SCHOOLS IN CITY WORTH $468,000.00

Annual Report of District Clerk Shows an Indebtedness of $150,000

TOTAL RECEIPTS IN YEAR $176,277

School Census Taken Last Fall Shows Increase of 30—Four More Boys Than Girls.

La Grande's public school system is worth nearly half a million dollars while total indebtedness against the property is only $150,000, the annual report of the district clerk, Harry Williams, to County School Superintendent E. A. Sayre reveals.

The value of the property, which is all on 1 1/2 acres of ground, is listed at $468,000, divided as follows: estimated value of school-houses and grounds, $420,000; estimated value of school furniture and apparatus $48,000.

Added to this, the clerk's financial statement shows cash on hand of $1,787.97.

Men Receive Bigger Salaries Several very interesting items are included in the annual report, prepared each summer after the close of the school term.

It is shown that the average monthly salary of male teachers in District No. 1 (La Grande), is $40.11 more than the average monthly salary of female teachers. The average male men is $171.56 and the average received by women is $131.55.

The only indebtedness against the school consists of bonds in the amount of $150,000, and several months ago the school board took steps, through a plan of refinancing, to reduce this indebtedness more rapidly than in the past. During the year $12,000 was spent on redemption of bonds.

Total Receipts The school year, including cash on hand at the start of the 1927-28 period, amounted to $176,277.88 and total expenditures were $174,489.86. This district received the following amounts during the year: District tax, $109,135.48; county school fund $24,523.36; state school fund $4,299.36; elementary school fund $14,487.29; high school tuition $14,992.42; borrowed money $45,500; other sources $1,123.47.

Expenditures shown that $29,250 in short loans was paid when due. The expenditures included the following items: Salary of superintendent $3,583.33, salaries of supervisors $3,999.87, salaries of principals $3,949.77, salaries of teachers (men) $13,681.83, salaries of teachers (women) $76,856.81, salaries of janitors and other employes, $19,375.40.

Cost of fuel for the year amounted to $5,191.73 and water $679.65. The sum of $195.72 was spent for playground equipment and $3,591.44 was spent for alteration of old buildings.

School Census Among the most interesting items in the report is the school census, which shows a total of 2786 taken during 1927, which shows an increase of 30 over the 1926 figure. This represents persons living in the district more than four and less than 20 years of age. Males totaled 1295 and females were four less—1291.

Sixty-eight school rooms were in operation during the year in five school buildings in the district. The report also shows that 63 boys and 49 girls attended elementary school.

T. R. Maxwell Is New Proprietor Of Oil Company

Purchases Fletcher's Interests in La Grande, According to Announcement Made Today.

La Grande has this month become the headquarters for an independent oil distributing company, owned entirely by one of her own citizens. This important addition to home business was made public today when negotiations which were completed on July 1, making T. R. "Tom" Maxwell independent owner of the Fletcher Oil company here of which he has always been manager, was announced. The deal, in which Mr. Maxwell purchased the local business of the Fletcher brothers of Boise was completed the first of the month but no official announcement was made until this morning.

This is the consummation of a desire which Mr. Maxwell has had since the organization of the company, first known as the Grande-Ronde Oil company, in 1921. Later it became known as the Fletcher Oil company along with the other interests of the brothers in Idaho and this vicinity. The company has always been located in this vicinity and is called the first independent oil company in the state. For the present at least Mr. Maxwell will designate his company with "T. R. Maxwell, distributor of Veltex products," and will continue the sale of this line of goods.

"I have hoped for years to realize the ambition to have a business under this arrangement and to make it a permanent La Grande company. I have faith in La Grande as a permanent home and intend to make it that," Mr. Maxwell says.

In entering this business independently Mr. Maxwell is exercising the judgment and authority in this field of business that 21 years of experience has given him. It is no hasty step with him and in choosing La Grande as the scene of his permanent building he has shown conclusively his belief in this city. Mr. Maxwell has relinquished all his interests in the Fletcher brothers outside of this county and will devote his entire time to the local business.

