

Eight delegates from Union county, going from the different sections of the county, and Miss Alice Marguerite, county health nurse are planning to go to Portland the middle of next month to attend the sessions of the National Tuberculosis Association convention which open there on June 18th and continue through the 21st. This is the second time this association has come to the west for its conventions, Seattle having been the convention city several years ago. The program announced has been the many outstanding speakers of national and international fame and those who attend are assured of much practical benefit, local members report.

Funeral of Charles Fisher—

Funeral services for Charles Fisher of the Cove who died Friday at Hot Lake following injuries received some time ago in an auto accident, were held Sunday afternoon at the graveside in the Cove Cemetery. Mr. Fisher was a resident of Cove for many years.

Sunday Guest—

Mrs. S. A. Baker near Summerville had for her guests Sunday, Ernest Bryant and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Baker and three children, all of La Grande.

Union-Wallowa Ass'n—

The Union-Wallowa County cow testing association is no more, the five days of testing held by members living in Union county having been turned over to the new Union County association. The ranks have been filled by other dairymen of Wallowa county, and the work is being continued there, as it is getting nicely started in this county. According to last reports there were about two days still necessary to have Union county's test or's completely taken, but the work is going on just the same. In the report for last month, made by tester Abilene of the joint association, C. P. Edvalson of Catherine Creek had, with his herd of over 20 cows, the highest average again, the production of butterfat having averaged 52.00 pounds. J. E. Mills of Cove with a herd of less than 12 cows had highest place, the average production of butterfat having been 35.57 pounds. According to the report there were 70 cows in this association that made 40 pounds of butterfat or over. Thirty-nine herds were tested, with 642 cows of which 53 were dry. The average production of all the herds, including dry cows was 56.51 pounds of milk and 24.11 pounds of butterfat.

Have New Grand-daughter—

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gaskill, of near Imbler are proud of their first grand-child, the baby daughter born last Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Walter (LaNita Gaskill) Pearson at Portland. Mrs. Gaskill has been in Portland for some time. Mrs. Walter Hutchinson of La Grande is looking after things at the Gaskill home during her mother's absence.

Entertains Campfire Girls—

Mrs. J. R. Price, guardian of the Nissah campfire girls of the Cove held the regular meeting at the Price summer home, Camp New Hope, on Mill creek last Thursday evening. There were nine girls present who participated in the council fire held in the special section which Mr. and Mrs. Price have arranged for this group of girls.

To Try Black Giants—

Mrs. Reed Taylor of Alford will try to raise the Black Giant chick, one this summer following the example of other women in that section of the valley. Mrs. Taylor has recently received sixty sturdy chicks hatched at the Keenan hatchery near Imbler.

Return Home—

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mathews have returned to their home in Baker following a visit of a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fuller near Alford. Mrs. Mathews and Mrs. Fuller are sisters.

Cutting Alfalfa—

A good many farmers over the valley started their first cutting of alfalfa yesterday and a few more days will see hay making going quite generally all over the county.

Return From Convention—

Mr. and Mrs. Ivey Baker of near Cove have returned from Medford where they attended the state Red-bellied convention as representatives of the Cove organization. While gone they also visited friends at Ashland, Ore.

Give Fine Pageant—

Depicting many scenes in the early history of Oregon, the pupils of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the Island City school put on a very interesting and very attractive pageant on the closing day of that school and the entertainment was enjoyed by a large company of the friends and parents. Miss Anita Hermann carried the leading role, that of Sacajawea, the Indian maid and assisting her were the other Indians, fur traders, pioneers etc., all having parts in the pictures of the early days. The pageant showed much careful work on the part of the teachers in charge as well as the individual pupils.

Visit at Hugs—

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Carter and family, Charles and Albert Hamann, Miss Minnie Holman and Miss Nina Kane all residing on or in the vicinity of the Cove highway drove to Elgin Sunday where they spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Hernal Hug and family on their ranch.

Entertains at Party—

Kenneth Paige of Cove entertained a company of about thirty of his friends at a party at his home last Friday evening. Several hours were happily spent with games etc.

Blue Mt. Grange Ladies—

Thursday afternoon, the ladies of the Blue Mt. Grange are requested to come to the state fair hall to arrange for lunch as possible and help to bundle the papers and magazines which have accumulated there. The organization is endeavoring to secure enough to load a car in the near future and hope to get all the material on hand in shape at this time.

Has Near Piles—

Mrs. Arthur Hermann, Cove highway has some Plymouth Rock chickens which are rapidly approaching the fryer stage, some of them weighing nearly three pounds. She has the young chickens, barred rocks, secured from a Salem hatchery in February.

Sells Market—

Don Myers who has owned the meat market at Elgin for several years has sold his business interests there and now devotes all his time in buying and shipping livestock, covering the whole county and more, in his buying expeditions.

