LOUGHRAN KEEPS 175-POUND TITLE

Youthful Adonis of Ring Defeats Pete Latzo in New York

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—Tommy Loughran, youthful adonis from Philadelphia who rules the 175 pound branch of the fistic kingdom, perched a bit unsteadily on his throne today, happy that title battles in this state must be carried on through fifteen rounds.

For ten rounds last night, 18,000 of his subjects sat almost in awe in the darkness of Ebbets field. While under the glaring canopy of light that marked his throne room in the center of the diamond, Pete Latzo, Scranton coal miner, showed how a champion may be dethroned.

First Ten Close
For ten rounds, pudgy Pete, who once was recognized as king in the 147 pound class, cut the champion with right and left hand swings that came out of most unexpected places and landed, not infrequently, on the chin and ribs of the puzzled title holder.

Many of them didn't land at all, and in between times, Tommy pounded the miner's features with his straight left and sizzling right upper cut. At the end of ten rounds, four seemed to have gone Latzo's way, three had been won by the title holder and three were even.

Loughran Rallies
About that time with his subjects calling hoarsely for a rally and the slowest fistic upset of the season trembling in the balance, Loughran became the champion again. He bounced away from the ropes, where Latzo had punished him severely, fought his fight in the center of the ring and saved the title for Philadelphia with a surge he carried the last five rounds. Latzo, a poor 8 to 1 in the betting at ring time, gave up his title chance stubbornly but the strength he had wasted in wild lunges and excessive swinging through the early rounds could no longer put Loughran to the ropes. Through-out the last five rounds, Tommy battered Pete's head with jolting uppercuts almost at will and raised a patch of bright red above the challenger's left kidney with over-hand rights. The closing rally gave him eight rounds to Latzo's four with three even.

The opening conflicts of the west's first invasion of eastern National league strong holds today found scalps dangling at the belts of the Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals.

Hugh Critz' home run in the tenth gave the league leading Reds a 7-6 triumph over Boston.

The St. Louis Cardinals gave the Phillies their seventh defeat, 1-0 in a row but knew they were in a battle.

At Pittsburg, the Pirates batted hard behind Grimes' good pitching to beat the Chicago Cubs, 10-4. Sheriff Blake suffered his first defeat in six starts.

Joe McCarthy, pilot of the Cubs, and Coach Doolan were taken from the field for disputing a decision in the fourth.

John McGraw's New York Giants kept firm hold of second place by downing the Brooklyn Robins again 4-3, in a pitching duel between Larry Benton and Jim Elliott.

In the only American league engagement, the Detroit Tigers made it four in a row over Cleveland.

DOLAN WINS CLASSIC
NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—The 42nd renewal of the classic suburban handicap, $10,000 added at the Lamont track, today was won by Dolan, an outsider. Chance Shot was second and Scapaflew, third.

Is He Original Andy Gump?

Here are two pictures of David A. Hoag of Canandaigua, N. Y., who says he is the original Andy Gump of the Ridney Smith comic strip and has filed suits against several papers to prevent the publication of the comic on the grounds that it ridicules his facial deformity. Hoag says that part of his lower jaw was removed during an operation about 12 years ago and that shortly thereafter the comic character, Andy Gump, closely resembling him, appeared. Smith says that the character is purely a product of his imagination. Hoag asks damages of $1,000,000.

Sacramento continued to slide down the chute before the rejuvenated Hollywood Stars, losing her fourth straight to the movie town boys 10-2. Dick McCabe toyed with the Senators as his mates lashed out 14 solid hits. Batteries: Shen, Keefe and Severid; McCabe and Bessler, Cook.

Seattle and Los Angeles divided a pair of ball games, the Indians taking the first 6-4 by virtue of a three-run rally in the 2nd, and losing the second 4-2, because the three-run rally which came in the eighth was stymied by the Angels. Batteries: Peters Cunningham and Handberg; Hannah; Teachout, Graham and Schmidt. Second game: Osborn, Cunningham, Barfoot and Hannah; Wilson and Parker.

