TEXTILE STRIKERS AND POLICE FIGHT

New Bedford, Mass., Is Scene of Clash Between Two Factories

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 25 (AP)—This city was peaceful today after experiencing the most vicious clash between striking textile workers and police since 28,000 mill operatives walked out 15 weeks ago.

Five thousand persons last night watched reserves battle a crowd outside the Sharp mill. Seven policemen were injured.

Eight mill workers or sympathizers were arrested.

The outbreak came shortly after a new offer from the state board of conciliation and arbitration at Boston to settle the controversy, caused by the announcements of 10 per cent wage cuts.

700 Pickets

Seven hundred pickets surrounding the Sharp buildings were only dispersed when two deputy sheriffs accompanied the police to read the riot act.

Trouble started when a squad of police approached the picket line to arrest two men and a woman on charges of parading without a permit before the Sharp mill. It was August C. Pinto's eighth arrest since the strike started and as he was being taken to the patrol wagon he shook his fist and shouted in Portuguese.

Soon a stone was thrown and a battle was on. When streets were cleared the three original captives were safely held by the police with five others. Pinto was held on an additional charge of inciting a riot.

The others subdued in the battle here booked on charges of parading without permits and assaults on the police.

RIOT GUN ENDS GUN FIGHT IN FARMER'S BARN

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 25 (AP)—A riot gun in the hands of Constable Arthur Bennett of Fairfield, ended the life early today of David Havy, 22, who shot and seriously wounded Constable Heskiah R. Elwood last night.

Havy, who escaped after shooting Elwood, was located in a barn at the rear of his father-in-law's home. Bennett swung open the barn door and was immediately fired on, a bullet entering his wrist. Despite his wound he raised the riot gun, and shot down Havy who was preparing to fire again. Death was instantaneous.

Elwood went to the Havy home on complaint that Havy was attempting to assault his eight-year-old daughter. Elwood was fired on as soon as the door opened in response to his knock. Several bullets entered his body. Havy fled. Two bullets hit Elwood. His condition was serious.

Sportsmen Will Vote Once More On Disbandment

Although a vote, nearly 10 to 1, was taken at the Wing, Fin and Fleetfoot club meeting Monday night to disband and turn over all physical holdings of this club to the Izak Walton league chapter in La Grande, it is announced today that that will not constitute final action.

The following statement was made over the signatures of A. V. Andrews, Bird Bennett, H. E. Coolidge, A. H. Hunter and Tracy Hollister, directors:

"In the last meeting of the Wing, Fin and Fleetfoot club a resolution was adopted to disorganize this club in favor of the Izak Walton league. And that all physical holdings of this club be turned over to the league.

"Following this action considerable dissension and discussion has caused the board of directors to take the following action for the various following reasons:

"Final action on this motion and final disposition of the property will await the last meeting of the fiscal year of the Wing, Fin and Fleetfoot club.

"By actual count there was but 23 per cent of the membership in good standing at the above mentioned meeting, and of this membership there was but a small portion of those whose efforts have built up the physical shooting equipment of the organization. It is desirable that this end of the organization be maintained in its usual vigorous number and it is desirable that those who devoted the energy to put it in its present state of perfection be allowed to voice their sentiment in this matter.

"It is not desired that these statements in any manner be interpreted as in any way voicing a protest against the Izak Walton league, but merely a desire to eliminate any dissension in the ranks of the sportsmen and to proceed according to the constitution of the Wing, Fin and Fleetfoot club."

Great Britain Honors Statesman On His 80th Birthday Anniversary

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—Great Britain celebrated today the eightieth birthday of one of her most distinguished statesmen, the Earl of Balfour.

Lord Balfour's public service goes back 54 years for he entered the house of commons in 1874 and he is one of the few great survivors of the Victorian era. The only other statesman of outstanding eminence in the period alive today is the Earl of Rosebery. He has been out of politics for 20 years and is an invalid.

Earl Balfour is a member of the cabinet today being lord president of council. Notwithstanding the throat affection which laid him aside during the winter and spring he is again normally active. When he attended the luncheon yesterday to celebrate the opening of the new quarters of the British academy of which he is president he walked through the streets to the affair rather than ride and swung along briskly with an energy which many younger men might envy.

His recent illness necessitated a rest from his usual physical activities, including tennis, of which he was a devoted player, but the daily mail quoted him today as saying that he intends to take up tennis again shortly.

"I am feeling pretty well," he said. "My throat has not quite recovered but it is only a matter of time."

It seems unlikely that he will resume golf of which he also played a good deal for he said: "Tennis is not like golf. If you play golf you must do a round and that means two hours walking but you can knock off tennis when you like."

The luncheon yesterday was partly in honor of the aged statesman's birthday and the Prince of Wales, who is on terms of intimate friendship with Earl Balfour, paid him graceful compliments to which match, while some 50 or more watched the men's doubles final.

Following these two matches on the city courts, most of the spectators went to the Stange courts where they watched Miss Jeanne Bell and M. Boyer take the mixed doubles championship by defeating Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Fred Fox 13-11, 6-3. This was the outstanding mixed doubles match of the tournament and here again the dependable net playing of the elder Boyer contributed to the Pendleton couple's victory. Mrs. Fox made some particularly fine recoveries last night and played a brand of tennis that won much praise.

Championship List

The entire championship list for this year follows: Men's singles: Claire Hartman, Eugene; men's doubles, D. Boyer and M. Boyer, Pendleton; women's singles, Miss Jeanne Bell, Pendleton; mixed doubles, Miss Bell and M. Boyer; women's doubles, Mrs. Fox, Union, and Miss Anne Stange, La Grande.

At each succeeding day of the tournament the galleries increased and at the matches yesterday afternoon and evening a large number of spectators watched with interest. All participants and backers of the tennis event were agreed that the popularity and scope of the tournament had spread this year. There was undoubtedly the finest aggregation of players for men's singles yet gotten together for the tournament.

should, much of the load would be taken from the farmer.

More Bulk Handling

He said that growers in Umatilla county are going in for bulk handling of grain. He said that 10 per cent of the farmers there would use this system this year for the first time, and that one-third of his neighbors were doing it. Harrah was the first in the county to adopt the bulk method of marketing. At first he sent his wheat to Kansas City.

The witness said he uses horses on his farms in place of tractors, explaining that the animals have much more reserve power than the machines and are cheaper to work.

"Tractors are used chiefly to keep boys on the farm," he explained. "Boys will stay and work with machinery where they will not stay to work with horses."

N. A. Roberts, grain buyer for the Portland office of Strauss & Co., said it would be to the advantage of the exporter if all the differential freight rates on grain in the northwest were wiped out. This, he said, should apply to Montana as well as to other sections.

"We pay just as much for grain up in the country where we have no competition from Seattle as we would pay if it was there," he said.

The hearing is expected to last into next week. J. P. Newell, rate expert for the Oregon public service commission, will start on his cross-examination Friday morning.

circus was limited here with boys furnishing a merry-go-round, girls carrying balloons and with a "county fair band." Work of a number of boys who formed a pyramid as a climax to acrobatic stunts was outstanding. They wore white costumes. A virginia reel was also given. Miss Emma Baxter announced the events. There were a number of others equally interesting and all on a large scale. All represented much work and preparation on the part of the women who directed them.

At the end of the evening a mammoth white birthday cake was cut and everyone was given a piece.
