Picnic Parties, Swimming Attracts La Grande Society

A definite quietus has hit social activities in La Grande this week—and why ask the reason? But though the mercury may soar, and soar again, dispelling all thoughts of entertaining, there is one type of social affair that is popularized rather than lulled when the temperature passes the century mark. And that is picnicking. Ever so many thoroughly delightful affairs of this nature have occurred during the last few weeks and have been the means of reviving more than one heat-weary group of folk. Needless to say, the majority of these affairs have occurred in the radius of Pine Cone or Cove. Last night tables at Pine Cone about the park were the scenes of several picnic suppers of La Grande folk who enjoyed a plunge and then a supper.

On Wednesday night Mr. and Mrs. Ed Boylen and son, La Fahn, Mr. and Mrs. Roi Baker and daughter, Margaret and son, Maurice, and Miss Jane Stange, Mr. and Mrs. Nate Zweifel and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Douhan enjoyed one of these small delightful picnics at Pine Cone.

The stockingless fad that is at last sweeping into Oregon will have a more hurried adoption here, no doubt, if the present heat persists. Already many of the misses of the city have made their official hoseless debut and during it the first time have been won over to the idea of its comfort. Particularly on the tennis courts and the golf fairways one sees devotees to the new style. Here, however, the little half socks in attractive colors and design that have been the rage in California, are usually worn. And it must be admitted that the stockingless fad is not confined entirely to the "misses" of the city. Its advantages are apparently finding favor with many of the younger matrons. At any rate the appearance of girls minus silk sheathing over their legs (or must it still be limbs?) has already lost its novelty and continues to become more common.

Many of the picnics which have occurred have been given for out-of-town visitors. On Tuesday evening a group of friends of Mrs. A. V. Lindgren, who left for Portland on Wednesday, had a delightful picnic for her at Five Points. At this were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edkin and two sons, Billy and Jack, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Moe and son, Douglas, E. R. Itano, L. P. Dunn, Mrs. George Dale, of Wallawa, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ravenscroft and daughter, Jane, and the honor guest, Mrs. Lindgren.

Swimming suits which are seen at the bathing places are gayer than ever this summer, with an increase of the two-piece suits both for masculine and feminine swimmers. Stripes, checks and what-not in all sorts of gaudy design make the swimming pools a brilliant and pretty sight indeed. This year's suits have such novelties as pockets and unusual belts, and for some, collar effects. The cunning little suits for tiny tots have been a much-welcomed innovation and some of the youngsters literally "dive" in their suits, from their early-morning play until evening, so that their little bodies are acquiring a healthy tan as deep as most as that of beach lifesavers.

Many families have seized the altogether happy idea of taking their supper on their lawns these hot evenings. A shady spot is found and there is served a cool, semi-picnic supper for the family in comparative comfort. The light bridge tables are found convenient for serving if the family group is a small one.

Though there is a damper on bridge parties, the afternoon "four-some" of bridge persists. Seldom, though, is the game at play inside the home. Rather the card game takes place on the cool side of the porch, perhaps the lawn, or the coolness of the basement.

An enjoyable picnic and play-day is to be provided next Wednesday, Aug. 1, at the city park by members of the Neighbors of Woodcraft for all their children. The day will begin at 11 o'clock and the lodge is to serve ice cream. They make it plain, in announcing the event, that it is not only for members of the Juvenile lodge but for all children of Neighbors of Woodcraft members.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—Apple sauce, cereal, cream, creamed dried beef on toast, sliced tomatoes, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Hidden onions, baking powder biscuits, strawberry preserves, flonzing island, milk, tea.
DINNER—Braised liver, casserole of eggplant, cabbage, radish and nut salad with cream cheese dressing, raspberry sherbet, plain cake, milk, coffee.

Keep in mind the necessity of keeping the cake or cookie served with a frozen dessert simple. The cake is used for its contrasting texture and delicate flavor to emphasize the qualities of the ice.

Hidden Onions
Eight small onions, 1/2 pound green beans, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup sifted canned tomatoes, 1 cup chopped left-over meat.

Cook onions and beans separately until tender, using as little water as possible to prevent burning. Place onions in a well-buttered shallow baking dish, spreading them out so they do not touch each other. Fill spaces between with beans. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add tomato puree. Bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly and add meat. Season sauce with salt, pepper and 1 teaspoon sugar and pour over onions and beans. Dot with tiny bits of butter and bake 20 minutes in a hot oven. Serve from baking dish.

