Many girls are getting men's wages nowadays—but then, they always have.

The greatest intelligence test is matrimony. And now we are wondering whether it means that greater intelligence is shown going into matrimony or staying out of it.

Mistress: "Did you enjoy your day at the seaside, Mary?"
Mary: "No, I didn't, mum, all the picture houses was full, so we 'dter wander round the beach and watch the ships all day!"

Remember: A vacation should be taken early so as to allow plenty of time to recuperate before going back to work.

"Will you love me honor?"
"The-huh?"
"Lady, are you all set?"
"The-huh."
"Snuff! He's you'n! Ten backs. If you need my services again, I make special discount to old customers."

A seaside resort advertises "Clean dancing every night except Monday." A strong bid for Monday night crowds.

To our correspondents who repeatedly ask "What did America get out of the World War?" we would respectfully reply that this inquiry can be best answered after we get out.

A nervous young gentleman, all a-flutter over the prospect of attending a party in a nearby city, rushed into the railroad station at Bangs Center.

"When does the first train leave for Galesburg?" he asked of the white-haired station agent who was perched on a truck in the baggage room.
"Son," replied the agent, "the first train left for Galesburg in 1861."

A minister was quoted recently as failing to understand why brides no longer blush. They probably blush just the same, parson, but you can't see it for the make-up.

Practice Makes Perfect—A barber reported to work two hours late.
"What's the big idea?" demanded the boss.
"I'm sorry," replied the barber, "but while I was shaving I talked myself into a shampoo, haircut and massage."

AT THE THEATERS

Thrilling Action In Meighan Film At Arcade

The barking of machine guns; the intermittent reports of automatics; the excited howls of a mob gone wild, are some of the thrilling highlights of Thomas Meighan's latest starring picture entitled "The Racket," a story of a feud between a police captain and the leader of a gang of beer runners, now the current attraction at the Arcade theater.

As Captain McQuigg, Thomas Meighan gives one of his greatest characterizations in "The Racket," a melodrama of the underworld, adapted from the famous stage play by Barlett Cormack, a newspaperman. Hard-boiled and fearless of all elements, Meighan fights the gang leader, Nick Scarso; which part is portrayed by Louis Wolheim, one of the most able character actors in motion pictures today.

Marie Prevost as Helen, the night club entertainer, who is the principal figure of a romance with John Darrow, a reporter, also gives an outstanding performance.

"The Racket" is a colorful as well as powerful melodrama. Its author, a newspaperman, has written a vital drama of metropolitan life, taken from his observations and experiences. "The story was first presented in play form in New York, where it ran for several months and which was followed by a successful road engagement. Mr. Meighan personally selected the story as being ideally suited to his ability, and critics have hailed his work wherever the picture has been shown.

Among others who contribute are: Lee Moran, Skeets Gallagher, Lucien Prival, Tony Maria and G. Pat Collins, who also appeared in the stage presentation. The picture was directed by Lewis Milestone, who directed Meighan in "The New Klondike," one of the star's most successful pictures.

"Sinews of Steel" Coming To Colonial

The glare of the flaming forge—the crash of the giant steel hammers and behind it all the enormous power of gold. These are the main factors in "Sinews of Steel," the Gotham photoplay coming to the Colonial theater Friday.

The story revolves around the efforts of the head of a steel mill combination to gobble up one of their smaller competitors. The smaller steel concern is owned by a girl, who is making a brave fight against heavy odds, to carry on the business left by her father.

The son of the president of the combine meets the girl, who is not aware of his identity. He falls in
