

HOME OWNERS - REAL ESTATE - BUILDERS PAGE

PROGRESS RAPID ON NEW BUILDINGS

Snyder Business Structure on Adams Going Up—Much of Work Done

Work is progressing rapidly on the Grace Snyder brick and concrete business building on the corner of Fir and Adams, directly across the street from the new Kalamazoo.

The bricklayers have completed much of the earlier work and are now working near the top of the building. Much of the concrete was poured a few weeks ago.

The new building will be one of the most modern in this city, extending along Adams avenue 125 feet and on Fir street 56 feet. The south end will extend back to the alley 20 feet wide with all of the outside walls reinforced concrete with brick curtain walls.

The building will contain six store rooms, all with a full basement and concrete floors.

Work on the interior is expected to start within the near future, as soon as the present work reaches a point where it is feasible.

The inside of all the store rooms will be finished with modern, plastered walls, fir finish and windows will be of plate glass set in copper molding.

The entrance to each store room from the street will be finished in tile floors over reinforced concrete, it is said.

The Fred Smith building on Washington avenue is also going ahead rapidly, and next to this, the Montgomery Ward & Co. new store is beginning to materialize. The brick house on the corner of the main house has been removed during the last week so as to permit construction work.

One Permit Issued During Last Week

Only one building permit was issued during the first week of July by City Recorder J. H. Stearns.

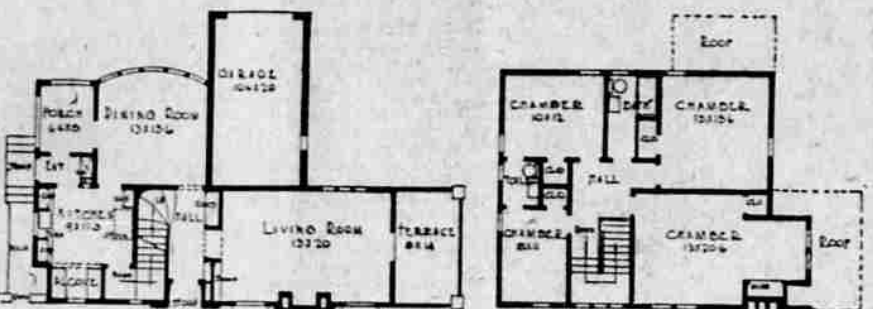

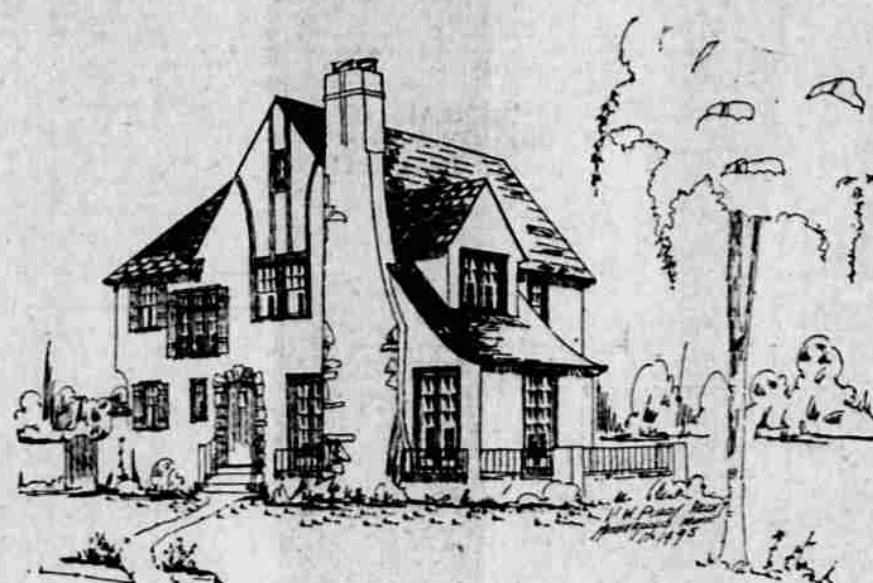

This permit was given to W. C. Hansen on July 5 for alterations and repairs to a two-story dwelling place on Fifth street between M and N avenues. The estimated cost of the work is given at $1000.

Advertising Work In Schools Urged

DETROIT, Mich., July 5 (Special)—Thorough, practical courses in advertising should be offered in universities and colleges, and training afforded can be of great value to young men and women who plan to enter this field. This was the assertion made by W. F. G. Thacher, head of the advertising department of the University of Oregon, Eugene, Oregon, today before the educational departmental session of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, at the international convention in session here.

Professor Thacher took for his topic, "Making Advertising More Effective Through Better Teaching in Colleges." Ideas advanced in the address aroused great interest among the advertising men and the talk was followed by a lively discussion. Educators from many leading colleges and universities in the United States were present at the session.

