OFFICE CAT

By Junius

The policeman was standing in front of a movie theater, when he saw a blind beggar emerge from the darkened interior. The cop collared him. "Hey, you!" he shouted, "Whatcha doin's in that pitcher show?" Said the beggar: "I-er-just went in to listen to the subtitles, officer."

* * *

Wife looking up from her newspaper: "It tells here about a man giving his wife a $500 necklace. Nothing like that ever happens to me."

Husband (looking up from his): "It was just reading about a man giving his wife a pair of black eyes. Nothing like that ever happens to you, either."

* * *

Father (who has taken his daughter to the play): "I'm sorry I brought you now, Peggy, this is hardly a play for a girl of your age."

Daughter: "Oh, that's all right, Dad. It'll probably liven up a bit before the end."

* * *

The length of the girl's hair these days suggests that they can't decide whether to wear it long or wear it short.

TREAT IN TREATMENT

Doctor: "Your temperature seems to have taken a drop."

Patient: "Can't you fix it so I can do the same, doctor?"

* * *

Cop: "And why do you call me blue jay?"

Riley: "You should ask, after the way you removed that corn from my hip!"

* * *

"Daddy," Egbert asked, "do men's wives always love them?"

"Well, most of them do, I think."

"Does mummy love you?"

"Certainly."

"Then why does she always look so sad when anybody tells her I look exactly like you?"

A wise guy says a girl usually closes her eyes when you kiss her because she likes to imagine you are someone else.

A young woman hastened up to the manager of a local stock company, so they say, and asked for a job in a show.

"What experience?" they asked her.

"I haven't had any experience," she replied; "I just had an awful fight with my husband and his family, so I decided to go on the stage to embarrass them."

Safest Way to Stop Pain

It is not necessary to take heart-depressing drugs or dope of any kind to relieve nerve torture caused by neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica or rheumatism. Just apply Tysmol over the part that hurts and see how quickly you will be free from discomfort.

Tysmol is a soothing, healing absorbent that goes in through the pores and drives out inflammation which has settled in the nerves. The minute you rub it on you can feel it beginning to relieve. Pains and aches soon stop, congestion is removed, and soreness and inflammation gradually disappear.

Although Tysmol is put up especially for nerve pain and inflammation, sufferers have found it equally good for taking the misery out of stiff, swollen or aching joints. Also fine for lame back and muscular soreness. Pleasant, harmless and easy to use. Don't fail to try it if you want genuine, lasting relief. You get a liberal supply for $1 at any drug store. AT THE THEATERS

"Bringing Up Father" Showing At Arcade

Polly Moran, comedienne of the screen, turned cook between the making of scenes for "Bringing Up Father," Cosmopolitan's production presented by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which is now being shown at the Arcade theater, but it was for a very special occasion. She prepared a corned-beef-and-cabbage dinner to celebrate the arrival from New York of Marie Dressler, her co-starring partner in the film.

The party was partly to celebrate the reunion, for the two famous funmakers had been separated since their first starring picture, "The Callahans and the Murphys," and partly to get in form for the new film, which is based on George McManus' famous newspaper cartoon strip, a comic strip in which corned-beef-and-cabbage technique plays an important part.

Miss Dressler, famous stage star, played a screen role about eight years ago when she and Charlie Chaplin did "Tillie's Punctured Romance." She then returned to the stage, but was lured back to pictures to play "Mrs. Callahan." So successful was this that it launched a new comedy team, as audiences throughout the country clamored for more Marie Dressler-Polly Moran pictures. Miss Dressler, who had returned to New York, was at once put under contract to play the new picture. She plays Mrs. Dinty Moore and Miss Moran, Maggie Jiggs.

Art Goebel Has Part In Star Picture

Goebel, the bird-man! Better than that, for no bird ever learned to fly upside down.

Arthur C. Goebel, reputed to be one of the screen's most daring stunt and trick aviators and winner of the Dole prize flight from San Francisco to Honolulu, won many laurels in filmdom before making his epochal trip across the Pacific, among them being that of setting the world's record for upside down flying. Yesterday Goebel completed a record-breaking non-stop flight from Los Angeles to New York.

Just previous to grooming his historical trans-oceanic air race, Goebel appeared in support of Al Wilson in a series of aerial thrill pictures for Universal, the last one of the series being "Won in the Clouds" which is now the feature attraction at the Star theater. In this masterpiece he illustrates to the fullest his great and unerring skill in the piloting of a plane.

The picture registers a thrill a second and Goebel was filmed doing tail-spins, tight-spirals, barrel-rolls, side-slips, loops the falling leaf, and a whole dictionary of aeronautical stunts well known to dare-devil sky riders.

Goebel was also pilot of the plane with which Al Wilson performed one of the most dangerous tricks ever attempted by an air ace. Wilson transferred from the top of a standard sedan traveling at seventy-two miles an hour, to the wing skid of the plane Goebel brought to within twelve feet of the ground.

It is the first time in the history of aviation that this trick has been accomplished successfully.

The cast of "Won in the Clouds" also embraces such players as Helen Foster, George French, Frank Mitchell directed the picture. Rice, Al Friscoe and others. Bruce

Sweet William And Bad Bill Here Wednesday

Sweet William and Bad Bill—those two dark brown funmakers whose droll dialogue is the laugh of a nation—will appear in person Wednesday as the stars of Fanchon and Marco's "Bath-Tub" Idea at the Arcade.

There is no blackface or burnt cork in the dialogue of this team. They both hail from below the Mason and Dixon line and they know what a southern darky talks and acts like.

There is also a natural convincing comedy about their funny talk that simply sets an audience in roars, it is said.

Sweet William tells a story which illustrates that he knows about real down South darkies.

One Sunday a colored family down South had so much chicken for dinner that there was a lot left over for Monday. On Monday the wife and little daughter went to the cotton field to plow and the husband, of course, stayed at home to take care of the house. The wife was sunstruck at twelve noon and dropped dead. The little girl ran to the house to tell father of the catastrophe. She found father busily engaged in finishing a chicken leg.

"Papa, papa, mama's dead" shouted the girl.

Father just kept on eating chicken.

"Papa, for goodness sake, mama's dead."

Still father continued to eat the chicken without comment.

"Papa, mama's dead, ain't you gonna say something, ain't you gonna cry?"

Father looked down at the little child, replying:

"Chile, you wait till ah gets done wit dis yeah chicken an' ah'll show you weepin' what is weepin'."

CHILD KILLED, FATHER HURT

TAFT (AP)—I. J. Carter cranked his automobile last night while it was in gear and parked on a grade. When the machine started he jumped on the running board and attempted to save his four-year-old son who was in the machine. The car overturned, killing the child and injuring the father.

CONGRATULATES CURTIS

SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 21. (AP)—President Coolidge today telegraphed congratulations to Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas upon the latter's speech of acceptance of the republican vice presidential nomination.
