CURTIS HAS SUGGESTION FOR FARMERS

McNary-Haugen measure on the basis of his responsibility to the administration as its leader in the senate.

He also proposed today tariff revision by the next congress to obtain higher duties on some agricultural commodities and like Mr. Hoover saw great hope in the extension and improvement of inland waterways. The senator believed the republican party has done much for the farmers already and declared that without that help the agricultural situation "would be infinitely worse than it is."

Government finances, labor, law enforcement and the "encouragement of women in government" were other subjects emphasized in the brief address delivered from the state house steps here in the birthplace and home of the Kansas senator.

Praises Hoover

In praising Mr. Hoover as a man whose "extensive knowledge, training and experience well fit him to guide the country wisely and justly to new heights of renow," Senator Curtis referred also to President Coolidge, declaring that "the policies of Calvin Coolidge are those of our party and are expressed in our platform."

"They are Mr. Hoover's and they are mine," he said. "They are those of Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt. There must be no disloyalty within our ranks, and there will be none. Republicans may quarrel among themselves, but not at such a time as this."

Declaring "I am opposed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment or of the Volstead act," Curtis reminded his Kansas friends of his record as prosecuting attorney of Shawnee county to show that "I believe in and practice enforcement of the law." It is one of his proud boasts that he "dried up" Shawnee county.

Hits at "Wets"

The republican vice presidential nominee struck out hard at those who have suggested state control of alcoholic beverages. He related that all but two of the states ratified the eighteenth amendment and by "this voluntary action which binds all, the states delegated to the federal government their full original power and responsibility on the liquor prohibition question."

"For the federal government now to adopt, or even to propose or to favor, a policy which will result in allowing each state to determine for itself the alcoholic content of beverages to be manufactured, sold and transported throughout the country, would be a direct and indefensible attempt on its part to evade or to repudiate the responsibility so delegated and assumed, and an endeavor to redelegate that responsibility to the several states from whence it came, without any justification.

"I believe in meeting an issue squarely, therefore I state that not only am I heartily in favor of faithfully enforcing all our laws, but, further, I am opposed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment or of the Volstead act."

Fourteen Points

Fourteen means of promoting good government and "maintaining the era of national prosperity never before equalled by any nation on the face of the globe," were outlined by the senator as follows:

"1. To protect agriculture effectively and to encourage it in every proper manner.

"2. To protect American labor by enacting all needed legislation, and by encouraging closer relations between labor and capital.

The Associated Press

3. To enforce the laws without fear or favor.

4. To encourage active participation by women in the conduct of the government.

5. To maintain the public debt, public expenses, and taxes.

6. To maintain peace, engage in commerce with all nations, and to enter entangling alliances with none.

7. To encourage all industry and to maintain a protective tariff with duties high enough fully to protect American producers, American products, and American labor against foreign competition.

8. To develop, aid and encourage means of transportation and communication, national and international, by land and water, and in the air, through the consolidation of railroads, the establishment of a strong merchant marine; a strong postal and commercial aircraft service, and a wider and more efficient use of the ever-increasing possibilities of the radio.

9. To give equal and exact justice to all men of whatever state or persuasion.

10. To support the state governments in all their rights.

11. To preserve the federal government in its whole constitutional vigor, and to maintain and expand the existing high state of national consciousness.

12. To preserve the liberty of the press; the freedom of speech and worship; civil liberty and security of individual rights; and to promote the cause of education among the people.

13. To protect the lives and property of our citizens by the completion of an adequate system of flood control for the Mississippi river and its tributaries, and elsewhere if necessary to prevent a recurrence of a disaster such as recently occurred in the Mississippi valley.

14. To continue a generous policy

PESS NOTIFIES CURTIS

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 18 (AP)—Republicans moved in on Topeka today—from all sections of the nation but mostly from Kansas—to join in the celebration late in the afternoon of the formal notification of Senator Charles Curtis as the republican vice presidential nominee.

Formally notifying Senator Curtis of his nomination by the republicans as their vice presidential nominee, Senator Pess, of Ohio, told his colleague today that he was "well deserving" of the party honor.

He praised Curtis' record as leader of the republicans in the senate and called for continuance in power of the party on its record for the last eight years.

In his brief address Senator Pess accepted for his party the "challenge made by the democratic candidate on prohibition, declaring it to be "the time and occasion to determine whether the people of America will ever submit to the return of the saloon."

cerned the campaign will be free from personalities and will be conducted upon a level in keeping with dignity of the office of president.

Swinging into Arizona early today, Hoover had an engagement to meet republican county chairmen at Williams and to confer with them during the afternoon at the Grand Canyon, where his party will spend the afternoon and evening, leaving at midnight tonight for Albuquerque, N. M.

WALSH FOR AL SMITH

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 18 (AP) —The banner of the veteran senatorial investigator, Tom Walsh of Montana, flown for a time on a separate standard in this summer's battle for the democratic presidential nomination, was bolsted higher than ever today in the camp of Gov. Smith.

Walsh came to town yesterday to get better acquainted with the man he opposed for a time in the pre-convention struggle and to talk over the political situation in general. He had not been in conference an hour at the executive mansion before he prepared a two-fisted attack against the republican standard bearer. Assailed one of his former democratic senatorial colleagues for bolting his party, and praised Gov. Smith as a man who would introduce a "human element" at Washington.

A Dry Catholic

Like Gov. Smith, the Montana senator is a Catholic but an ardent dry. In his fight for the nomination he had the support of William G. McAdoo, Gov. Smith's famous rival at the Madison Square Garden convention four years ago, but after his failure in the California primaries he withdrew in favor of the New York governor.

In his statement, Walsh said that the election of Gov. Smith "would introduce into our national councils something of the human element sadly lacking under the regime of Coolidge and Mellon."

"I believe," he added, "that a republican struck a responsive chord when he said he was going to vote for Smith 'because he wanted to see a smile in the white house.'"

"LIQUOR NO ISSUE"

CHARLOTTSVILLE, Va., Aug. 18 (AP)—Declaration that prohibition cannot properly be called an issue in the presidential campaign was made today by Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, vice chairman of the democratic national committee in addressing the University of Virginia's institute of public affairs. She said republican and democratic candidates have pledged themselves to enforcement of the dry law and then took to task certain dry organizations that announced support of the republican ticket.