A BEAUTIFUL HOME

By W. W. Purdy

The home illustrated in the English type, and it would be difficult to get a more attractive exterior, or interesting floor plan, than the one shown. Its broad frontage is placed to the street front, which at once gives the casual observer the impression that the home is much larger than it really is. Entrance is through a recessed porch, directly into a small hall. The staircase on the one side, with its wrought iron balusters, and rail, plaster arches on the other, opening into the living-room. A wardrobe is used for a coat closet, wraps are hung on a hanger, suspended from a pole through the center, while on the other side is a small cupboard for umbrellas, rubbers, etc.

Once in the living-room you are attracted to the fireplace, with French doors opening onto iron balconies, in the front, and onto a terrace at the end.

The dining-room, with its bay full of windows, admitting lots of sunshine, and the little screened eating porch, to be used in the hot summer time, is most interesting. The kitchen has a convenient arrangement of cupboards and a breakfast alcove.

Four new bedrooms, a general bath, as well as a private bath between the children's room and guest room, are features to be considered. Note the large owner's chamber in the front, with a wardrobe as well as a coat closet.

There is a full basement with the usual laundry, storage, fuel and furnace room. A single car garage, with masonry walls attached to the house and heated from the boiler.

The exterior walls are frame using cement plaster over metal lath. Roof has the stained wood shingles. Slate could be substituted, at a slight additional cost. The floors throughout are of oak, with oak trim, second floor in pine ivory enameled. Walls a rough texture, tinted, and lighting fixtures wrought iron, to harmonize. The cost of this home is placed at $4,200 to $4,500 exclusive of heating and plumbing.

LOSTINE PERSONALS

LOSTINE, Ore. (Special)—Miss Carmen Plass, of Wallawa, spent the past week with her sister Mrs. Claire Childers.

Bill Jackson went to Zuni last week for a visit with his uncle, Gus Carlson.

The Lostine community will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Edith Bright on Friday, July 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gray, of Joseph, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Page of Lostine, spent Sunday with friends at Elgin.

Mrs. Jay Templeton and son, Ronald, of Enterprise, are spending the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Leonard.

Mrs. Henry Webster and daughter arrived at Lostine last week and are visiting with Mrs. Webster's brother, William Straley.

Mr. and Mrs. Olive Lloyd, of Innahua, are staying at the home of Mrs. Mary Deines. Mr. Lloyd is in of rheumatism.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Hambley, of La Grande, were guests over Sunday at the home of Mrs. Mary Bell Ward.

Mrs. Mary Allen and daughter, Miss Edith Allen, of Wallawa, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen over the weekend.

Dee Magee and wife, of Enterprise, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Magee.

Mrs. Maude Mahon and daughter, Tella, came over from Baker Tuesday to spend the Fourth with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Ethel Munson and baby returned to their home at Cuthbertland, Wash., after a two weeks' visit here with relatives. She was called here by the death of her father, David Harris.

Miss Marjorie Fletcher is spending a few weeks visiting at Enterprise with her aunt, Miss Blum, Mrs. Rodgers and Mrs. John Robinson.

Deb Willett and a party of friends went to Steamboat Lake to spend the Fourth of July. He returned with trout, many of which weighed five or six pounds.

Lostine was a very much deserted city the day of the Fourth of July, nearly everyone attending some celebration elsewhere. Enterprise boasts the largest crowd which was ever in that city.

Harry Winkings drove over to Wallawa last week, where he took a physical examination in order to enter the veterans' hospital at Portland, where he will go for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery, of Wallawa, were visiting at the Fred Ranes home last week.

Mrs. O. J. Foley and daughter, Margaret, drove over to La Grande Thursday with Mrs. Nettie Ashley, of Enterprise.

J. W. Spencer and wife drove over to Hermiston Friday on business, returning Monday.

Mrs. Leslie Willett and Miss Winifred Willett, visited Mrs. F. R. Leonard, Sunday.

William Wiggins went to Baker Friday for a short visit with his wife, E. Wiggins. He returned home Monday, accompanied by his son Marvin, who has spent the past four weeks with friends at Union, Haines and Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pearce made a trip to Innahua last week.

Miss Anna Lee Thompson, of Enterprise, will spend the summer here with her uncle, Clarence Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Parent left last week for Salem and Monmouth where they will spend several weeks visiting Mrs. Willard Kuhn and daughters, Versaile and Valaska. Miss Versaile is attending summer normal at Monmouth.

Lloyd Chapman and his mother, Mrs. J. J. Chapman, motored to Telecast to see Mrs. Chapman's sister, Mrs. George Achley. Mrs. Chapman's niece, Wanda Achley, returned home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Safflen and daughter, Aulleen, and son, Dale, left this week for their home at Los Palos, Cal., after spending 19 days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kuhn.