Walla Walla Plays Pendleton Sunday

PENDLETON, June 2—A strong aggregation of Walla Walla Bears will be in the village Sunday in the hopes of bringing the Buckaroos down a few points in the Blue Mountain league percentage column. The Bears have some new faces in the lineup and appear much stronger than they did in the early part of the pennant chase.

Toots Harris, former Bear chucker, is now in a stock uniform and may see action against his old mates.

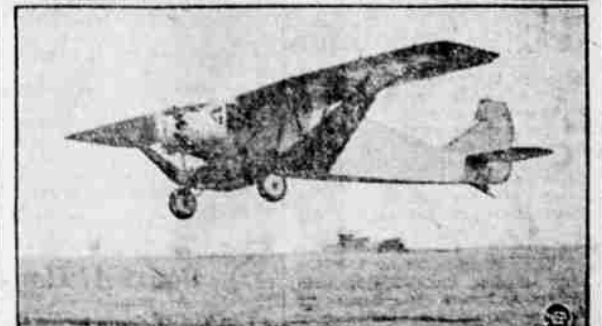

Against Labor and La Grande the Bucks and Bears have been playing some good baseball and indications are that the game Sunday will be a good one. The Bucks are one game ahead of the Walla Walla team in the percentage lists.

JUNE IS MONTH FOR STAR-GAZING

Fine View of Eastern Sky Is Obtained Just After Nightfall

By Robert H. Baker
(Professor of Astronomy, University of Illinois).

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—Those who enjoy natural scenery should not fail to examine the eastern sky after nightfall in June, for no finer view than this is displayed either in the heavens or on the earth.

Here the Northern Cross appears among the star clouds of the Milky Way; here, too, are the blue star Vega, the red Antares and the planet Saturn.

A wise provision of nature causes the stars to rise four minutes earlier from night to night, or two hours earlier from month to month. Thus the stars not only rise and set daily, but they move steadily westward, so that new sights are brought into view in the east early in the evening as the seasons advance.

Each season is therefore associated with its own groups of stars. The summer constellations present striking configurations that are easily recognized.

At 8:30 Central standard time in the evening on June 1, or at 8:20 by the middle of the month, the Northern Cross is in full view above the northeast horizon. It rises on its side, with the top of the cross toward the north. It is Cygnus, the Swan. Some people may imagine a long-necked bird flying south along the Milky Way, but it is easier to see a cross of stars.

Above the foot of the Cross is Vega, the brightest star in this part of the sky, in the little constellation Lyra. Vega is markedly blue and it sparkles like a great diamond.

Direct a line from the middle of the Cross upward through Vega and an equal distance beyond. Here a group of stars form a great butterfly with outstretched wings. It is the constellation Hercules. Above it is Corona, the Northern Crown, a fine half circle of stars.

This region is crowded with objects of interest for one who possesses a telescope. The globular cluster of stars in Hercules and the ring nebula in Lyra are among the most spectacular of these.

Below the foot of the Northern Cross are two small but well-known configurations. The upper one is Sagitta, the Arrow; the lower one is the Dolphin, popularly called Job's Coffin. Not far to the right the bright star Altair in the Eagle is marked by two fainter stars above and below it.

In the southeast the Scorpion is coming into view. Its brightest star Antares is at once recognized by its red color; it is in fact the reddest of the bright stars.

Herrick Timber Tract Purchased By Edward Hines

Portland, Ore., June 2 (AP)

—Bid of the Edward Hines association lumber interests of Chicago for the 67,400 acre tract of timber in the Malheur national forest surrendered recently by Fred Herrick and associates was favorably acted upon here yesterday by the forest service. Herrick also submitted two bids.

The bid of the Hines interests of $2.85 per thousand feet would result in the government $2,194,500 for the pine alone. At the price of $1.10 per thousand for fir and 60 cents per thousand for the timber of other kinds, commutation of the sale to the Hines interest would be $2,250,000 to the government.
