Miss Childers and Earl Robinson Are Married At Noon

A wedding of much interest to the county folk was solemnized last night at high noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Webb when Miss Joia Childers and Earl Robinson were united in marriage. The Rev. Oliver Riley, of Peter's Episcopal church, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Robinson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Childers, of near the valley. She was graduated from the Union High school and was active in high school affairs, being a member of the basketball team for several years. Last winter Mrs. Robinson attended the University of Oregon a term, and later entered business college in La Grande, and has been making her home here. Mr. Robinson is the son of the Rev. L. Robinson, of Cove. His friends wish them much happiness.

The guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Grant Conley, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Miller, Mrs. Guy and Mr. and Mrs. Webb.

Miss Sayre Talks At Aid Meeting

A discussion of China and its future by Miss Geneva Sayre, who returned just a year ago from missionary work on the Chinese coast, was the subject of the monthly meeting of the Missionary society of the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. Miss Sayre's talk was particularly interesting because she had gleaned her material from first-hand observation and experience.

The increasing freedom of young women in China, who are breaking away from binding traditions, was particularly mentioned by the speaker. The unity of missionaries from different faiths in the work in missionary fields was stressed as a significant fact by Miss Sayre. She sang "I Love to Hear the Voice of Jesus" in Chinese and in a Chinese tune during her talk in illustrating the Chinese language and music.

Mrs. Robert Eakin, president, presided at the short business session at which it was decided that the society would meet Friday, July 13, at the city park for a picnic. Mrs. L. B. Moe led in the devotionals, reading eight verses from Matthew. Her subject was "Prayer."

Mrs. Bohnenkamp was assisted by Mrs. Mary Baker, Mrs. J. George Walz, Mrs. Frank Jackson and Mrs. Eakin in serving refreshments.

The Riverside Ladies' aid met with Mrs. M. Kennedy on Lake street Thursday afternoon. There was a large attendance. Mrs. J. H. Day called the meeting to order, presiding during the business session. A report on the sale of the quilt and on entertainments was given and it was announced that the mortgage had been paid off on Lane chapel, leaving a nice balance in the funds. Three new names were added to the membership list. The annual picnic will be held at Riverside park on Wednesday, June 27, with a potluck lunch at noon, it was announced.

The aid will disband through July and August and will meet the first Thursday in September with Mrs. L. J. Sinden, at her home on North Second.

At the close of Thursday's meeting the hostess served refreshments, assisted by her daughters, Bernice and Elaine Kennedy.

Two candidates were initiated into the Women of Mooseheart Legion last evening when the lodge met at the new Moose hall.

Mrs. Mary E. Mayville, senior regent, was in charge of the session at which there was a very satisfactory attendance.

The candidates were Mrs. B. W. Bailey and Mrs. Herbert Hardy. It was of particular interest to lodge members to learn that Mrs. Bailey will leave about June 15 for a trip east and will be visiting at Mooseheart, the famed home of the lodge. Initiation was held especially last night so that Mrs. Bailey would be a member before her trip.

Following the regular business session refreshments were served.

LADD CANYON (Special)—Mrs. Charles Grandy was the latest hostess to members of the Get-Together club at her home, June 6. The meeting was held a day earlier on account of La Grande's day at the Eastern Oregon Livestock show. The first part of the afternoon was taken up with the business session, and the remaining time in social visiting. Mrs. Grandy served refreshments at the close of the afternoon. Mrs. Harry Hansen will be next hostess to the Get-Together club, June 29, at her home on Adams avenue in La Grande.

Announcements

La Grande assembly No. 13, Order of Rainbow, will have its final meeting until fall tonight promptly at 7:30 o'clock at the Masonic hall. Initiation will take place during the meeting and will be exemplified by the new officers. A large attendance is urged.

ITALIA CREW SAFE, RADIO REPORT SAYS

feet landing here at 10:10 o'clock this morning, completing the last and most dangerous leg of his trans-oceanic flight, from Suva, Fiji islands, a distance of 1,762 miles. The flight was made in less than 24 hours at an average speed of 86 miles an hour.

Showered with gifts, including $25,000 in gold from the Australian government for the record-breaking flight from Oakland, Calif., to Brisbane, Captain Kingsford-Smith gave credit for the success of the 7,300-mile aerial voyage to his three associates, Captain C. T. Ulm, co-pilot, a fellow Australian, and two Americans, Harry Lyon, his navigator, and James Warner, radio operator.

Captain Kingsford-Smith brought the plane through a storm which tested the ability of the crew throughout the night. Land was first struck at Ballina, 150 miles south by north of here. This was due to the fierce winter storm which threw the plane slightly off course. But the navigator recovered bearings and headed south for the landing field here.