Mr. Maxwell announced his business policy today. "As nearly as possible I am going to have a cash policy on as low a margin as is possible," he said. "I have learned the art of carefully buying so that he can give customers the best oils on the market at the lowest possible prices. "We use the lowest priced possible method of oil shipments—tank cars straight from the eastern refineries to La Grande," he stated. "We control the specifications of the oils and they are up to this standard at all times," he went on. "The company is handling

Eastern Oregon Tennis Tourny To Begin Sunday

The La Grande Rotary club is giving one of the cups which will be presented to tennis champions in the Eastern Oregon tennis tournament which begins tomorrow.

No charge is to be made for spectators tomorrow at the first of three days of tennis that will be played in the city courts and on the A. J. Stange court. The busy day of play begins at 8 o'clock on both courts. A general invitation has been extended by the tournament committee to spectators and, with the most interesting tournament yet held in prospect, there will probably be a large gallery. There will be 25 men and eight women entries and singles and doubles for men and women and mixed doubles will be played. For the last three days players have been arriving here for the event. Widespread interest has been manifested.

Parole Revoked; 50-Day Term Looms

Loren Turner, who was arrested Thursday night by the police on a charge of drunkenness, faces 50 days in jail unless he can raise some money. Some time ago Turner was fined $100 on a charge of possession of liquor but was paroled. With his arrest Thursday night the parole was revoked and, not having funds to pay the fine, he is starting out to serve out the $100 at $2 a day.

BAND PLAYS CONCERT TO LARGE CROWD

Nearly 1,000 People Listen to "Old-Favorite" Program

NO NEW NUMBERS ARE PRESENTED

Many Selections, Popular for Generations, Included—Cornet Solos Please Crowd.

While a crescent moon streamed its magic beams last night the La Grande municipal band rolled out yards and yards of lovely melody and harmony into the fragrant summer air to be heard by nearly 1,000 persons who attended a bi-monthly concert that was unique because only "old-favorite" numbers were played. It was an easy concert to listen to—easy not only because the numbers were melodious and beautiful—but because they were "old friends" to the listeners who caught the spirit of them without effort.

"The old pieces are always the best," was a remark heard often as some particular favorite like "Hooked in the Cradle of the Deep" or perhaps "Sweet and Low" were heard. And then, who can resist the lilting rhythm and melody of DeKoven's "Robin Hood"? It's just naturally one of those happy numbers that makes one glow and one's toes tingle and arouses the "wanderlust."

It was a case of a mellow mood and a mellowed program—and together the band members and the huge audience had a joyous time of it.

Possibly the best thing about the novel program was the Director, Andrew Loney did not overdo any one type of the older music. It was as skillfully balanced as his usual concert. There was one of Sousa's peppery marches played with a not-too-serious enthusiasm to start it off. Then there was the much-embellished concert waltz "Wending of the Winds" with its suggestive effects and its swing that is suggestive of the Strauss waltz. And a medley, that included such "heart-throbbers" as the "Old Broken Bucket" and "Old Black Joe," launched off into a gay waltz before it had a chance to become saccharine sweet. The "Old Folks," potpourri found its antithesis in the descriptive "Hunting Scene" of Bucalossi. This was played delightfully with a light swing and rhythm and with particularly and noticeably clear-cut staccato work on the runs. Shading was good. The "Foot and

FOREST FIRE IS UNDER CONTROL

First Blaze of Season in This District Occurs on Mount Harris

The first forest fire of the season in this district is under control, after burning over several acres of scrub timber on Mount Harris, near Imbler.

This morning smoke could be seen on the mountain from La Grande but the fire was past its peak last night. It started yesterday afternoon and for awhile was threatening.

Damage caused by the blaze will not run into a heavy figure. The origin is not known here.

With a long stretch of dry, warm weather continuing, the forest fire hazard is high here as elsewhere over the north-west, which already has seen a few damaging fires this season. General figures, however, declare that the loss so far this season has been at a minimum.

Epidemic of Mumps Hits La Grande; Around 100 Persons Have Disease

Swollen jaws are popular in La Grande this summer, particularly at present.

Which should not be construed to mean that fights are frequent or anything of the sort. It does mean, however, that an epidemic of mumps is coursing through the city—attacking people indiscriminately, sometimes on one side of the face, sometimes on the other and sometimes both.

