Christian Church Young Women Form Missionary Society

Thirteen young women of the Christian church met Tuesday evening at the parlors with Mrs. L. Putman and, during a thoroughly enjoyable evening, effected the organization of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society...

So eager to put their society on an immediate active program were the charter members that they met a happy and fruitful evening, applying out a year's program, deciding on a course of study, setting a meeting date and choosing an-doors. Miss Mildred Spencer was chosen vice president, Miss Frances DeLong secretary and Miss Wilfred Smith, treasurer. The society will meet on the first Tuesday evening of each month at the home of the different girls.

A study of the countries in which mission work is being carried on was decided for the year's course. Each meeting will be devoted to one country and several different girls will prepare papers on the people, conditions, missionary work and the like of the country. An effort will be made to get in direct communication with some of the workers in the various countries. The society is purely a local circle. Possibilities that it may grow to a department of the church were foreseen by the charter members who set it their immediate aim to increase the membership and stimulate wider interest in the new organization. Charter members who met Tuesday night are the Misses Dorothy Smith, Florence Robinson, Velma McCall, Jean Courtney, Velma Bradshaw, Nedra Bradshaw, Cecil Stewart, Vivian Kuhn, Mildred Courtney, Mildred Spencer, Francis DeLong and Wilfred Smith.

Mrs. Putman will be the advisor of the society. Miss Vivian Kuhn will be hostess to the circle at its first meeting on Sept. 4.

A short social hour when Mrs. Putman served refreshments followed the business session. The social hour will be a part of each regular meeting.

An important La Grande visitor is Miss Helen Melness, of Seattle, who is here to be in charge of the Campfire girls' camp at Camp Phy next week. Miss Melness is the house guest of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Richardson and is being delightfully entertained in an informal manner. Members of the Campfire sponsoring board in particular are providing rides horseback outings, dinners and the like for her. Yesterday Miss Melness was an honor guest at the sponsoring board's luncheon at the Sacajawea Inn. Much of her time these few days is being devoted to camp preparations and for the guardians she has a host of valuable suggestions for the outing and in reality conducting a training course in these few days. Miss Melness, who is a University of Washington student, has had wide experience in camp work and is well qualified as a director.

Last night Miss Melness, Mrs. L. H. Ames, Mrs. R. P. Tyler, Dr. Lewis Wilkes and Miss Dorothy Brown and Miss Lenora Ely, both of whom will go to camp, met at the home of Mrs. Tyler to map out the week's program in detail. Dr. Wilkes completed health examinations of the girls last evening preceding the meeting. Tonight Miss Melness will meet at the Lutheran annex with the four firemakers, Miss Brown, Miss Natalie Ebert, Miss Edna Jensen and Miss Vera McClane, who will be assistant camp officers, to practice on campfire songs which will be used during the week.

Miss Couture to Wed Foster Sims

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Marie Couture to Foster Sims was made last evening when Miss Couture entertained at a farewell party for Miss Lillian Sims at the home of Mrs. Edith L. Knight on Spring avenue. The announcement is an important one and is of much interest to La Grande folk as both Miss Couture and Mr. Sims are prominent in the younger set here. The marriage will take place September 8 at the bride's parents' in Condon, Ore.

Four score cards told of the approaching marriage. Three tables of bridge were at play for the evening. Mrs. William Houghan, making high score. Consolation went to Miss Rita Dible Kitchin. Miss Sims received a guest prize. Bouquets of sweet peas were attractively arranged about the come for the affair.

Miss Sims is leaving immediately after the wedding at Condon for Seattle where she will make her home with her sister, Mrs. L. A. Prescott.

The hostess served a luncheon following bridge with Mrs. Knight assisting her. Mrs. May Hoffman, mother of Mr. Sims, was a guest and Mrs. Earl Larsen of Conville, was an out-of-town guest of the evening.

Other guests were the Misses Irma Zimmerman, Lucille Black, Etta Belle Kitchin, Ruth Hagan, Nell Thelma Kitchin, Madeline Hartman, Fonda Banks, Melba Banks, and Mrs. Earl Russell and

GEORGIA WOMAN MAY DIE FOR CRIME

Although sentenced to die in the electric chair at Atlanta, Ga., for participation in a hold-up in which the victim was killed, Mrs. Edna Elrod Thompson seems little concerned about her fate. Her worries are for her husband who is held on the same charge. Last appeal of her attorneys has not yet been heard. Should they fail, Mrs. Thompson would be the second woman ever executed in the state.

Bridge Pointers

CONTRACT BRIDGE. At the Contract Bridge table, what does an original bid of two of a Major suit mean? Many players—even experts—answer this question to their own way and are so wedded to their own interpretation that they fail to give due consideration to other systems. Today and tomorrow I shall describe and discuss the conventions in common use.

(A) Strength and length of suit. (B) A bid of at least five cards, but without the top; and with side strength. Distinct notice that slam is not probable. With this system, a bid of three of a Major would be a slam invitation.

(C) A bid that contains general strength and at least four cards, with tops in the Major named. Further not expected to jump without at least normal support, but is expected to bid with an Ace or King (some say Ace or King and another honor).

(D) These strong four-card suits and a singleton with the special significance that when the bid is two Hearts, the singleton is a Spade.

The greatest objection to this system is that it cannot be used frequently by those who follow it. It makes fewer Major two-bids than the believers in other systems. Furthermore, there is always a grave question as to just how strong the three-card suits are and, unless the bid be two Hearts, which suit is the singleton.

Mrs. William Houghan, and the honor guest, Miss Sims.

In a delightfully informal program a number of La Grande folk provided an interesting evening for patients and visitors at Hor Lako last evening. Harry Swart, of La Grande, who has been convalescing for some time at the lake, was master of ceremonies for the evening, arranging the program and announcing it. Andrew Loney Jr. played two piano solos, "Serenade" by Schumann and "Believe Me It's All There" by Irving Berlin.

All These Entertaining "Charming" J. J. "Duck" Lindsay played two violin numbers, the first being a waltz and the second "Girl of My Dreams." Mrs. Roy Mattson accompanied both Mr. Loney and Mr. Lindsay. Miss Barbara Pilecek played two piano solos, "Mop's Last Rag" and "Bargain" while Miss Inez Miller played "The Swan Song" and "Falling in Love." Miss Gertrude Swart sang a song and danced and Mr. Swart played a piano solo, some riffs for the evening. The program was most enjoyable and the final number of the program, a group song "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" was sung and was dedicated to Miss Inez of the lake. The entire program, given as it was with the immortality of a home entertainment, provided a thoroughly enjoyable evening for the listeners.