Despite the hectic night of flying, the Southern Cross crew experienced no ill effects. The populace of Brisbane greeted the aerial conquerors of the Pacific with open arms. After the first round of cheering and speeches of welcome, members of the crew were escorted to the city from the landing field where joyous crowds lined the path way of the airship, cheering them with wild enthusiasm.

In Brisbane, Captain Kingsford-Smith found a message from President Coolidge awaiting him, expressing "heartiest congratulations to you and your companions on your successful flight from Oakland to Australia. Your brilliant courageous pioneering has advanced the cause of aviation and strengthened the bonds between your commonwealth and our country."

From Los Angeles, G. A. Hancock, millionaire sportsman who backed the flight, when all other sources failed, sent word that as a token of friendship and tribute to Kingsford-Smith and Ulm, he would make them a gift of the Southern Cross and cancel all indebtedness.

After the round of receptions and welcomes here, the Southern Cross will make the final hop of the flight, an overland hop of 300 miles from Brisbane to Sydney, a distance surrounded by none of the perils of previous legs of the adventurous trans-oceanic flight.

Under the plan announced before the plane left Suva, the Americans, Lyon and Warner, will leave the Southern Cross here.

TREPASSEY, N. F., June 9 (AP)—The take-off of the monoplane Friendship for Europe was definitely postponed today until tomorrow because of reports received by the fliers of unfavorable weather conditions on the course over the Atlantic. The early morning clouds here dissipated after a few hours and by mid-afternoon the weather was clear with the wind from the northeast.

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—A warning against any attempt today at a trans-Atlantic flight was sounded by Dr. James H. Kimball, United States weather forecaster.

Heading the advice of the weatherman, Miss Mabel Doll, who is seeking to make the trans-Atlantic crossing in Charles A. Levine's Columbia, decided to defer her attempt. She said, however, that she was still "bar'n to go."

MOTHER OF 13 WANTS NO MORE

After having borne 13 children, and seeing eight of them die, Mrs. Edith Cromwell of Bridgeport, Conn., has had her husband arrested because he wants a larger family. She is shown above with Eddie Cromwell (left); Eleanor Stillwell, daughter by a former marriage, and Harold Cromwell. Two of her children are cripples. A fourteenth is expected, and Mrs. Cromwell told authorities she fears it will die of malnutrition and the ill of poverty just as eight others have gone.

Bridge Pointers

By Milton C. Work

The next subject to be discussed in this series of articles for the Bridge beginner is suit-bids of more than one. Original two-bids of a suit are easily described. They are justified by one holding only—Ace-King-Queen and three or more other cards of the suit (a suit of at least six cards); and when made, regardless of which the suit may be, they show that combination of cards.

This does not mean that in every case in which Ace-King-Queen and three or more small cards of a suit are held, that two should be bid. There would be some cases with such a holding, in which more than two should be bid; and there would be others in which only one should be bid. When the initial bidder's suit has such great length or when, in addition to a long strong suit his side hand has such great strength in one other suit, that he has the trick-taking power with his suit the trump to justify an attempt to shut out all other bidding, he bids three or more (i. e., "pre-empts"). A bid of only one should be made with a hand which has the two-bid hand or two Spades, a Heart bid from him would be most advantageous as the combined hands then would probably work better at Hearts than at Spades. To bid two, announcing the full strength of a two-bid, would relieve a partner holding only two Spades from the feeling that he was bound to show his other Major suit, as he would be if a bid of only one Spade was made. This is one of the few cases in which it is better to withhold temporarily the full information from the partner. Of course if the partner should deny the Spade by bidding two Diamonds, the Dealer with six Spades could rebid with propriety in spite of his partner's denial.

Next Monday we will consider pre-empting bids. (Copyright by John F. Dille Co.)

With this hand it probably would be better to start by bidding one rather than two. If it should happen that the partner had five or more strong Hearts and only one or two Spades, a Heart bid from him would be most advantageous as the combined hands then would probably work better at Hearts than at Spades. To bid two, announcing the full strength of a two-bid, would relieve a partner holding only two Spades from the feeling that he was bound to show his other Major suit, as he would be if a bid of only one Spade was made. Just as he would on an American automobile.

Since American manufacturers make automobiles much more cheaply than do those of other nations, the heavier cost of transportation paid from America is offset and the American car is easily sold whenever it fits the needs of a customer.

Beautiful stock bodies are big factors in sales by Americans. Intense heat, however, limits satisfactory cars to those with surplus radiation, paint that will stand the sun and upholstery that is cool and durable.

There is only one place left now where the farmers may go, according to Governor McMullen of Nebraska. Well, we all have to