Started 10 Days Ago The first few cases of mumps were reported, according to Dr. A. L. Richardson, city health officer, about 10 days ago and since that time dozens of cases have been reported. Some estimates place the number of cases at around 100, mostly children 16 years of age or less. Mumps is a minor contagious disease and while they sometimes are far from pleasant, are not ordinarily regarded as serious. Health

Indian Braves In Famous Sun Dance In Idaho

Bannock, Shoshone and Lemhi Tribes to Continue Contortions Until Sunrise Monday.

FORT HALL, INDIAN RESERVATION, Idaho, July 21 (AP)—With undiminished enthusiasm the Bannock, Shoshone and Lemhi Indian braves today went through the contortions of their sun-dance ritual, the sun dance, to the accompaniment of the reverberating throb of a huge tom-tom, and the weird chant of the squaws.

The hours of continuous effort without food or water since the dance started at sundown yesterday have in no way dimmed the spirits of the dancers. The ceremony will continue without interruption until sunrise Monday, when the strongest brave will be declared the greatest dancer. The squaws will then prepare a banquet to break the three-day fast of the tribesmen.

Object to Crowd Some of the older tribesmen object strenuously to the spectators and complain that the ritual intended as a means for the braves to gain health and spiritual perfection from their sun god, is being commercialized. White visitors who journey to watch the scene are charged a nominal fee which is turned into the tribal funds.

Younger Indians, however, make every effort to accommodate the spectators. "Hot dog" and "cold drink" vendors hawk their wares just outside the circle reserved for the dancers and the visitors desiring photographs may secure them by making substantial donations to the tribal treasury.

Occasionally a brave, overcome by exhaustion, falls to the ground, but he returns to his place as soon as he recovers.

On the third and final day all the braves make it a point to remain on their feet, dancing then with a frenzy unknown to the ceremony in its earlier stages.

Modern Woodmen Start Campaign

An intensive membership drive has been launched by the Modern Woodmen of America here in connection with a state-wide contest for a banner. As ample evidence that it is proving successful, candidates received the degrees last night during a regular lodge meeting at which the general routine of work was taken up. The meeting was held at the K. of P. hall, A. L. Lind acted as venerable council in the absence of E. J. Brown. The membership drive is under the direction of E. L. Cate, district deputy from Portland, who is here supervising it.

Miss Nellie Stevens Passes in Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., July 21 (AP)—Miss Nellie Stevens, 63, principal of the Sitton school, dropped dead at the home of her brother, Earl C. Stevens, early today, while at the telephone call.

Miss Stevens was county superintendent of schools of Union county from 1894 to 1898, she taught at the state normal school at Weston, Ore., and at Oregon City before coming to Portland.

Despondency Cause Of Girl's Death

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP)—Despondency over her failure at a literary career was the motive accepted by police today for the apparent suicide of Miss Virginia Drew, literary protégée of Maxwell Bodenheim, poet and author.

Miss Drew's body was found floating in the Hudson river Thursday afternoon. She was last seen leaving Bodenheim's apartment early Monday. Bodenheim has not been located since early Tuesday morning. Police said, however, that they were not searching for him, and considered the case closed with the medical examiner's verdict of suicide.

Most Children

Quite a number of younger adults, between the ages of 16 and 20, have fallen victim to the mumps, although most of those attacked were youngsters. Very few older people are in the lists of the sufferers.

Dr. Richardson, when asked today regarding general health conditions in La Grande, said that outside of the mumps, conditions here are very good. There are no homes under quarantine and no cases of typhoid fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever or small pox exist. There is, however, a mild form of summer influenza in La Grande, he said.

Globe Girdlers Leave Spokane For Metropolis

SPOKANE, July 21 (AP)—Bound for New York, terminus of an attempted record around-the-world voyage, "Jeh" Henry Meares and H. D. Collier landed at the Spokane airport at 7:30 this morning and after refueling took off again for the east.

The fliers, who arrived at Victoria, B. C., last night from Japan on the Lamer Empress of Russia, expressed confidence that they would reach New York by tomorrow noon, breaking by four days the previous record for a trip around the world.

Police and sheriff's deputies for 30 hours have maintained a dragnet around Portland, and many of the officers expressed the opinion that Herder was still hiding in Portland.

