Today's Hand

♠A-K-10-X
♥A-J-9-X
♦K-X-X
♣X-X

Three questions concerning the above hand; secure in all cases love all. How many can you answer? Make up your mind before you read the answers which follow.

1. What should South (Dealer) declare, holding the above hand?

2. What should West (Second Hand) declare with it; South having bid one No Trump?

3. What should North (Third Hand) declare with it; South having bid one No Trump and West having passed?

The Answers

1. One Spade or one No Trump. This hand contains two sound declarations; it has three suits stopped and more than average strength, also ample strength for a four-card Spade bid. The argument against No Trump is the menace of the worthless doubton; the argument against the Spade is that bidding a four-card Major is always attended with danger because the partner may assist with a three-card suit. The writer's choice in this case is one Spade, because the Major is headed by A-K-10 and the Club doubton is absolutely defenseless.

2. Double. Yesterday a hand was given with sufficient strength for South to bid No Trump but not for West to double South's No Trump; and today a hand is given, strong enough for a double by West but better as an initial suit bid than a No Trump. This may appear contradictory but really it is not. Yesterday's hand had just the qualifications for an initial No Trump but lacked the more exacting essentials needed to double a No Trump; today's hand has the strength either to bid or double a No Trump, but it is a safer initial suit-bid than it is an initial No Trump.

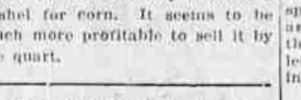

3. Pass. This hand is strong enough to jump partner's No Trump to two, but the jump is not advisable because the hand has a secondary Major suit declaration in the event of a lead directing bid by East. A bid of two Spades over South's one No Trump would not be wise, because the partner would interpret it as a bid from a five-card suit. If North pass, East bid, and South and West pass, North on the second round could bid two Spades and thus show South a strong four card Major. North's Major in such case would be marked as a four-carder because, with greater length, he would have bid on the first round.

But the women of America were quick to find out the improvements. And within a few months, a million new women had adopted the Improved Kotex. Kotex has always been the largest selling sanitary pad in the world.

This doubled volume brought such efficiencies in manufacture that we found the regular price could be greatly reduced at the same time that we announced the Improved Kotex.
