At Greenwood all day tomorrow and at Central all day Saturday Dr. H. E. Storey, of Portland, from the state board of health, and Miss Marquardt will maintain clinics for babies and will give thorough and careful examinations. They are anxious that mothers realize the advantage of the clinics which are sponsored by the Union county public health association and have been successfully conducted throughout the county all this week.

"No mother should cherish a foolish 'dread' of a clinic," Miss Marquardt remarked today. "There is an opportunity to prevent some future serious ailment or trouble with comparative ease, and a mother over her child this chance," she finished.

speech of the day, seconding the nomination of the New Yorker. He was given a fine ovation. Many of the delegates stood and cheered as two convention banes joined in "Maryland, My Maryland."

The candidate whose cause he espoused was described by Governor Ritchie as a man possessing all of the qualities of a great president.

"Date decreed for Governor Smith beginning which were humble," he said. "She upbraid him in the fashion of a man and he was obliged to resign to their roll and their richest degree the possibility of America as the land of opportunity."

Another seconding speech for Smith was made by Former Mayor Andrew J. Peters of Boston who said the whole background of the New York Governor was truly "American."

Passes Harrison

Mississippi passed on the roll call of the states without putting formally into nomination her favorite son, Senator Pat Harrison, who is to receive a complimentary ballot.

When the clerk then called the name of Missouri, the "Jim" Reed delegates of that state stood up and cheered. They raised a picture of their candidate at the end of a long pole and jingled cow bells and waved small flags to emphasize to the convention that they were standing pat despite the majority against them.

Kansas helped out a little and the Florida state standard was jingled up and down as the demonstration continued for a space of two or three minutes. Then Charles M. Howell of Kansas City took the platform and formally presented the name of the fighting Missouri senator for the presidency.

BOURBONS TO SUPPORT DRY AMENDMENT

ment, the plank sharply assails the republican administration for what is described as a failure to enforce the dry laws and also for placing "political hirelings" in enforcement positions, thus making of prohibition a political football.

The sub-committee, which will report the platform to the entire committee later in day with a view to having it go before the convention in the afternoon, adopted a farm plank embodying the views of the farm organizations, but with a definite endorsement of the equalization fee and the McNary-Haugen bill omitted.

Several plans for relief are suggested and the party would be pledged to enact legislation to correct what are declared to be faults in distribution and the taking care of the surplus farm crops. It was explained that this might be done through the operation of the equalization fee or by other means.

Pittman Draft O. K.

Several wet and dry proposals were submitted to the sub-committee but they were eliminated one by one until there remained only the original plank as drawn by Senator Pittman and other leaders last week and a similar one offered by Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, a dry leader. After an agreement as to precise language the committee finally approved the Pittman draft.

Governor Dan Moody, of Texas, presented the prohibition declaration adopted by the Texas state convention in 1925, containing the eighteenth amendment but this was rejected along with propositions for the modification of the prohibition laws so as to permit the states to decide whether they would be wet or dry.

The Texas governor would make no statement after the sub-committee meeting up its work at 6:30 a. m. today after meeting continuously since 9 o'clock last night but he told his colleagues on the committee that he might take the fight to the floor. However, the consensus among the twelve platform builders appeared to be that there would be no prohibition fight in the convention.

Joseph Daniels, North Carolina publisher and former naval secretary, who also has been denouncing a vigorous enforcement plank, was not a member of the sub-committee. He will have opportunity to restate his views when the sub-committee reports to the full committee which still has to endorse the party declaration.

Hour Needed

Chairman Pittman was of the opinion that it would not require more than an hour for the entire committee to pass upon the platform and he expected the convention to hold a special session to mid-afternoon to receive and approve the committee report.

Obituary

STODDARD RITES HELD

A mighty tribute was paid to the late Willford Stoddard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Stoddard, when more than 700 friends, young and old, filled the auditorium of the L. D. S. tabernacle almost to capacity Tuesday at the funeral services. There were several hundred young people—friends, classmates and teammates—among the gathering that represented all sections of the county.

J. W. Wilde and Elmer Stoddard spoke, paying beautiful tributes to the character and life of the boy in an impressive manner. Several hymns were sung by the L. D. S. choir led by Mrs. Lester Stoddard, and Mrs. Leal Russell and Mrs. Jack Hiatt sang.

Bishop Lester Stoddard was in charge of the services. W. D. Hanks, stake president, gave the opening prayer and Lloyd Walsh gave benediction.

There were many floral offerings. The pallbearers included team-mates of the deceased on the M. L. A. team. They were Eldon Hanks, Frank Black, Elmo Clegg, Robert Stoddard, Richard Lyman and Floyd Berry.

one of the sub-committee members, said he did not think the prohibition discussion would be raised on the floor, but emphasized that this was his personal opinion only. He is one of the staunchest drys in the senate.

Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, another sub-committee member, said he regarded the prohibition plank as "the best possible after taking into consideration the difference of opinion." He added that he personally would have preferred a different plank.

Glass Silent

Other members of the sub-committee appeared to be satisfied with the prohibition pronouncement, which went through by practically unanimous vote, but Senator Glass declined to make any statement after leaving the committee room. Some of his colleagues, however, were of the opinion that he would not force the issue in the convention.

There were intimations in some quarters that if the southern dry leaders did take the fight to the floor they would be unable to get a more satisfactory declaration than the one approved by the sub-committee and might not be able to obtain one that came as close to meeting their views as the Pittman proposal.

THREATS OF "BOLT" HEARD

By Francis M. Stevenson (Associated Press Writer)

HOUSTON, Tex., June 28 (AP)—Threats of a bolt of the party if Al Smith is nominated were widely checked at a mass meeting of dry delegates to the democratic convention held in the Baptist church here today on the eve of the impending row over a dry plank in the party's platform.

Mrs. Jessie Nicholson of Maryland, a leader in the National women's committee for law enforcement, told the meeting that the women "will never vote for a wet candidate and will bolt if Smith is nominated."

This and similar expressions by Senator Harris of Georgia were cheered as the delegates turned to march on the convention hall.

Seek Bone-Dry Plank

Unaware of the exact text of the dry plank adopted by the sub-committee of the resolutions committee, the mass meeting was making plans for a determined fight on the floor for a "bone dry" plank when the platform is reported out by the committee. How acceptable the tentative draft will be to the drys was a problem.

Former Governor Sweet of Colorado presided over the meeting today and with Donald Roper of South Carolina, led the march of delegates to the convention hall.

The resolution presented by J. A. Harniss of North Carolina, was adopted.

"At a mass meeting of more than 1,000 people, including delegates from many states attending the democratic convention, it is resolved that there shall be no change in the eighteenth amendment and Volstead act and the platform committee is instructed to endorse and declare for strict enforcement of both."

However, virtually all speakers seemed to take it for granted that Smith would be the party's nominee and their attention was centered on the fight for dry plank. Senator Harris declined if Smith