Mrs. Smith Does Not Improve—

Mrs. J. N. Smith of near Alford who has been in a critical condition for the past few days does not change much unless it be that she is becoming weaker. Mrs. Smith has been ill since she suffered a stroke about two years ago.

Pleasant Grove Wins—

The Pleasant Grove grange baseball team defeated the Eagles team from La Grande Sunday by a score of 12 to 6. The game was played at Pleasant Grove.

Dinners Tomorrow—

Community dinners, given as benefits for local cemetery associations will be held tomorrow at Summerville, Elgin and Cove.

Have Wiener Roast—

The Misses Marian Gelsa, Jean Weimer and Catherine Fann were the instigators of an enjoyable wiener roast held Monday evening near the Shanghai school out from Cove. There were about thirty in the party all of whom report a splendid time.

Suffers Painful Injury—

Little Miss Betty Jean Davis daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Davis residing near North Powder was painfully injured when the fingers on one of her hands became caught in the separator. It is not thought that her hand will be mutilated in any way but that the finger which was hurt the most will be saved. She has been a patient at Hot Lake.

Resume Graveling—

Work of graveling the lower Cove road, one of the big projects of this season was resumed the latter part of the week. Work had been interrupted several days previous when the crusher broke down.

A Pretty Wheat Field—

The fall wheat over in the section between Island City and Cove looks the best of any similar fields in the county, according to several people's opinion. One of the best fields of all is that of John Schroeder's an what is known as the old McCoy place. There is a piece of 120 acres there and it is a field worth seeing.

Blue Mt. Grange—

The next meeting of the Blue Mt. Grange which would come on Wednesday of next week has been called off on account of the fact that the majority of the chief officers will be away at the State Grange meeting at Imbler, and also because others will be at the opening day of the Stock show at Union. On the day of the next regular meeting reports of the state convention will be given and the meeting will be an important one.

To Entertain Club—
Mrs. Charles Spencer will entertain the members of the Countrywomen's club on Thursday, June 5th.

On Business Tour—

W. H. Gekeler, state organizer for the grange has come to the Willamette valley where he is assisting in the organization of a number of subordinate granges. He is working especially in Yamhill county. On this trip which will consume two or three weeks, Mr. Gekeler is accompanied by Mrs. Gekeler, their son and daughter, and taking their camping equipment, they are making a real vacation out of it.

Thievery Case At Zundel Farm Arouses Concern

Earl Zundel, who is cashier of the La Grande National Bank reports a piece of vandalism which has aroused his anger considerably, and quite justly so, he believes, and not only that but it has aroused the wrath of all the farmers and ranchers who have heard of the affair, and who, they say, are getting more than weary of the thievery etc to which they have been subjected during the past year or so.

In addition to his position in the bank Mr. Zundel is considerably interested in his ranch located about a mile and a half east of La Grande. At that ranch one night last week, he had a fine young calf stolen. Not only was it stolen but it was butchered right there in his pasture and the meat taken away, presumably, Mr. Zundel says, to be sold. Mr. Zundel says that this is the first piece of "animal rustling" that has come to his knowledge since the apprehension of the thieves at Kamela, in the act of robbing a freight car last fall. Mr. Zundel, as is well known, has a prize winning garden in La Grande and each year captures many of the prizes at the Neighborhood Club flower show especially on his dahlias. Someone visited his garden not long since and appropriated a 100-foot garden hose.

IMBLER PERSONALS

IMBLER (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Stringham and daughter, Miss Bernice, are leaving soon for an auto trip to Salt Lake City. Among other important events which will occupy their attention during their absence will be the meeting of Miss Stringham and her fiancé and their marriage at the temple in Salt Lake City.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mathews, of Baker, have been guests at the home of Mrs. Mathews' father, C. C. Welch, for a few days last week.

Mrs. Arthur Furman and her baby daughter, and Mrs. Hazen and her baby son have returned to their respective homes here from the Grande Ronde hospital in La Grande.

Their friends here are interested in the news of the arrival of a baby daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pearson in Portland. Mrs. Pearson was formerly Miss LaNita Gaskill.

Mrs. Lynn Hahnbrouck and son, Jack, are expected within the next few days for a visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Prior. John Tuttle, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Cap Tuttle, is confined to his home with scarlet fever and numps, the Tuttle home being under quarantine.

Miss Gertrude Turner, who has been one of the successful grade teachers here, has been elected to

UNION SHOW MIRRORS PROGRESS MADE BY EAST OREGON STOCK

"When the livestock world looks at Eastern Oregon!" That, according to observers who have watched the progress of the Eastern Oregon livestock show during the 20 years of its existence is the keynote of the importance of the show and probably excited only in importance of the reverse of the quotation, "When Eastern Oregon looks at the livestock world."

