AT THE THEATERS

Marion Davies In "Fair Co-Ed" At Arcade

Marion Davies, surrounded by one thousand college students and some of the most famous college athletes in America, comes to the Arcade theatre today in "The Fair Co-Ed," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's fascinating comedy of college life from a co-ed's point of view.

Sami Wood, director of Red Grange in "The Minute to Play," and many of the Wally Reid athletic comedies, directed this production, which promises to be one of the most hilarious college farces ever brought to the screen.

The story opens with Marion deciding she will not go to school at Lincoln because the dean has issued a ban against student automobiles, but when Johnny Mack Brown appears at her door peddling books to defray expenses, Marion has a decided change of mind.

When she arrives at college the fun and adventure begin. After a thrilling term which almost wrecks the school, Marion wins the heart of the boy and learns the value of loyalty to her alma mater.

Miss Davies has an excellent supporting cast which includes Mr. Brown in his first role as leading man.

Find Woman's Body In Spokane River

SPokane, Wash., Aug. 6 (AP)—The body of Mrs. Jessie Brower, wife of Sheriff Floyd Brower, missing for six months, was found yesterday in the Spokane river, nine miles below Spokane.

Mrs. Brower had been sick and under nervous strain for some time before she disappeared Feb. 6. Footprints were found leading to the river bank.

ALLEGED WILL SIGNER JAILED

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 6 (AP)—John M. French, alleged to be one of the signers of the disputed will of Mrs. Emma Fordham, wealthy divorced wife of Dr. W. G. Fordham, Denver, Colorado, is under arrest at Boulder, Colorado, today, police are advised.

Kidnaping officer, Texas of that name, claims that Fordham and three other persons forged a will of Mrs. Fordham under which Fordham obtained the greater portion of her million dollar estate. French is one of the persons named by Price.

"Wheel of Chance" Now Showing At the Star

One of the most important screen roles of the year is played by Rodd Rossing in "The Wheel of Chance," First National's current Richard Barthelmess starring vehicle now showing at the Star theatre.

Miss Rossing enacts the part of Sara Tuckeloh, the wonderful mother of the twin sons, Nikolai and Schmilka, both parts played by Barthelmess. She is a noted Danish actress and is well-known in Copenhagen and other leading European cities. Miss Rossing has also appeared with great success on the New York stage.

Booth Hasting made her stage debut at the age of sixteen in Copenhagen, where her father, Michael, was dean of music at the University and her mother was an internationally known pianist. She comes from a long line of theatrical people on both sides of her family. Her brother today is dean of International law courts in Constantinople.

She is married to an American doctor and has a daughter, Tove Jansson, who is herself an actress and married to Monte Tine, the American motion picture actor. Miss Rossing has appeared with marked success in several films including "Pretty Ladies."

HEALTH

HEART DISEASE AND CHILDREN'S EXERCISE

By Douglas D. Martin, M. D., Tampa, Florida.

Memorize Thomas Memorial! Just because a child has heart disease is no reason to class him as an invalid. When he has trouble with his heart, he should at once be put under a competent physician. It is surprising the latitude a child will be given in a large percentage of these cases. It is most important to remember that his troubles should be managed as little as possible in his presence. It is desirable to discuss his condition seldom with acquaintances or friends for fear that he may come to be considered as a hopeless invalid and so be pilloried and regarded as unfortunate.

Children with the common heart ailments, as a rule, are allowed the greatest freedom under the proper feeding and care. They play, they rest, they bathe, they go to the movies, they attend school, they do everything that normal children do, but they are taught how to live. They eventually grow into adulthood, all the better for the close supervision in childhood.

Many of the common heart afflictions of infancy and early childhood are adjusted in later life. How many robust persons know whether or not they might have had trouble with their hearts when young?

Science has advanced far in teaching people more intelligently how to live and what to do with their bodies. No class of cases has received greater benefit than the sufferers from heart disease.

Primarily all persons with heart conditions should be given a thorough physical examination. Any physical defects that might aggravate or be the focus of infection should be corrected. Then the patient should be taught the rudiments of sound safe living, the hygiene of the body and the mind.