Frequent telephone tips have been run down by officers, and three squads of Portland motorcycle policemen were ready to act promptly on any clue that might develop.

Herder's mother, interviewed late yesterday at her home, denied having seen her son last Saturday at a berry field on the Baseline road just outside of Portland, as had been reported to police. Officers said they had definite information that Herder was seen in Portland Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Wednesday of this week.

If Music Is Not Pleasing, Cut Off Ears!

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—Musicians in general and saxophone players in particular, whose harmony is not of the best, should avoid West Africa in concert tours. Slitting the mouth of musicians faulty in this regard is a favorite practice among savages in the Cameron country, West Africa, said Wilfrid D. Hamby, assistant curator of African ethnology at Field museum, who yesterday set up a new exhibit of large wooden drums from Cameron.

Other African methods of punishing the musician who produces displeasing sounds, Mr. Hamby said, were slicing off his ears or chopping off his hands. But the saxophone is unknown in African lands, so far as Mr. Hamby knows.

MAN HUNT TURNS INTO WASHINGTON

Portland Dragnet Fails to Get William Herder, California Fugitive

PORTLAND, Ore., July 21 (AP)—Search for William Herder, 26, in connection with the Willows Creek, Cal., post office robbery and killing of the deputy sheriff, shifted to Washington today when information was received from Goldendale that a man answering Herder's description had been seen near there yesterday.

Sheriff Herdbrand was advised by telephone today that Herder was recognized by a Spokane, Portland and Seattle railway agent late yesterday on an east bound train. Goldendale officers said that the agent was positive of his identification.

Local officers were in touch with railroad agents and all trains along the line to Spokane were being watched.

Sandino's Band Surrounded By Marine Forces

Hope to Reach End of Campaign Against Insurgents Within Next Few Months.

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—The marines in Nicaragua hope to reach the end of their campaign against General Sandino within a few months.

Latest reports received at the navy department say that the insurgent leader and his band are practically surrounded by the American forces in northern Nicaragua between the Coco and Bocay rivers. Surrender or flight to Honduras are looked for within a comparatively short time.

"Pocketing" Band A campaign of "pocketing" the band is being pursued. Marine officers say that Sandino has been isolated from his sources of supplies, either by the American troops or by the impassability of the jungle trails, brought on by the rainy season. It is thought that the only food to reach him is being floated down the Bocay and Segovia rivers.

Marine headquarters here estimate the strength of the Sandino band at 150 men and believe that, since the surrender of more than 500 natives within the last two weeks, it is the only insurgent group now in the Nicaraguan interior.

Operations Difficult While the marines outnumber Sandino's men, their operations are made extremely difficult and perilous by the character of the terrain. Like Sandino the marine detachments in many places are cut off by land from their bases of supplies. Airplanes carry their provisions and drop them by parachutes, and in some instances the rivers are used.

Dispatches picture Sandino as fearful for his personal safety and on his guard against treachery among his followers, permitting only those who are known to him to enter his camp. His men know the country well and he has established an elaborate system of outposts to warn him of the movements of the American troops.

1928 Lamb Crop Is Much Larger Than For 1927

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—The lamb crop of 1928 is reported by the department of agriculture as being the greatest since 1927 and nine per cent larger than for 1926. The total announced for 1928 was 25,989,000 lambs, as compared to 24,173,000 in 1927 and 23,772,000 in 1926.

The most important increases were reported from western states, especially in those that suffered losses in severe storms in April and May, 1927. Increases were noted both in the number of breeding ewes and in the number of lambs docked per hundred ewes, the latter being estimated at 83.2 in 1928, as compared to 79.9 last year and 87.7 in 1926.

Outside the native sheep states, the vast north central section of the country had the highest total production. In the 13 native sheep states, California ranked first, with 2337 lambs, Montana and Texas almost tied for second place with 1875 and 1872 respectively, and Wyoming was next with 1859.

The weather outlook for the week beginning July 22, was announced here today by the United States weather bureau as follows: Fair weather states. The outlook is for fair weather and normal temperatures over the interior and for considerable clouds and fogs on the coast during the coming week.