"It renews a man's interest in his livestock to attend a stock show and see fine stock," is the way Robert Withycombe, superintendent of the Eastern Oregon experiment station, looks at it. "If there is any progress being made in the livestock history of the Grande Ronde, Wallawa, or Baker valleys, the Eastern Oregon livestock show reflects it. The stock show is a mirror of livestock improvement."

The originators of the Union exposition, which has grown to be the leading spring stock show of the west, had the idea when they first led their finest horses down the streets of Union. It was a community enterprise, based on the natural pride of citizens of a great stock country in the quality of its stock and in turn improving the general quality of all the stock by the inspiration stockmen gained from seeing the blue ribbons placed.

"The success of the stock show means a lot to people of Union county," declares E. L. Conner, president of the Union commercial club, and active in the work necessary to put on the big fair. "Union people are working hard to a teaching position in the schools of their home town, Baker, and will not return to Imbler next year."

Keith Glenn is the owner of a new Ford.

Miss Isabel Prior has gone to La Grande, where she has taken a position in the Pacific Telephone company's office.

Many Imbler people will spend the day tomorrow at Summerville, attending the Memorial day exercises at the Summerville cemetery and also taking in and assisting with the benefit dinner for the cemetery. Mrs. Rita Welch, of this place, is secretary of the association.

Wayne Welch, who will be a senior at Willamette university next year, has recently been elected president of his house, the Alpha Psi, and Glenn Leebetter has been named second vice president. Both boys have been cited by Coach Spec Keene to receive the awards for this season's baseball activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cleaver were expecting to leave today on their auto trip which takes them first to Cheney, Wash., to see Miss Lydia Gelsa. They have been planning for some time to drive then down into California, going as far as San Bernardino to visit relatives, but this has not been verified.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keenan, who have been conducting quite a chicken hatchery closed that work for the season a week ago. They report very good success with their incubator this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Westenskow and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perry, two sons and two daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Westenskow and four children left here in their cars on Wednesday of last week for Salt Lake City, where they will attend the Mormon jubilee.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Thatcher and baby have been here from Huntington visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKinnis.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Westenskow, former residents of Imbler, left last week for California, where they expect to reside in the future. It is understood that Red Bluffs was their destination.

Miss Gail Tucker, who underwent an operation for appendicitis several weeks ago, has been brought to her home here. She is getting along very nicely.

make the 20th anniversary of the stock show an eventful occasion. Lacking the state funds available as a source of revenue, it is difficult to find ways and means at times to provide for all contingencies. A dozen communities and hundreds of citizens of Eastern Oregon from Joseph to Vale assured us of their interest last week, so we look for unusually fine support."

The person who gets the most good from the display of livestock is usually the one who shows it. Many of the pioneer exhibitors assert. In the spirit of competition engendered in the show ring, arises a sense of value that is a great asset to the livestock owner when he makes purchases of breeding stock or mates his animals. This asset is then reflected throughout the community in higher milk production, better beef and general improvement in flocks and herds.

The encouragement of boys' and girls' club work alone would make the Eastern Oregon livestock show worth while, believes Tony D. Smith, secretary of the show. Mr. Smith points out that the livestock growers of the future are the livestock club members of today, a point well substantiated by results which show that successful club members become successful farmers.

Further encouragement for the "young idea" is given in the Union show in the Smith-Hughes agricultural contests for high school agricultural students, featuring stock judging, riding, driving and detecting unsoundness in horses for which medals and cups are awarded. This year, Oscar J. Paulson, state supervisor of agricultural education, will personally assist in the latter contests. As Mr. Paulson was formerly an instructor in agriculture in this section and coached winning high school teams for many years, his aid will be a great asset, his former associates assert.

"Young folks, old folks, everybody come. See your favorite stock show and make yourselves at home."

to paraphrase an old song, is the way Union people annually invite the world to come and partake of their hospitality at stock show time. Normally a quiet country town, the "stock show city" enjoys a place in the sun during one week of the year, when the best of a hundred herds and flocks are put on display. Racing, the picturesque rodeo events, riding contests, band programs, and scores of other features, all combine to make the stock show a characteristic and likable event. Union people give their services and work in positions of various degrees of responsibility without remuneration in order to put the big show on.

"I would surely like to attend the stock show at Union, June 6, 7 and 8," declared B. E. Irvine, editor of the Oregon Journal, who shared honors with the Union commercial club party as guests of the Baker chamber of commerce last week. "I consider it to be an important annual event in Eastern Oregon and will be there if I possibly can arrange the trip. Eastern Oregon people will support it well I know."