The Rev. and Mrs. Sniffen will remain here for an extended visit.

Lostine friends were greatly pleased to learn of the Crow-Meyers wedding, which took place near Sammamish last Sunday. Both Mr. and Mrs. Crow are well known here and their many friends extend to them congratulations.

J. H. Jackson returned home Sunday from a week's visit with his son, Edgar, at Kimberly, Canada. Mr. Jackson says the wheat crop in Manitoba county is quite good, also in the Palouse country, but east of Spokane it is very poor.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Graves, of Calgary, Alberta, visited with Mrs. Emma Harris and daughter Mildred, last Monday. Mrs. Graves was a niece of the late C. H. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Crow took Mrs. Guy Crow and baby son up South Fork Sunday night. Mrs.

Crow will spend the summer at the Lapover cabin.

Miss Edith Nolan returned home Tuesday from Portland, where she has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. Alfred Miller. She will spend the summer vacation with her mother, Miss Anna Nolan.

The Rev. Mr. Shields went to La Grande Sunday to give the report of the general assembly meeting held at Tulsa, Okla., in May, which he attended. The Rev. J. G. Waix preached here Sunday night in his place.

Mrs. Della Haun and son Jay, and grandson Douglas Schilling, of Oakland, Cal., arrived here Wednesday and will spend a week visiting old friends. They are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Lewis.

Frank and Ralph Englehorn, sons of Louis Englehorn, formerly of Hurricane creek, but now of Wilder, Ida., stopped over here for a day to visit with their aunt, Mrs. S. M. Crow. They were en route to Antone.

Grandma McCallin is very ill at her home again. Her daughter, Mrs. Pearce, is taking care of her. Marion and Lake Hamrick were at Wallawa Friday on business.

Vincent Sherod, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Sherod, formerly a farmer near Lostine but now residing near Hermiston, recently lost the sight of one eye as the result of a piece of flying steel. He was removed by a magnet.

Ruth Hale, of Imbler, spent the weekend with her aunt, Mrs. W. A. Elmer. Mrs. Elmer is attending summer normal at La Grande.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Goble are the proud parents of a baby daughter born to them last Wednesday. The little girl has been named Colleen Ann. Mrs. Goble will be remembered as Aneta Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Magill and son, Hugh, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williamson spent Monday at the celebration at Elgin.

Miss Pauline Bradley, of Astoria, arrived here this week and will spend the summer with her son, Frank Bradley and family.

Mrs. William Hook and children spent a week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hook at Enterprise.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jensen and son, of Winchester, Ida., and Mrs. Harlan Hoffman, of Wallawa, visited at the W. C. Elmer home Tuesday.

Ellen and Bertha Cole returned from Joseph last Thursday where they spent several weeks with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Cole.

Mrs. Pearl Harris, of Portland, left for her home this week, after spending several weeks visiting her brother-in-law, E. O. Harris and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ranes.

The idea that we eat with teeth is older than our race; the idea that we eat for teeth is comparatively recent, says "Children, the Magazine for Parents." What foods build teeth? Obviously those which contain the materials of which teeth are made. Teeth and bone are made of lime, mostly and other minerals. Lime foods are milk, cheese, vegetables, fresh fruit, eggs, whole grain cereals and breads.

June Building Volume Largest; Sets New Record

WASHINGTON, July 9.—June witnessed the greatest volume of construction work ever carried on in the United States during a single month, according to statistics just compiled by the Associated General Contractors of America.

Last month's record-breaking activities raised the total volume of all types of construction work handled during the first half of this year to a figure substantially above that registered for the corresponding period of 1927.

The figures, based upon shipments of construction materials, show that last month's volume was 32 per cent greater than the total recorded for May and fifteen per cent greater than the figure registered for June of last year. The increase over the May total was the greatest ever to be recorded during the period of one month.

Indications are that the mid-summer months will not see a slackening of the rapid pace set during recent weeks.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

June Building Volume Largest; Sets New Record

WASHINGTON, July 9.—June witnessed the greatest volume of construction work ever carried on in the United States during a single month, according to statistics just compiled by the Associated General Contractors of America.

Last month's record-breaking activities raised the total volume of all types of construction work handled during the first half of this year to a figure substantially above that registered for the corresponding period of 1927.

The figures, based upon shipments of construction materials, show that last month's volume was 32 per cent greater than the total recorded for May and fifteen per cent greater than the figure registered for June of last year. The increase over the May total was the greatest ever to be recorded during the period of one month.

Indications are that the mid-summer months will not see a slackening of the rapid pace set during recent weeks.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.

Salads are one of the foods which usually appeal to the grownups and for which a taste should be cultivated by the children. Vegetable and fruit salad may be served to the latter if the dressing is not over-seasoned. Lemon juice should be used rather than vinegar with the oil. A mildly seasoned French dressing may be made up and used to serve the children.