Summer Sports To Rule in La Grande Realm Tomorrow

Summer sports will reign in La Grande tomorrow. Undoubtedly the most important day of all the summer in this realm is that the day's calendar is so diversified and includes two sectional tournaments, folk interested in many fields of sports are looking forward to tomorrow.

Easily the most important event in the Eastern Oregon tennis tournament. The private court at the A. J. Stango residence and the two city courts will be flocked with both masculine and feminine racqueters. There are nearly 40 competitors listed and the spectators will probably triple the numbers. It is the most important tennis event of the year and always brings its share of the pleasure and joy that make tennis a favored summer sport.

Then, on the La Grande country club course 35 Walla Walla players will contest with as many La Grande players, making it one of the largest dual tournaments of the summer, and the most important golf event of July.

Fishing, favorite sport of many La Grande folk, will be of increasing interest because of the coming Wing, Pin and Plectroft club members. This will invite a number of fishing parties tomorrow when sportsmen will attempt to make winning matches.

The swimming tanks of the vicinity will no doubt have record-breaking crowds as the popularity of this sport has had a most perceptible increase these last two weeks and particularly since the completion of the new Pine Cone pool.

The Bonneville picnic, of course, is drawing many La Grande rail-riders and their families tomorrow, and they expect a pleasant day.

In retrospect over the past week one finds that the social events have been devoted almost entirely to complimentary affairs for visiting guests, among them Mrs. G. L. Dutton and Mrs. A. V. Lindgren, both former La Grande residents now of Portland, Mrs. Hal Bohlenkamp entertained the Clio club for these two and for Mrs. Earl Stoddard, of New York and Mrs. David Stoddard, of Baker, on Tuesday, and Mrs. Raymond O. Williams entertained for Mrs. Dutton and Mrs. Lindgren on Thursday.

The Doris B. Schilke Past Matron's club of Eastern Oregon was probably the outstanding organization event of the week.

Women of Mooseheart Legion had a regular business session at the new Moose hall last evening with Mrs. A. N. Mayville, senior resident, presiding. Initiation that was scheduled to take place was postponed and only the regular order of business was taken up. Plans for future activities, including a cooked food sale, were made during the meeting. About a dozen members were in attendance.

One of the many pleasant picnic affairs that are making this summer a delightful one took place last night when a group of La Grande friends picnicked at Pine Cone with Mrs. Ellie Snodsmith, of Bell River, Ill., as their honor guest. Swimming was the main diversion for the evening. A picnic supper was spread shortly after 6 o'clock. Those who enjoyed the little affair were Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Mrs. Julia Metzler, Dr. Lewa Wilkes, Mrs. Oma Lapham and her daughter, Mrs. Douglas J. Kline, and Robert Smith. Mrs. Snodsmith is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Lapham.

A most delightful birthday, at which a number of the little tots of the city were guests was given yesterday by Mrs. Harry Mohr for her young son, Ronald, on his fourth birthday anniversary. A merry afternoon at games on the lawn of the Mohr home on Main avenue was spent. At about 4 o'clock refreshments were served, the feature being a pretty birthday cake with four candles. The young honor guest was presented with birthday gifts. Mrs. Mohr was assisted by Mrs. Mayme Geary Morris, of Klamath Falls, who is visiting her many friends in La Grande, where she formerly made her home. Master Ronald's guests yesterday afternoon were Dicky and Billy Moore, Billy and Jerry Neal, Jean Davies, Jackie Davies, Mary Joane Hickman, Shirley Mattoon.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

In considering questions which arise either at the Auction Bridge table, or at the Contract Bridge table, it is unfortunately necessary to explain that there are a few exceptions to the rules which are applicable to the vast majority of cases; readers of Contract Bridge advice should appreciate, just as avidly as readers of Auction Bridge advice always have done, that the vocabulary of the game contains no such word as "always" or "never". For example an all but infallible rule in Contract is: Do not bid without strength. But situations sometimes arise in which a weakness bid should be made. One obvious situation would be answering partner's informatory double; and another would be in the case in which a Dealer passed, holding some such hand as either of the following:

St. Peter's Church

Regular services will be held Sunday at St. Peter's Episcopal church with the Rev. Oliver Riley, rector, presiding. Holy eucharist is to begin at 8 p. m. and church school at 9:45 o'clock.

The morning prayer is at 11 a. m. and church school at 9:45 o'clock.

The Rev. H. W. Parker, of the Methodist church here, wrote Wednesday saying: "We have more than 200 attending institute. We are looking for more of our La Grande people on Saturday and Sunday."

The closing of the institute will be a feature of tomorrow, the following program having been prepared for the final day:

7:30 a. m.—Morning watch, sacramental service.

8:30 a. m.—Breakfast.

11:00 a. m.—Public worship, sermon by Dr. E. T. Randall, of Chicago.

3:00 p. m.—Business meeting of the Camp Ground association.

7:00 p. m.—Epworth League meeting, "Books and Drama of the Social Awakening" led by Harry S. Hamilton.

If Second Hand then passed, Third Hand, not discouraged by partner's pass, bid two No Trumps, and Fourth Hand passed, the Dealer, especially if vulnerable, would be placed in an awkward position. If Dealer had bid two No Trumps and Second Hand had passed, a bid by Third Hand with either of these hands would be unsound as it would encourage Dealer to bid three No Trumps; but the initial pass cited above which had denied the strength for an initial bid, would make a second round bid possible, provided the partner understood that under the circumstances a weakness bid would be permissible provided that suit was of six cards or greater length. In other words, a holding of this type would justify a player in treating his hand as an exception to the otherwise invariable "Never bid with weakness." To advise that in any case in Contract a weakness bid should be made is dangerous as it may open the door for serious abuses; so it is strongly urged that such bids be strictly limited to the specific instances named in these articles.

BREAKFAST—2 fresh pink plums, cereal cooked with figs, cream, broiled fresh fish, water-cress, whole wheat rolls (reheated), milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Iced tomato bouillon, crisp crackers, molded egg salad, graham bread, cream puffs, milk, tea.

DINNER—Baked and stuffed bluefish, steamed potatoes, new beets in orange sauce, peach pie, milk, coffee.

When potatoes are steamed tender tip each one in melted butter and roll in minced parsley. Scrub thoroughly and steam in their "jackets."

Molded egg salad could be used successfully for a one-plate luncheon.

Molded Egg Salad

Four eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon mustard, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar, 2 large tomatoes, mayonnaise, lettuce.

Put eggs into 4 cups cold water and bring to the boiling point. Reduce heat and cook for thirty minutes just below the boiling point. Plunge at once into cold water and when slightly cool remove shells. Force whites and yolks through a potato ricer. Season with salt, pepper, and mustard thoroughly mixed, and sifted, melted butter and lemon juice. Pack firmly into a straight tumbler or jelly glass. Chill for several hours. When ready to serve run a thin bladed knife or spatula around inside of the glass and remove the egg mixture whole. Cut in four slices. Peel and chill tomatoes and cut in halves. Place each half on a nest of lettuce, cover with a slice of egg and drop a spoonful of mayonnaise on top.
