"Turn Back the Hours" At Arcade Sunday

Life in a bandit infested sea-port on the Caribbean, is the interesting picture provided by Gotham's latest screen feature "Turn Back the Hours" which is Sunday's feature at the Arcade theater.

The picture takes its title from the efforts of a man, an officer and a gentleman, who has fallen to the depths and who tries to "turn back the hours" in an effort to regain his former status among fellow men.

We have here the unusual figure of the hero of the story being discharged from the navy for cowardice. This fear, is really an inhibition which the man realizes but is unable to overcome. It is not until he lands, an outcast, in the midst of a bandit gang, that his true spirit fights its way to the surface and risks his life in a desperate attempt to save the girl he has come to love.

Walter Hudson is the man of the story and beautiful Myrna Loy is the girl. For the leader of the bandits, Sam Hardy, who is aided and abetted by Sheldon Lewis and George Stone. Other important members of the cast are Josef Swickard and Ann Brody.

"Turn Back the Hours" is said to abound with exciting action and Howard Bretherton, the director has interpolated many novel thrills.

The climax of the picture is a pitched battle between a desperate gang of bandits and a landing party of U. S. sailors and Marines who arrive in a battleship. What more could one ask for in the line of screen action?

Including costs and accruing costs of execution and sale.
 Dated this 13th day of July, 1928.

"Chorus Kid" Feature At Colonial Sunday

Romance depicted as a moth which haunts the flames of a girlhood that had never been experienced, is the interesting theme promised in the Gotham production, "The Chorus Kid," at the Colonial theater Sunday. More specifically, it is the story of a high-kicking chorine who decided to polish off her career at a fashionable boarding school.

The very idea is intriguing, and with pretty Virginia Brown Fairey portraying the dancing hysteresis in question, there seems every possibility of something new to quicken a jaded film palette back to life.

Scenes of footlight settings and backstage are invariably interesting in any case, and with a transition to a boarding school, and later to the sumptuous stratum of high society, there appears a good enough reason for making Sunday as a night to be reserved for the Colonial theater.

Oh, yes—it's only right to add that supporting Miss Fairey in her stellar role are Bryant Washburn, Hedda Hopper, Tom O'Brien (remember him as the tough sergeant in "The Big Parade") John Berton, Thelma Hill and Sheldon Lewis. That's an additional promise that some excellent histrionics are on tap. Howard Bretherton directed.

Madge Bellamy Stars In Comedy Drama

Madge Bellamy, Fox Films' victorious little star, gives the best performance of her career in "The Play Girl," which opens at the Star theater Sunday.

Miss Bellamy is unquestionably one of the screen's greatest comedienne, for her performance in "The Play Girl" convulses her audience.

The story, an original by John Stone, deals with the adventures of a young shop girl who decides that clerking at $15 a week is no vocation for a young lady with her beauty and brains.

With the aid of a girl chum, she becomes a lady of leisure, a "glimmer girl" and good dancer. Her beauty attracts admirers, the two outstanding ones being Johnny Mack Brown and Walter McGrail. Johnny falls for her sweet, wistful little face, while McGrail showers her with clothes and jewelry, hoping to cash in on his investment.

However, Madge discovers that her happiness is with Johnny, and after a series of escapades, convinces him that she is willing to honor and obey.

The picture was directed by Arthur Rosson and is a splendid entertainment from every angle.

REBELS ATTACK TRAIN
 MEXICO CITY, July 28 (AP)—Dispatches from Cuernavaca today said a passenger train bound there from Mexico City had been attacked near the station of Tepoztlan. The engineer saved the train by speeding through a fusillade of bullets. There were no casualties. Troops were pursuing the attackers.

Exceeding the speed limit constituted thirteen per cent of New York state's reported violation of traffic laws last year, according to the Oregon State Motor association.

The operating bill was divided into: $101 for fuel and lubricants, $47 for mechanics' hire, $41 for replacement parts and $40 for tires.