"I believe we will have a great show this year," says Ed Miller, president of the Eastern Oregon livestock show. "Already the barns are crowded with fine thoroughbred race horses, with several stallions yet to arrive. Mr. Jory has promised as a fine list of arena events, typical of the traditions of the 'old west.' Homer Holcomb, the 'cowboy clown,' Freddy Hunt, the national champion trick rider, and other favorites will be on hand to entertain the crowds. Plans now call for four bands to play during the week, while an interesting feature will be the dancing each evening with Fletcher's 'Round-Up' orchestra furnishing the music."

A SEASONABLE RECIPE

Superior Angel Food
Whites of twelve eggs,
1 cup flour,
1½ sugar, minus one tablespoon,
1 teaspoon cream of tartar,
1 teaspoon flavoring.

Beat the whites until stiff, but not dry, putting in the cream of tartar after they have been beaten slightly. Sift flour once, then measure, then sift flour and sugar together five times. Add gradually to the beat egg whites, and add flavoring. Put in sponge cake pan and place in a slow oven, increasing the heat gradually until the oven is moderately hot only. Bake 50 to 60 minutes. Leave in inverted pan until cool.

A shipment of gold from Greece the other day totaled $3,500,000. Some wrestler must be planning to win the championship.

No idea is worth much unless a first-class man is back of it.

Sheep Shearing Is Completed At Reynolds' Ranch

Sheep shearing was completed last Friday at the J. E. Reynolds sheep ranch located near La Grande in what is known as the "Grange Hall" neighborhood. The flock which is one of the largest farm flocks in that section of the county consists of about 500 head, about one-half of which are unregistered-purchased Hampshire, John Lloyd of Imbler had the contract for shearing and with a gasoline engine and four men, did an excellent piece of work, according to Mr. Reynolds, and the owner declared it was a job of which he was very proud.

In answer to a query as to how the quantity and quality of the wool compared with those of last year, Mr. Reynolds replied, "On account of the long rainy spell this spring, there was not so much grease in the wool and consequently the fleeces did not weigh as much as they did last year, although the wool was as long. The average weight per fleece this year was eight pounds."

As soon as the wool was clipped it was delivered to La Grande, Mr. Reynolds having contracted his crop some time ago to Frank Owens at 33½¢ per pound.

Spring lambs on this farm are doing nicely—all are in healthy condition and are making rapid growth. Some of the lambs are worthy of special mention—two were picked from the flock as the best, were weighed. One weighed 79 pounds and the other weighed 83 pounds—an unusual weight for lambs of this age.

ORONO, Me., (AP)—Maine poultry men must hatch about 4,000,000 chickens this year.

About 70 per cent of the 2,000,000 hens in the state will be replaced with pullets, experts estimate, and they say it will be necessary to hatch 4,000,000 chicks to get 1,500,000 good pullets.

Improved Kotex

Delightfully Soft—Unbelievably Comfortable

Regular price was 65c, NOW 45c

—buy it now at any dealer's

THE vast majority of women doctors and nurses would tell you, if you asked them, to employ Kotex.

For they say that too much emphasis cannot be placed on the sanitary pad one uses.

Now Kotex—supreme in the features that have brought to women a new hygiene, with attendant peace-of-mind—has been improved.

Improving Kotex were careful to make no changes in the features women already liked. There is the same high absorbent surface. The same instant disposability. The same deodorizing. The same simplicity in making your purchase.

But after experimenting two years, we have perfected a new shape for Kotex. One not only more comfortable but which prevents awkward bulkiness to mar smooth fashionable lines.

And we have perfected a fleecy softness never known before, ending all chance of irritation—of chafing or binding.

Now, the greatly increased sale of the Kotex with these two great improvements has made it possible permanently to reduce the regular price considerably.

Now buy the Improved Kotex, at the new low price at any drug, department or dry goods store. Get it today.

How Do You Buy?

When you enter a store to buy anything, how do you ask for it? Do you call for the articles by name, or do you generalize—a can of tomato soup; a bag of flour; an aluminum kettle; so many square yards of linoleum; a meat grinder?

It is much better and far more satisfactory to specify the article you want by name, for merchandise that is good enough to be sold by name is almost always better in quality, and usually no higher in price, than goods of uncertain lineage and less certain quality.

The advertising columns of this newspaper carry advertised names that are familiar to millions of people. Soap, flour, sugar, cereals, kitchen ware, rugs, linoleum, automobiles, etc. They represent those products that stand for the best in their respective classes of merchandise—quality all through.

Advertising keeps these names before you constantly. Advertising is a constant reminder that the articles you want are the same articles that you see advertised day after day—that justify their being by the service they render. And advertising brings you news—of inventions, discoveries, improvements that keep you up to date.

Tell the sales-clerk what you want by its advertised name. You'll get it—and your money will purchase full value. It pays to read advertising and remember advertised names.
