The New York Giants won a vote of thanks to their former team manager, Eustace Kimmey, who is leaving the ball at 413 clip for the Boston Braves.

"The Bash"

Let go by the Giants for the "bash" of the 1928, permanently announced for the first time by the Boston Braves as a 15-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds at the high potential in one of the two major league games that rain did not prevent.

The Reds defeat allowed the six Giants to creep a bit closer to Hendrick's crew, but it did not mean the National League race and determined in any way.

With the news about the George Simeon line in the night, Hendrick drove the ball into the center field boundaries—a terrific drive that decided the issue then and there.

Six runs in the first three innings were enough to carry the Philadelphia Athletics to victory over the Chicago White Sox, 6-2, at Chicago.

To catch some out of a batting slump and drive in three runs with a single and a triple in the first and second innings.

All the other big time teams had a hot day because of rain.

HE'S PRETTY CUTE NOW!

What will he be like in 15 years or so, when he grows up? Every mother and every father wants fine children to be fine, successful men and women. That's why we recommend a savings account here to grow as they grow. For education, opportunity are best assured in this good old-fashioned way. Come in and bring the boy or girl with you. OUT OUR WAY

By Williams

Arrangements were made for a "creek killing" in this event in 1904, when the game returned to Atlanta, but an outbreak of the program, Georgia, the Greek way, was the favorite. In fact, the countrymen did not believe he could be beaten. But Martin Sheridan, the old Irish-American star, won the event and added two feet to the Olympic record with a toss of 135 feet 7 in.