Kellogg Invited To Visit France

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Secretary Kellogg has received the French invitation to visit Paris August 27 or 28 for the signing of the anti-war treaty resulting from Franco-American conversations. He will attend if the other signatory powers also are to be represented in Paris by their foreign ministers.

What I want to say is this—it is extremely warm and I have kind of a tired feeling and can't think of much to tell you except that I would like to go in swimming. One farmer after the other is floating here and carrying away paint and oil and also women are packing away wallpaper like I don't know what.

Well, you can just guess at the rest I want to tell you because I am too warm to say very much of anything except an electric fan and a cool swimming hole.

CONTRACT BRIDGE
One of the Contract principles I like to stress is that no bid has slam significance until a game-going bid has been made; to put it in another way, that no bid less than a game-goer sets the contract for slam bidding. But here is an exception. Suppose that a Contract Dealer, who was using the Minor two-bid to show a two-suiter, held the following hand:

and bid two Diamonds to indicate that he held a strong Major two-suiter. If his partner should bid three Hearts, showing not only preference for Hearts (a two-Heart bid would indicate that) but real help in addition, it would be objectionable to the Dealer that the eventual contract must be Hearts and that the final bid should be at least a game-goer in that suit. With such great strength and assistance assured for Hearts in the Dummy, there is, however, a good chance for slam. If the Dealer should bid four Hearts, the doubler would end the auction and a slam, even if made, would not carry a slam premium.

There are two ways in which the Dealer might try for slam: one would be by bidding five instead of four Hearts, and the other by bidding four Clubs. The former would fail to produce results if the partner felt that all his strength had been shown by his bid of three; then he would not go on with Hearts toward a slam. The four-Club bid, however, would work with a thinking partner in spite of the fact that no game-going Heart bid had been made. The initial bid of two Diamonds showed a Major two-suiter. With a major two-suiter it is impossible to have a Minor suit of such length that it could be preferred as the trump; therefore, after the partner's Heart jump, the contract really is set, although a game-going bid has not been made; therefore the Club bid must be a slam-shower.

Consequently in the above case, the Dealer should bid four Clubs and give his partner the opportunity to bid four Diamonds if he holds the Ace of Diamonds. Without the Ace of Diamonds he would bid four Hearts and Dealer, knowing the Ace of Diamonds was against him, would appreciate that a slam bid would be too dangerous.

COVE PERSONALS

COVE, Ore., (Special) — L. D. Sutherland received the sad news of the death of a sister, in Los Angeles a few days ago. The woman had been in an automobile accident, from which she did not recover, after suffering for about ten days. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fletcher are leaving on Friday for Seaside. They are taking with them Miss Virginia Haines, Mrs. Fletcher's sister, and her friend Miss Bess Giebey, both of whom are from Hastings, Neb., and are spending the summer here. They are both teachers coming here for their vacation by way of San Francisco. Since they have been here they have been learning the way of the west and have been packing cherries and now they will spend ten days or so at the seashore before returning to their Nebraska home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Breahers have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Will Long and their daughter Mrs. Stultz, of Tyro, Kan. After visiting here they spent a short time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Long, at Summerville.

Mrs. Cora Bloom has been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. F. H. B. Van Schornhaven, of North Dakota. Mr. Van Schornhaven is a brother of Mrs. Bloom's father.

The Messrs. John and Labe Richards passed another milestone on the journey of life on Sunday, July 22. Wayne Fisher was brought home from the Grande Ronde hospital a few days ago. His condition is serious and his friends feel that his life is hanging by a thread.

Mrs. Cora Bloom is carrying the rural mail while Mr. Sutherland takes his vacation.

When the West thinks of coffee it says, "Hills Bros."—the coffee roasted a few pounds at a time. That's the secret of Hills Bros.' patented, continuous process—Controlled Roasting. It's the secret of the wonderful, uniform flavor, too—a flavor that you won't find in any other coffee.

Tunney's Earnings $266.22 a Second

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Gene Tunney was well paid for the 22 minutes and 52 seconds he worked in retaining his heavyweight championship against the onslaught of Tom Heeney. He drew $266.22 for each second's work. The champion's purse was $525,000 and he occupied 1,972 active seconds in making the title safe for another year. He was rewarded less generously than in his bout with Jack Dempsey when he first defended his title at Chicago, for then he fought a shorter time and got more money. He will show a profit, for he will never spend $266.22 a second.
